2000 DEAD IN DAYTON, GOVERNOR IS TOLD

COLUMBUS, O., March 26.—(Bulletin) Gov. Cox at 1.30 p. m. received the following telegram from his secretary Geo. F. Burba, who went to Dayton last night.

"Deaths may run as high as 2000. Property loss $10,000,000. River four miles wide. Cannot get anywhere near center of City. Water up to second story of Phillips house. Worst calamity in the country since Galveston."

President Wilson Asks for National Assistance

WASHINGTON, March 26.—President Wilson today issued the following appeal to the nation to help the sufferers in the Ohio and Indiana floods:

"The terrible floods in Ohio and Indiana have assumed the proportions of a national calamity. The loss of life and the infinite suffering involved prompt me to issue an earnest appeal to all who are able, in however small a way, to assist the labors of the American Red Cross to send contributions at once to the Red Cross at Washington or to the local treasurers of the society. We should make this a common cause. The needs of those upon whom this sudden and overwhelming disaster has come should quicken everyone capable of sympathy and compassion to give immediate aid to those who are laboring to rescue and relieve.

(Signed) " WOODROW WILSON."

St. Louis Should Aid; Post-Dispatch Contributes $500

IN response to the appeal for aid for the storm and flood sufferers, issued by the National Red Cross Society, the Post-Dispatch calls upon the citizens of St. Louis to organize a St. Louis Relief Committee to receive contributions and co-operate with other relief organizations. Hundreds of thousands are homeless and destitute and need immediate supplies to save them from perishing.

The Post-Dispatch contributes $500 to the Relief Fund. We will receive and acknowledge contributions and will remit them to the organization authorized to receive and disburse relief funds.

The Post-Dispatch has received a check for $500 from Warwick M. Hough for the fund.

Detailed Account Direct From Dayton

By Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., March 26.—Gov. Cox received a message by telephone from Dayton shortly before 11 o'clock today from John Bell, Bell Telephone Operator, in which it was stated that 200 bodies had been found. The bodies were located by men in patrol boats. Bodies were found as far out as Wayne avenue, which is more than a mile from the river. At least one of those drowned met death in the Algonquin Hotel.

The number of dead will reach several hundred, according to Bell. Reports concerning the number of fatalities have been exaggerated, the operator told the Governor, yet, he said, conditions there were indescribable.

The severe damage is confined to the territory along the bends in the Miami River, west of the main business section of the city, according to Bell.

A morgue is established on the West Side of the city, and efforts to recover the bodies and aid the suffering will be pushed as rapidly as possible. Relief trains are near the stricken town this morning, and the water is receding.

The most loss of life is said to have occurred over an area of about 50 acres.

DAYTON APPEALS BY PHONE FOR FOOD.

PHONETON, O., March 26.—(Via Telephone to Chicago).—"Food, food, food and all we can get of it," was the appeal that reached here today from that portion of Dayton north of the rivers. The plea came from a relief committee, which started out in boats and met an employe of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., who, with the postmaster of this village, attempted to drive to Dayton with a horse and buggy. The telephone man immediately "cut in" on a line and transmitted the appeal.

At least 500 are believed to have lost their lives in the district north of the river. Residents of that section had had no word from the south side, which is thickly populated and contains the business district of the town. The Relief Committee had gone less than two miles from Dayton when they met the telephone employe. They told him that any and all kinds of provisions were needed and the relief must come soon if indescribable suffering is to be avoided.

Peace officers of Dayton who are able to get about at all, are swearing in all available men as deputies, commandering provisions and charging the expense to the State of Ohio. The available supplies are so slender, however, that 1000 persons on the north side of the river are already destitute.

Efforts to learn the condition of the 2500 inmates of Old Soldiers' Home on the west side brought a report that the institution was in no danger because of its location on a high hill.

FIREMEN IN BOATS DYNAMITE BUILDINGS.

WOLF CREEK, O., March 26.—(Two miles west of Dayton).—Some damage has been done by fire according to reports that have reached the Western Union Telegraph Co. here from Dayton, but all conflagrations are believed to have been controled. The Dayton Fire Department worked from boats and dynamited the upper stories of several buildings in successful efforts to halt the flames.

There are hundreds of homeless persons in the city, but most of them are being cared for by citizens whose homes were above the water level.

Excepting a railroad bridge or two, all such structures leading into the city have been washed away. The Union Station was still under water this morning.

The water extends from River street on the north, Summit street on the west and High street on the east past the southern borders of the city. This covers the main part of the town and the most thickly populated section.

Reports received here had it that a woman has been marooned on top of a moving van in the middle of Broadway since 10 o'clock yesterday morning. She and two men were trying to cross the flood in the moving van when the vehicle tipped. One of the men was thrown out and drowned and the other got on the horse, and, although swept away, is thought to have reached safety. The woman clung to the top of the van.

Among the concerns reported destroyed by fire is the Rike-Kumler Dry Goods store, but this is not confirmed.

The following account of the flood at Dayton is written by the Associated Press correspondent, who is isolated in his office in that city. It is telephoned to Xenia, and telegraphed from there. The correspondent's telephone still is working, but because it has been impossible for him to leave his office, an accurate detailed story, covering happenings and conditions all over the city, could not be obtained at this time.

DAYTON, O., March 26—The crest of the Dayton flood passed about midnight, but the next few hours showed no appreciable lowering in the water.

Morning brought little hope of immediate relief to those who had spent the night in horror, however, and it is feared the number of drowned had been greatly increased during the 12 hours of darkness.

The rescue work looked as hopeless as on yesterday. No one in the city attempted to sleep.

It was not believed the rescuers would be able to make any advance into the flooded district today; but will have to content themselves with saving those who were marooned within a few doors of the water's edge.

More than 70,000 persons either were unable to reach their homes or held in their water-locked houses were unable to reach land.

The inundated district is estimated as more than 15 square miles, most of which is under from six to 18 feet of water. No communication could be established with those in the commercial districts and any attempt to say whether any or all of them drowned is merest conjecture.

It is thought that most of the fatalities occurred on the west and north sides of the river, where the wall of water rushed in

$2,000,000 BLAZE LIGHTS RESCUERS

HAMILTON, O., March 26.

THE factory of the Champion Coated Paper Co., a $2,000,000 concern, took fire early this morning and burned rapidly. All fire fighting was out of the question.

The glare of the fire helped somewhat in rescue work.

200 Reported to Have Drowned in Indianapolis

By Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 26.—From what seems to be authentic information, fourteen persons are known to have been drowned in West Indianapolis as the result of the breaking of the Morris street levee last night. Rescuers say that a family of six, father, mother and four children, are dead in their home. No effort is being made to bring out the bodies, as every means is being used to save women and children, who in many cases are either standing in water on the second floor of their homes or have gone to the housetops and are suffering from the intense cold.

West Indianapolis was cut off from the city when the great wast Washington street bridge went out last night. An Associated Press correspondent, marooned there, said it was estimated that at leas 200 persons were drowned when he levee broke. The correspondent, from Chicago, had got only as far as West Indianapolis in 24 hours.

An unverified rumor is that a large number of refugees sought shelter in Wolfe's hall until the crowded floor gave way and scores may have been killed or seriously injurd.

Families in one-story homes were at the mercy of the rush of water that followed the breaks in the levees. It is believed the bodies of these people will be found when the waters recede.

Sixty passenger trains are shut out of the city on the lines entering from the West and all the passengers are sharing the lot of the homeless refugees.

The Assumption Parochial School is sheltering and feeding about 100 women and children.

Early today anxiety in Indiana centered in Brookville and Connersville, on the White Water River, from which frantic appeals for aid were received by Gov. Ralston late yesterday. While the appeal was being made, wire communication to Connersville failed.

The person who was talking with the Governor said that a break in the

HOW MANY LIVES HAS A STREET CAR BILL?

"Well, I see they killed the seat-for-each-passenger bill again," said Jinks.

"Yes," said Binks. "It's getting to be a sort of habit with those Councilmen."

"Maybe they're only waiting."

"For what?"

"For April first. Then maybe they'll fool us by passing it."

"Wouldn't that make us all angry?"

"Yes, it wouldn't."

"Well, so long. Here comes my car. I see a vacant strap."

Official forecast for St. Louis and vicinity: Cloudy, cold weather, with snow tonight and Thursday; lowest temperature tonight about 24.

ROADS REFUSE TO TAKE PASSENGERS FOR CITIES IN EAST

To buy or not to buy transportation to points east of St. Louis was the prevailing problem in the minds of many would-be travelers who gathered at Union Station Wednesday morning. At the ticket office no tickets over any of the roads running to New York could be purchased through.

The Big Four train for New York, No. 16, due to leave St. Louis at 8:44 was cancelled. The Pennsylvania train for New York departed, but transportation was sold only as far as Indianapolis. The Baltimore & Ohio train for New York also started, accepting passengers only to Lawrenceburg, Ind.

Baltimore & Ohio train No. 47, due in at 6:30 by way of Cincinnati, was annulled en route, being unable to get past the flooded district. The same fate was met by Baltimore & Ohio train No. 3, due at 7:28, and Pennsylvania train No. 13. The latter took the place of the train which fell through a bridge at Bellefontaine O., Tuesday.

The Southwest Mail No. 43, on the Big Four, due in early Wednesday morning, was canceled.

Chicago & Alton train No. 2, from Chicago, which was due here at 7:25 p. m. Tuesday, came in at 8:20 Wednesday morning, combined with another Chicago & Alton train due at 7:58.

Missouri Pacific train No. 4, from California, due at 7:10, was nearly two hours late. No. 10, from the Southwest, due at 7:30, was marked up to arrive at 11:30. No. 12, from Kansas City, due at 7:45, was promised at the same hour as No. 10. All these trains used the Missouri, Kansas & Pacific tracks from Washington, Mo., the Missouri Pacific tracks being damaged by the storm.

Train No. 2, Southern Railroad, from the Southeast, due at 7:30 a. m., was marked to arrive at 3:20 p. m.

The Toledo, St. Louis & Southwestern train, due at 8:45, was expected at 10:15.

About 125 passengers going east over the Vandalia line by way of Indianapolis, who left St. Louis Tuesday, are being held outside of Indianapolis on the west side of the White River and being cared for by the railroad company.

Detailed Account of the Dayton Flood From Scene

suddenly with the breaking of the levee. The breaking of this levee will keep the loss of life in the commercial section less than at first was expected, it is believed.

While it is impossible from the penned-in position in the telephone office to obtain accurate figures as to the number of deaths, it is estimated generally that 500 have perished.

By 8 o'clock yesterday morning the business streets were impassable and many employes in the stores and offices were prevented from reaching their places of employment.

Many were driven to the outskirts of the city far from their homes, however, and were unable to communicate with friends. The immediate pressing need today is for food and medicine. The great demand for food exhausted the emergency supplies in the outskirts of city and survivors are now depending entirely upon what may be brought in during the day.

The 200 refugees in the Y. M. C. A. building and in the Algonquin Hotel were facing possible short rations this morning. Their food supplies were becoming limited and drinking water was at a premium.

Forty boats had been requisitioned by the city atuhorities and are patrolling the city in an effort of save life and property. These craft are manned by volunteers.

In front of the Central Union Telephone office the water is running so swiftly that horses cannot go through it without swimming. The telephone employes in that building have fished chairs, dry goods boxes and a quantity of other floating property from the flood. The debris has been swept down the main business street with such force that every plate-glass window has been smashed by floating logs and boxes.

Dayton, except for its most remote suburbs, was covered with a seething flood of water from 8 to 20 feet as early as last midnight. The flooded district is almost a circle, with a radius of a mile and a half and in no place was the water less than 6 feet deep. In Main street, in the downtown section the water was 20 feet deep.

The flooded district includes all of North and West Dayton, all of the downtown sections, the South Side as far as Oakwood and all of the residence suburb of Glendale. The district has a normal population of more than 50,000.

The horror of the flooded district was heightened throughout the night by more than a dozen fires, which could be seen in the flooded district out of reach of fire fighters.

Most of the business houses and nearly all the residences had occupants. Downtown the offices were filled with men unable to get home, and on the upper floors and on some of the roofs of the residences were helpless women and children. Hundreds of houses, substantial buildings in the residence districts, many of them with helpless occupants, have been washed away.

The St. Elizabeth Hospital, with 600 patients, was reported to have been washed away. The building was known to be in many feet of water.

The electric light plants were put out of business early in the day, and total darkness, with a torrential downpour, made the night a horrible one. Famine also became an immediate possibility.

All the supply and grocery houses are in the submerged district, and at midnight it was said there was not enough bread to last the survivors another day.

John H. Patterson, president of the National Cash Register Co., who headed the relief work in the sotuh end of the city, sent out an appeal for food supplies and for doctors and medicine. Three thousand homeless were housed in the cash register offices last night.

The National cash register plant, on a high hill, offered the only haven in the South End. Three women became mothers in the halls of its office building last night.

A fire which started from an explosion in the Meyers Ice Cream Co., near Wyoming street, spread and burned the block on South Park about a block from Wyoming street.

Dozens of fires which it was impossible to fight started in other parts of town. Firemen from dry sections of town could not reach the fires, because of the flooded streets.

John Hadkins and James Hoosay, privates of the Ohio National Guard, were drowned while attempting rescue.

The breaking of the Tarleton Reservoir, which supplies the drinking water, left the city without water and physicians declared there was great danger of typhoid in the use of the flood water.

There were no boats in Dayton which could breast the current and those on the outside early gave up any attempts to reach the business section.

In the woodworking department of the cash register company boats were being turned out at the rate of 10 an hour, and these were rushed to where the waters had crossed Main street in a gulley. But the waters crept up and the strength of the current was far too strong for the crude craft.

Trip after trip was made and hundreds of the refugees were taken from this stretch of houses.

Rescuers and those at the hospitals said an estimate of 5000 dead might be as accurate as an estimate of 100.

At the edges of the inundated districts the water ran from eight to ten feet deep.

People in residences were in constant danger from flood and fire. First the frailer buildings were swept into the flood, many showing faces of women and children peering from the windows. These were followed by more substantial brick buildings, until it became evident that no house in the flood zone was safe. The houses as a rule lasted only a few blocks before disintegrating.

The body of one gray-haired woman floated down the stream only a few feet from the watchers at South Park street. The body caught on a guard rope but was swept clear.

Levee Breaks at 8 A. M.

The flood came soon after daylight Tuesday after the residents had spent the night before in terror. The main levee of the Big Miami broke at Webster street about 8 o'clock. An hour later the water was through in a dozen places and a wall of water ten feet high swept through the main street just above the juncture of the Big Miami and the Mad River, and where the water of Stillwater River poured into the Miami, the flood reached its height and rolled into the business section in a wall 20 feet high. The flood rose to the second floor of the Algonquin Hotel and all along Main street occupants were driven to the third floors.

House looting began early in the night, and while the local militiamen were on duty, they were incapable of handling the situation.

Incidents without number are narrated of persons in the flooded district waving handkerchiefs and otherwise signalling for aid, who were swept away before the eyes of the watchers on the edge of the waters.

Many rescue boats were swept by the current against what had been fire plugs, trees and houses. They were crushed.

Town of 4000 Reported Destroyed.

By Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., March 26.—From Lake Erie to the Ohio River and from the Indiana to the Pennsylvania lines, Ohio today is experiencing the worst flood the State has ever known. With an appalling loss of life at Dayton, estimated today to run over 500, almost every city and village in the State follows with a death roll that cannot be counted until the water subsides. Although first reports had put the loss of life at Dayton as high as 5000, refugees arriving in Xenia from the flood-stricken city said it would be below 1000. The most serious news early today was that the town of Miamisburg, with a population of 4000, had been washed away. Rains continued through most of the night.

At least 150 persons were drowned in Columbus in the flood from the Scioto River, according to reports received from the flooded West Side section of the city this morning, when telephone communication was partly restored. Numerous persons say they saw scores of bodies afloat down stream and dozens of persons carried away in houses.

Gov. Cox today telegraphed the War Department at Washington asking that 50,000 tents and 100,000 rations be made available for use and distribution by the Ohio National Guard.

Bridges have been washed away; railway and interurban traffic is at a standstill and in many cities there is grave danger of fire loss due to the shutting down of plants supplying water.

Gov. Cox estimated that more than 250,000 persons are homeless. The State is unable to cope with the situation in its entirety, and the Governor has called on the National Red Cross Society and adjoining states for aid. Immediate need is for tents and food for the homeless. Every militia company was ordered to report for duty today. The troops will be sent to points of the greatest emergency. The State Commissary Department is making every effort to rush supplies to the many points.

The property damage cannot be calculated, but it will run far into the millions. This includes actual loss by fire and flood and prospective loss where the farming lands have been washed away. No immediate relief from flood conditions is in sight, as rainy weather is promised.

Families Spend Night in Trees.

Stories are reaching Columbus of families which spent the night in a drenching rain, in tree tops or on roofs of their flooded homes. Many of those marooned in the tree tops are believed to have been worn out from cold and fatigue and to have dropped from their perilous positions to death in the flood below.

Thrilling rescues are reported without number, as are also unavailing efforts to rescue persons seen to be drifting by in the ruins of their homes or on driftwood. The list of missing is swelling.

This city is cut off from the rest of the country by rail and the telegraph is intermittent and uncertain.

At Piqua 540 persons are reported drowned; in Delaware the loss of life will be over forty; Hamilton has 16 or more dead and from Troy a great death toll has been reported, with no definite figures available.

The flood is the greatest ever known in Columbus and business activities are paralyzed. The waterworks shut down last night and will not be in condition to furnish water for a week, as two large mains have been washed out by the flood, which took away every bridge in the city. Last night the city was in darkness, as the municipal electric light plant was flooded. Gas pressure is low and little hope is held out that it will last throughout the day.

The flood in the Scioto and Olentangy rivers came so suddenly yesterday that workers who had crossed them early in the day were unable to return to their homes on the West Side, when the torrents tore loose the bridges connecting both sides of the city.

All available State departments were thrown open to refugees and thousands of dollars have been raised to care for them. A bill will be introduced in the Legislature as an emergency measure, providing that $250,000 be appropriated for the relief of the flood sufferers.

The street car system is operating under difficulties, and many lines are not running at all. The failure of the water supply is keenly felt, and the State Department of Health with the local Health Department, has made preparations to cope with any situation which may arise from this cause.

Mobilized at all points of the State, companies and regiments of the Ohio military forces were ready to start at daybreak this morning for the stricken cities and towns as soon as arrangements for their transportation, the most serious problem confronting the military headquarters, could be arranged. The relief which they would carry was held back by the lack of railroad facilities everywhere. The first place which the troops will reach probably will be Sidney.

Transportation for a company from Bucyrus was arranged. Gen. John C. Speaks was in touch with the railroads. He was bending every effort to start a train with troops to Dayton from any point and by any route. Help was still cut off from Piqua early today. The naval militia at Toleda was entrained, but was unable to leave that city because of the lack of railroad facilities.

Women 100 Feet Above Flood Climb Over Cable to Safety

DAYTON, O., March 26.

THRILLING experiences marked the efforts of those residents of Dayton, who had warning in time and struggled against great odds to higher ground.

At Wyoming street on the South Side, where the National Cash Register Co. centered its efforts at rescue, many saved their lives by creeping on a telephone cable 100 feet above the flood.

At first linemen crept along the cables carrying two ropes, to which the flat-bottomed boats were attached. When the flood became so fierce that the boats no longer were able to make way against it, men and women crept along the cables to safety. Others, less daring, saw darkness fall and gave up hope of rescue.

Those willing to risk their lives in the attempt to rescue found themselves helpless in face of the water.

The first to seek safety by sliding his body along the telegraph conduits was a man. Then came four women. The first of the women was Mrs. Luella Meyer. She is a widow, with a son in knee breeches.

Her son got out on the wire with agility of a cat, and was soon across. But Mrs. Meyer, when over the boiling torrent swayed as though faint, slipped and the crowd stood by with abated breath.

By lucky chance her sense came back to her so that she could grasp one of the wires. Hand over hand she was able to slowly pull herself to the nearest pole, where she rested before again making the trial. This time she did not falter, when she was picked up by the rescuers at the fatherest pole toward safety she was limp from nervous and physical exhaustion.

Then came two more women and under the advice of the people standing on safe ground they kept looking up and were not subjected to faintness. Then came a young man and his wife. The wife went first and when she reached safety she refused to get into the ambulance without her baby.

Another five minutes and her husband had been brought out to safe ground. He had the baby in a pillow slip and the youngster celebrated his safe arrival to the ground by a lusty yell. Others followed to safety.

White Water River levee had flooded the valley, sweeping hundreds of persons before it. Word came today that 40 persons had been killed at Brookville.

Militia was ready all during the night to hurry to the town, but no train was operated in that direction.

Though the whole State is stupefied by the disaster, which in 25 hours has resulted in 300 or more persons drowned and property damage of close to $25,000,000, work on repairing the telephone and telegraph lines and railroads was started early. The State is practically a huge lake. Every brook and creek is taking its toll of damage.

Conservative estimates place the number driven from their homes in the State at near 100,000.

Parts of Fort Wayne, Lafayette, Richmond, Marion, Terre Haute, Muncie, Rushville, Kokomo, Petersburg, New Castle, Frankfort, Anderson, Tipton, Noblesville, Hartford City, Elwood, Bloomington, Shelbyville, Logansport, Cleveland and innumerable small towns are under water, with many of the residents driven from their homes an dthe others living on upper floors.

Practically every railroad and traction company operating in the State has lost one or more bridges with several miles of track washed out or made shaky by the flood waters, and nearly all trains have been canceled.

Indianapolis awoke to find the waters higher than ever appeared before, with a property loss that two days ago would have been unbelievable. It is hard even yet to bring the full realization of the damage to the people, who had no thought of a flood from the streams that ordinarily are unimportant, aiding only in beautifying the city's parks and boulevards.

During the night the water advanced upon the exclusive residence section along Fall Creek. It tore away one bridge, destroyed the city's proudest driveway and forced the families living along its banks to desert their palatial homes. A few hours before, they had no idea they were in any danger and were awakened by the militiamen, to be ordered from the threatened buildings only to find every hotel in the city full. They were cared for at homes of friends.

The Washington street bridge over the White River that connects Indianapolis and West Indianapolis closed for traffic late last night, early today was torn apart by the waters, the floor of the structure being carried away.

With the breaking of day also came the proposition of feeding the refugees to the number of 10,000. The city has appropriated enough money to defray this expense today, but more will be needed tomorrow. A relief fund has been started and it is believed this will solve that problem.

Indianapolis faces another day without water and is without fire protection. Drinking water is at a premium, while water to use for baths and washing is unattainable.

Rough Boats Quickly Built.

At dawn rescuers resumed the work that weariness, night and rushing waters had forced them to abandon between 1 and 2 o'clock. At the edges of the water men built skiffs and scows of "two by fours" and scantling, lined these rough boats with tar paper, and with these leaking, but serviceable makeshifts, went about in the "back waters," taking to safety those persons in the most dangerous places.

Harley Reed, police sergeant, and Albert Harris make a score of trips to marooned homes during the night until the rising waters made further rescue work impossible until morning.

"We saw three drowned," Reed said, "a man, a woman and child. People across the street from them yelled at us and pointed to the house. We rowed over only to see the three lying there dead, and we could not reach them."

Thirty-five children were taken to the West Washington street car barns and little groups rescued from every imaginable point of temporary escape from the waters were taken into homes and storerooms on the higher ground. Many were rescued from roofs and each had an added tale of many who had not escaped.

People in West Indianapolis were warned late yesterday afternoon, but few heeded the danger others recognized. Four skiffs and two canoes were the only available boats for rescue work during the morning, but others are being built. People were taken from the second floors of many houses, and the boatmen received frantic appeals from marooned families. The streets in West Indianapolis are filled with women and children seeking missing members of their families.

Among those rescued during the morning were 45 persons, who had spent the entire night on the roof of a handle factory, calling incessantly for help. One man among them fired a revolver at intervals, but they could not be reached until after daylight.

William Morris took his wife and two children from his West Indianapolis home late yesterday, but, believing the warning an exaggeration, returned to his house and was caught and drowned. A woman died in a church when she collapsed from the excitement of being rescued from the flood.

50 TO 100 DEAD AT PERU; WATER 25 FEET IN STREETS

By Associated Press.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 26.—An official report received by Mayor Charles E. Goetz of South Bend at 10:45 a. m. today, estimates that 300 persons were drowned at Peru; that no bodies had been recovered and that there was less than one block of the entire city that was not under water.

By Associated Press.

PERU, Ind., March 26 (Via Telephone to South Bend).—Estimates of the number of persons drowned in the flood in Peru varied from 60 to 100 today. It was impossible to make anything like an accurate estimate. Mayor John J. Krutzer, who is marooned in his home while ill, received a telephone report that the number probably would not exceed 50 or 60.

Persons who were isolated in downtown buildings and in portions of the residence sections and who saw bodies floating through the streets, said this estimate was conservative and that the list of fatalities might reach 100. Water from 10 to 25 feet deep is racing through the streets, but is receding slightly today.

Several small relief boats attempted to venture into the city, but were forced back on account of the swift current.

People Cling to the Roofs.

Many people still were clinging to roofs today. Several groups stood up on high places attempting to signal for help. It was believed that several motor boats brought from Winona Lake might be able to breast the flood.

Daylight showed how great was the devastation wrought by the flood since last night when the Wabash River burst its banks. Houses, half submerged, were drifting away, other buildings appeared toppling over, bodies were recovered floating with the debris in the streets and only a spire indicated the location of a church.

All the city officials were too busy with relief work to answer inquiries for information which came in from all directions over the few telephone wires in operation.

The chief source of information was a telephone operator in a downtown building, who, surrounded by water, had stuck to his post without food or drinking water 24 hours.

Motor Boats For Rescue.

Food supplies, clothing and other provisions for 5000 persons sent from nearby towns during the night had arrived to points within two and three miles of the downtown district, but at daylight currents of the water running between the business houses were too swift to admit of navigation by ordinary row boats. Three motor boats had been brought on interurban trains from Winona Lake, 50 miles away, and with these boats it was thought that not only food and water might soon be taken into the city, but also that the survivors might be rescued.

No one was able correctly to estimate the number of drowned because of the many bodies that had been carried down the river and because of the total submerging of whole streets of houses known to have been occupied before the water came up, but the city officials agreed that the fatalities would not be less than three-score. All night long, while the city was in darkness because of the cutting off of the gas and electric light supply, men, women and children and in some instances entire families lay where they had crawled to the roofs of the houses where they awaited daylight to bring relief. Hundreds of others were jammed in the courthouse and lodge buildings which are in the only four blocks of the city not under water. The first thought of rescue parties when day came was to send into the town boats to carry to safety those who were threatened with drowning. Telephone communication had been raised in the residence and business districts and from those marooned in buildings it was learned that some of the women who held children in their arms had been on roofs exposed to freezing temperatures all night. One man telephoned he had seen several persons fall from exhaustion and slip into the water.

Arthur Moore, a telephone operator, who is isolated on the top floor of a building and who worked all night by candle light, was reached over the telephone from another part of the city.

Saw Bodies Floating Past.

"Sixty people downtown drowned is the nearest to a correct estimate of the fatalities," said Moore. "I have been looking out of the windows all afternoon and from the number of bodies I have seen floating down the street, I do not think the number drowned will exceed that number.

"Only four blocks in the entire city are above water. In the other sections survivors have climbed to the roofs and many passed the night there. Their suffering from cold is intense and unless boats soon are able to carry them to safety, other deaths will follow.

"Before dark, I saw more than one of these survivors drop from exhaustion and slip into the water.

"That many more people were not drowned was due to the fact that the residents had several days' warning. The water rose steadily for several days and people moved to the upper stories of their homes. The sudden rise Tuesday was, however, more than was expected."

The catastrophe was caused by the breaking of the Wabash River levee late yesterday, which poured a torrent of water into the south part of Peru.

After Gov. Ralston had communicated by telephone with William Baker, manager of a furniture factory, P. T. Kruger, superintendent of the Electric Light plant and Mr. Butler, an attorney, he ordered 200 coffins, a carload of food and 1000 blankets shipped to Peru. Senator Fleming of Fort Wayne has charge of the relief expedition.

Baker, who first talked with the Governor estimated the loss of life in Peru at 200 to 500.

Peru has about 10,000 population. Relief trains which came here this morning also learned on the way the dire need of help at Logansport, where all sections of the city are inundated.

A telephone message from Logansport, where the streets also were flooded to depths varying from five to ten feet, said there probably had been loss of life there. Many houses in the eastern part of the city have been swept away.

"It was impossible that all of the people could have gotten away," said the Logansport dispatch.

OHIO HOUSE PASSES BILL FOR $250,000 FOR FLOOD RELIEF

COLUMBUS, O., March 26.

THE House today under suspension of the rules immediately passed a bill introduced by Lowery for the relief of the flood sufferers.

It carries $250,000 and this entire sum is placed in the hands of the Governor for distribution as he deems fit.

The bill carries the emergency clause, so it goes into effect immediately upon its passage.

FORTY DEAD AT BROOKVILLE, IND.

CONNERSVILLE, Ind., March 26.—Probably forty persons were drowned at Brookville, Franklin County, last night when they were caught in the flood from the east and west forks of White Water River, which meet in that town. Survivors tells of attempts of men, women and children to escape by the light of lanters after the electric light plant had been swamped. Cross currents, carrying along streets and alleys, carried them down to a united stream a mile wide just south of the town.

Five children, all of one family, were seen clinging to posts of a wooden bed when they were swept into the main stream and lost.

The town is cut off and word came here from parties at Blooming Grove and Everton, villages north of Brookville, to which appeal had been made.

Five large wagon bridges, the Big Four railroad bridge and station and a paper mill were utterly destroyed. Fifty summer houses on White Water River, south of Brookville, are gone. People are gathering in churches for religious services.

40 TO 50 DEAD AT DELAWARE, O.; SCORES IN TREES

DELAWARE, O., March 26.—Rescue work continued this morning in the flooded districts and the list of dead was changed from time to time. Several reported dead were found after daylight and others believed to have been saved were reported dead. However, the dead probably will number 40 or 50. It is hard to communicate with the main business section of Delaware.

Scores of persons last night clung to tops of trees, roofs of houses and other available things. Fires were built along the banks of the river to cheer the marooned ones, while desperate efforts to rescue continued.

Life-saving crews from Toledo and Cleveland lake stations were called. They planned to fire breeches buoys from cannon to those in isolated houses and tree tops.

Walter Raines, who was thrown into the Oletangy River when the Big Four bridge was washed out, clung for hours to the tree top which he caught. Hundreds of persons along the banks stood in a drenching rain and cheered the rescuers who tried in vain to reach him. The river began to recede at night.

Mayor Leas was reported drowned, but saved himself by catching the roof of a shed.

A wall of water 7 feet high rushed through the main section of the city and the five main bridges connecting the east and main sections were swept away.

Four persons were thrown into the river when the Big Four bridge gave way. Three were rescued immediately. Just as the bridge was swept out a man, clinging to the roof of a house being swept downstream waved his shirt at the people on the shore and then was lost to view, as the house crumpled when it struck the bridge.

Several buildings of Ohio Wesleyan University are inundated.

One baby, unidentified, was rescued as it floated downstream. Another baby could not be recovered.

Silas Smith, whose wife and children were drowned, grasped the roof of a house as it floated downstream and drifted safely into a lumber yard.

By climbing into a tree the Rev. Eugene Bush rescued two babies and several adults. Taking a rope with him, the pastor fastened it to a tree and threw it to those who were being carried downstream on the roof of a house.

For Spring Humors

And tired feelings I heartily recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I have used in my family for years and think a very fine medicine. I had salt rheum badly on my face, and humors that seemed to come from or be developed by vaccination. I knew my blood must be in very poor condition. Hood's Sarsaparilla was recommended and I took a few bottles. The humor entirely disappeared, and I have had no trouble from it since. I cordially recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to my friends and neighbors and to the general public." Mrs. Bertram Gray, 499 Union Street, New Bedford, Mass. Get a bottle of

MISSISSIPPI RIVER SHOWS RISE OF 5 FEET IN 24 HOURS

Still Five Feet Short of Flood Stage Which Weather Man Does Not Expect It to Reach.

MANY OTHER RIVERS UP

Gasconade Is in Flood and Many of the Illinois Streams Are Beyond Banks.

By 12 o'clock Wednesday morning the Mississippi River at St. Louis had reached a stage of 25.3 feet above low water, having risen five feet in 24 hours. The Weather Bureau forecast Tuesday was that the river would reach 26 feet by Wednesday morning. The flood stage is 30 feet.

Weather Forecaster Hays said he had no reason to expect flood stage in the Mississippi although on account of disabled wire service he has received but meager reports from many points on the upper Mississippi, the Illinois, the Missouri and the smaller streams in this State which feed the Missouri.

"The Illinois River," the forecaster said, "is very high. We sent out flood warnings all along the stream Monday. There is a continued rise, with prospect of higher stages. At La Salle the Illinois is eight feet above flood. At Beardstown it is three and a half feet above. We have been unable to get reports from Peoria and other points because of wire trouble.

"The Mississippi above the Missouri is rising gradually, although there has been comparatively little rain up there. The Missouri above the Osage is practically stationary. We have a report of a fall of two-tenths of a foot.

"We have had no report from the Osage River for two days—more wire trouble. The Gasconade is in flood, and as there have been very heavy rains on the water sheds of these two rivers it is likely that the Osage also is in flood.

"The Missouri below the Osage is in flood all the way. Much rain has fallen in the neighborhood of the confluence of the Missouri and the Mississippi. Most of the rain which accounts for the rise at St. Louis has fallen along the Illinois, the Osage and the Gasconade.

"We expect a stage of 26 feet at St. Louis by night."

St. Louis Snowstorm Begins.

A snowstorm of midwinter aspect began in St. Louis at 7:05 in the morning and continued steadily. The weather forecaster said that snow was falling in large sections of Missouri, Iowa and Oklahoma.

The melting of the snow, provided higher temperature follows quickly, is expected to add materially to the rise in the rivers.

At 10:30 a. m. the Weather Bureau reported the conditions favorable for a heavy fall of snow, and predicted a drop in temperature to 24 degrees Wednesday night.

The forecaster said the river at St. Louis will continue to rise at a moderate rate, the water now in sight indicating a stage slightly in excess of 27 feet by Thursday night or Friday, with rain and snow continuing.

Residents along the Meramec River and in the Creve Coeur Lake neighborhood, in St. Louis County, are reported as being much alarmed by flood conditions. The big and the little lakes at Creve Coeur, which are half a mile apart, are joined by water. About a dozen houses are on this strip of land between the two lakes. They are on high ground, but are surrounded by water, and the occupants fear that the Missouri River will overflow into the lakes and greatly augment the flood. The river water was only a mile away at 10 a. m.

In the extreme southern part of St. Louis County thousands of acres of rich corn and wheat lands are under water. At Fenton, five miles south of Kirkwood, an area of a thousand acres is inundated.

Meramec Rising Rapidly.

The Meramec at Valley Park, according to Constable Jack Sturdy, who is on constant watch, has been rising three inches an hour for 20 hours. The river is within eight feet of the flood stage of 1903.

Three miles above, at Crescent, hundreds of acres are overflowed by backwater, which extends half a mile from the bed of the stream.

On both sides of the river in the vicinity of Valley Park are shacks and tents occupied by fishermen and campers, who have taken their boats and fled. Alarm is felt lest the new part of Valley Park, which lies low, be inundated.

It was reported Wednesday morning that a negro was drowned during the night near the Provident Chemical Co. plant, 8000 Idaho street, in the county.

At Chesterfield, in the western part of the county, the Chesterfield Creek has submerged the bridge, preventing the farmers from using the Olive street road in hauling produce into St. Louis.

The River des Peres has overflowed into basements in what is known as the Third Ward section of University City. At Kirkwood, Webster and Maplewood the same stream has done considerable damage.

In St. Charles County, in the low lands lying around St. Peters, Dardenne Creek broke through a levee Tuesday and inundated a large area, including the town of St. Peters. The rainfall there was nearly four inches Monday night. Wheat fields along the creek were flooded for a distance of 10 miles.

Four Feet of Water in St. Peters.

In Second and some other streets in St. Peters the water was four feet deep. Residents fled to higher ground. The water was reported as receding Wednesday morning.

Culvre River also is out of its banks and has floated away much cordwood. Femme Osage Creek, in the western part of St. Charles County, has done much damage to farms.

MAJOR WILL HEAR OPPONENTS OF BILL FOR LOW FIRE RATES

Friends of Oliver Law to Argue for Veto of the Orr Measure.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 26.—Gov. Major announced today that he will give a hearing tomorrow upon the Orr bill to repeal the Oliver fire insurance rating law. One of the men who has asked permission to make an argument against the Orr bill is Murray Carleton.

The Governor has signed the following bills of interest to St. Louis:

The bill permitting the use of interpreters in the grand jury room.

Gov. Major heard arguments today from Judge O. M. Spencer and other railroad lawyers against the Rodgers' bill requiring foreign railroads to incorporate in Missouri. They contended the bill is unconstitutional, in that it would bring about an impairment of contract and because the law is retroactive because it lays down new conditions different from those under which foreign roads came into the State.

A Thrilling Narrative.

Girl Passenger in Aeroplane Wreck.

LOS ANGELES, CAL., March 26.—Aviator W. Leonard Bonney and his passenger, Miss Margaret Stahl, were wrecked near Riverside yesterday on a return flight in Bonney's aeroplane from San Diego, whither they flew Sunday. Neither was hurt, as the machine landed on soft ground. They had lost their way and a gusty wind literally blew them to the ground.

New Credit Clothing Plan Taxes H. & R. Co.'s Capacity

The Hoyle & Rarick Clothing Co., 810 North Broadway, who are operating under a new plan for selling clothing on credit, were taxed to their utmost by the rush of Easter buyers last week. They expect a continuance of the rush right through the spring season, because their new system seems to hit the proper idea.

The new system permits the complete outfitting of men, women and children without the payment of one cent deposit. You can get a complete outfit—suit, shoes and hat—for $15.00, or one can go as far beyond this figure as one's circumstances permit, on payment of $1 per week, or payments may be made monthly, if desired.

The H. & R. Co. is one of the largest and oldest credit stores in St. Louis. They have always been leaders in every movement for improving methods of liberality in terms to their patrons.

Mr. Rarick, the manager, says he likes to give every deserving patron a chance to dress well without feeling it a hardship or a strain on their income, no matter how small it is.

ONLY TWO-THIRDS OF ST. LOUISANS CHURCH MEMBERS

This Is Proportion in Incomplete Census, Which Is to Be Finished Saturday.

The church census of St. Louis will be completed Saturday afternoon. Because of the bad weather Tuesday afternoon about 1100 blocks in the city could not be visited. Volunteer workers will visit the homes in these districts later and the tabulated lists will be compiled into the complete census.

The religious faith of approximately 600,000 resident of St. Louis was tabulated by 6000 workers between the hours of 2 and 4. The city has been divided into 38 districts and the volunteers worked from the headquarters in each district. The reports were forwarded to the office of the Home Visitation Committee in the Fullerton Building.

From the information gathered it was found that approximately one-third of the residents of St. Louis are not affiliated with any church or religious organization. About 275,000 persons told the visitors that they belonged to no church, but about 95 per cent of this number expressed a religious preference.

It is estimated by the Visitation Committee that 4500 blocks out of the 5624 blocks in the city were visited. The men and women making the canvass were treated courteously, they reported, and few persons refused to answer the questions asked. Many residents who were not at home when the workers called had clipped the blanks from the newspapers, filled them out and had left them with neighbors to deliver to the census takers.

New York Police Grafter in Prison.

NEW YORK, March 26.—Patrolman John J. Hartigan, the first member of the New York police force convicted in the police graft prosecutions, was sent to prison yesterday for two and one-half to three and one-half years. Hartigan took his prison sentence with sealed lips, firm in his refusal to "squeal" against his superiors, who are charged with grafting.

OMAHA BURIES 100 OF ITS TORNADO DEAD IN ONE DAY

Funerals Fill the Street as Business Men Meet and Lay Plans to Rebuild the Stricken City---Prevention of Rent Extortion and Distribution of $250,000 Relief Fund are Problems.

By Associated Press.

OMAHA, Neb., March 26.—Burying the dead and work of reconstruction occupied tornado-stricken Omaha today. Paying last rites occupied the time of thousands of persons during the day. One hundred funerals were held in all parts of the city. Many of the bodies recovered from wrecks of Sunday's storm were cared for at undertaking establishments and a great number of the funerals were held from those places. Whenever possible friends of stricken families took care of the bodies and had them prepared for burial.

In many instances churches were demolished in the districts covered by the storm; others were so badly wrecked as to prevent them being used for burial purposes.

City Has Another Cold Snap.

Another period of unseasonable cold followed yesterday's snowstorm, and increased today the already long list of sufferers from the storm. Vehicles of all kinds were commandeered to carry relief to the storm vicitms, fuel being most in demand.

During the night the search of ruins continued, but only one body was reported recovered, that of another negro buried in the Idlewild Pool Hall debris. The authorities intend to uncover all the wreck speedily, in order to remove any bodies that may be buried beneath the mass of bricks and broken timbers of demolished buildings.

Today, for the first time since the storm, systematic search of the ruins was begun. A search is expected to bring to light any cases of death or injury not already reported.

Latest estimates of the dead from the storm in Omaha kept the number at approximately 200, although the Commercial Club gave out a statement putting the figure at 141. This took in the "counted dead" only, and it is believed additions will have to be made to this list. The number of dead in surrounding towns remains close to 50.

Two more bodies were found in Council Bluffs today. They were those of J. Albert Johnson and his wife, whose home was wrecked.

Rent Extortion Fought.

The Real Estate Exchange has taken steps to prevent the raising of rents. Already cases of attempted extortion have been reported, some by members of the exchange itself. Executives of that body decided to deal harshly with any owners found taking advantage of those forced to hunt new homes on account of the tornado.

Hundreds of persons from all parts of the country, unable to hear from relatives, have come to the city seeking news of their safety. Many persons known to have been in the vicinity of that portion of that city ridden by the storm have been reported missing and everything possible is being done to find them.

Plans for the immediate rebuilding of the tornado-stricken district are being worked out by a big company of Omaha business men. A corporation is being formed to handle the matter in a systematic manner and assist the unfortunates who lost their homes and personal effects. This institution will begin at once the task of at least partly reconstructing many homes.

A public appeal sent out by the Commercial Club says that 642 homes were totally wrecked, 1669 were damaged and 2179 persons made homeless. This census was taken by representatives of the club and the statement given officially.

Dayton's Sympathy Returned.

An unusual incident in connection with the storm was the receipt by Mayor Dahlman of a synpathetic telegram from the Mayor of Dayton, O. Today Mayor Dahlman telegraphed the Dayton executive a similar message in connection with the flood in the Ohio town.

The task of giving permanent relief to the sufferers in Omaha became almost herculean. Although $250,000 has already been provided, the work of systematically distributing this money has become a serious problem. City officials have taken up the work temporarily, but they are preparing to turn it over to some permanently organized relief body, in order that relief may be extended in a business-like manner.

The first case of attempted looting occurred when two Federal soldiers stationed at Forty-third and Farnam were discovered entering a wrecked building. They were promptly arrested by their own comrades and sent to Fort Crook for courtmartial.

Red Cross Official on His Way to Omaha Turns Back to Ohio

CHICAGO, March 26.

HURRYING to Omaha to assist in relief work in that city, Director Ernest P. Bicknell of the American National Red Cross Society halted here today in order to go to the flooded districts in Indiana and Ohio. He departed early this morning for Dayton, Ohio, and will endeavor to reach the stricken city by way of Terre Haute, Ind.

Director Bicknell left Washington Monday for Omaha and was not informed of the serious situation in Indiana and Ohio until he reached here this morning. He wired Omaha and received word from his representative in the Nebraska city that the relief work there was well in hand. He then decided to hurry to the flood-stricken districts in Indiana and Ohio.

Before departing Bickenll arranged with officers of the United Charities to raise funds for the flood sufferers and as a result several thousand dollars were subscribed to the fund within a few hours.

Scores of offers of clothing, provisions and furniture were received by the United Charities, but no attempt will be made to distribute these until word has been received from Bicknell.

Nebraska To Give $100,000 To Relieve Tornado Sufferers.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 26.—The State of Nebraska will appropriate $100,000 for the aid of the tornado sufferers in Eastern Nebraska, this money to be expended by a committee of seven of which Gov. Moorehead is to be chairman. This action was decided upon late yesterday at a conference with the Governor by ten members of the Legislature appointed to represent the House and the Senate.

Wire Equipment Weighing 40 Tons Sent to Omaha.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 26.—Electrical equipment weighing 80,000 pounds was shipped by express last night to Omaha by a local electrical concern. The material is to be used in reconstruction of the telegraph and telephone lines in Omaha.

CITY CLUB DINES LAUDER, THEN HE ENTERTAINS CLUB

Scotch Comedian Says Human Nature Is Suspicious of Human Nature.

Harry Lauder, Scotch comedian, who is playing at a local theater, told the members of the City Club at the Wednesday luncheon that "human nature is suspicious of human nature."

Lauder was invited to speak on "American Publicity as I Have Found It." He said not a word appertaining to his topic, but confined his remarks to a discussion of sociability. W. W. LeBeaume introduced the comedian.

"You have honored me," said Lauder, "by inviting me here today, and you have especially honored me by dining me. I am very fond of eating.

"I think when a man is going to speak in public he ought to have a clear brain. Therefore I didn't take tnything—that is, to drink—before I started talking. I want to be responsible for everything I say. If I make any mistakes you will know it was done with intention.

"I believe in sociability such as I see here today.

Relief From Work.

"You are here as a relief from work. I am supposed to be here as a relief to you. You think of luncheon all morning, and all afternoon you think of what you had for luncheon. It is good to come in contact thus. We don't come in contact with each other more because we are suspicious of each other. Human nature is suspicious of human nature.

"I left Scotland and went to London where I made my success. It is very lonesome in London, lonesome anywhere in a big crowd. I never was so alone in my life as in that London crowd. It is good to come to a city and get acquainted like this, so that the next time I come I shall know somebody.

"Believe you me"—that was the Lauderism of expression—"believe you me, it is more lonely in a big crowd than it is alone by the seashore.

"Though there be no people at the shore, one is with nature there and needn't feel lonesome."

History Unmasked.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt, twice President of the United States, and the most notable world figure of his time, is writing the story of his life. He will give all the accompanying facts, many of which have been secret hitherto, in connection with the great events and deeds in which he has participated. This wonderful serial of history will begin in next Sunday's Post-Dispatch. The Post-Dispatch is the only St. Louis paper that will be permitted to print Col. Roosevelt's own story. Ask your dealer today to save for you a copy of Next Sunday's Post-Dispatch.

"Arson Trust' Inquiry Begins.

CHICAGO, March 26.—A special grand jury to investigate the alleged "arson trust" was sworn in today by Judge Richard E. Burke in the Commercial Court. Several hundred witnesses have been subpenaed to testify before the body.

A Special Demonstration, Calling to Your Attention

The Englander Bed Couch

THIS exhibition will be held here all of this week to illustrate the many superior features of the Englander Bed Couch over other makes.

Demonstration will take place in the North Aisle, Main floor and you will be shown how little space one can get along with if one of these Englander Couches is used.

They Can Be Changed Instantly From Couch to Bed and From Bed to Couch, With the Greatest Ease Imaginable

Englander Couches are durably constructed of Bessemer angle steel, thoroughly braced and tied underneath with steel tie rods, equipped with soft, pliable National springs, and supported at either end with oil-tempered helicals, which give the bed the proper resiliency.

The mattresses are white cotton filled, with laced edge, are detachable and so arranged that you are not required to sleep on top of the upholstering.

Model "A" is illustrated, and is priced special during this sale at $12.50. Other styles of the Englander make are the "Duplex Box Couch" and the "Duplex Divan." (Main Floor.)

COAL RATE RAISE HALTED BY ACTION OF POST-DISPATCH

Interstate Commerce Commission Orders Advance of 5½ Cents Scheduled for April 1 Put Off Till July 30 Pending Inquiry Into Its Reasonableness.

PRESENT RATE NOW COMES UNDER FIRE

Under the Mandate of the Commission the Coal Traffic Bureau Must Defend Both the Proposed Advance and the Existing 52½ Cent Charge.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The Post-Dispatch Tuesday afternoon won its fight before the Interstate Commerce Commission to have suspended, pending thorough investigation, the proposed increase of 5½ cents per ton on shipments of bituminous coal and coal briquettes from the Illinois field to St. Louis.

On the petition of the Post-Dispatch the commission will investigate the bridge arbitrary and pass upon the question of its obolition or a discrimation charge unless meantime it is abolished by the United States Court.

An order was issued by the commission suspending the effective date of the proposed advance from April 1 to July 30. Meanwhile a thorough inquiry will be made to determine the reasonableness of the increase which the roads have proposed. Necessarily this will involve a consideration of the existing rates, which the Post-Dispatch and the St. Louis Business Men's League in their formal petitions asked to have reduced at least 5 cents a ton.

The railroads propose to increase the rate on coal shipments from all mines but especially those in group No. 2. The rate from mines in this group, which supply most of the coal consumed by St. Louis industries at present, is 52 cents per ton and the railroads contend that it must be raised to 57½ cents to be remunerative.

The Commission's formal order is based on the ground that the public interests appear to be injuriously affected by the proposed advance in rates. The inquiry to determine the reasonableness or unreasonableness of the advance will be begun in the near future. The burden rests upon the railroads to justify the advance if it is to be allowed by the commission.

Employed Edward C. Crow.

The Post-Dispatch employed former Attorney-General Edward C. Crow to represent the people of St. Louis in fighting before the Interstate Commerce Commission the proposed increase of 5½ cents a ton in the coal rates from the Illinois mines to St. Louis. Illinois mines to St. Louis and the bridge arbitrary as a discriminating charge against St. Louis traffic.

He was also employed by the Post-Dispatch to institute a suit against the Coal Traffic Bureau, charging it with violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. This suit was authorized by former Attorney-General Wickersham just before he retired from office, and filed by him in the name of the United States. The Coal Traffic Bureau is the agency maintained by the railroads to fix coal rates from the Illinois fields to St. Louis.

The proposed increase in coal rates was announced by the Coal Traffic Bureau, in new rate sheets prepared by it at the instigation of the coal-carrying railroads. The Coal Traffic Bureau's methods of doing business were brought out in the Government suit against the Terminal Railroad Association. It was shown by the records of the bureau that the traffic managers of the railroads held regular meetings and agreed upon a schedule of rates to be charged, and that the roads acted in unison in making advances.

Rate to Have Gone Into Effect on April 1.

The proposed increase of 5½ cents a ton was scheduled to go into effect April 1. This would have made the rate 57½ cents a ton from the mines to St. Louis. The same increase in rate to East St. Louis was proposed. The increase would have made the East St. Louis rate 32½ cents a ton.

The Business Men's League also filed a protest against the increased rate on the ground that it was unreasonable.

In passing upon the application of the railroads for an increase in rates, the Interstate Commerce Commission will also determine whether the railroads shall have the privilege of maintaining the arbitrary of 20 cents a ton on coal shipped to St. Louis. The Business Men's League has prepared exhaustive reports to show that it is unfair to St. Louis to pay 20 cents a ton more on coal than East St. Louis, Madison and Granite City pay.

Hearings on the proposed increase probably will be held in St. Louis in the near future. Attorney Crow, under his employment by the Post-Dispatch, will appear at all of these hearings to represent the people of St. Louis.

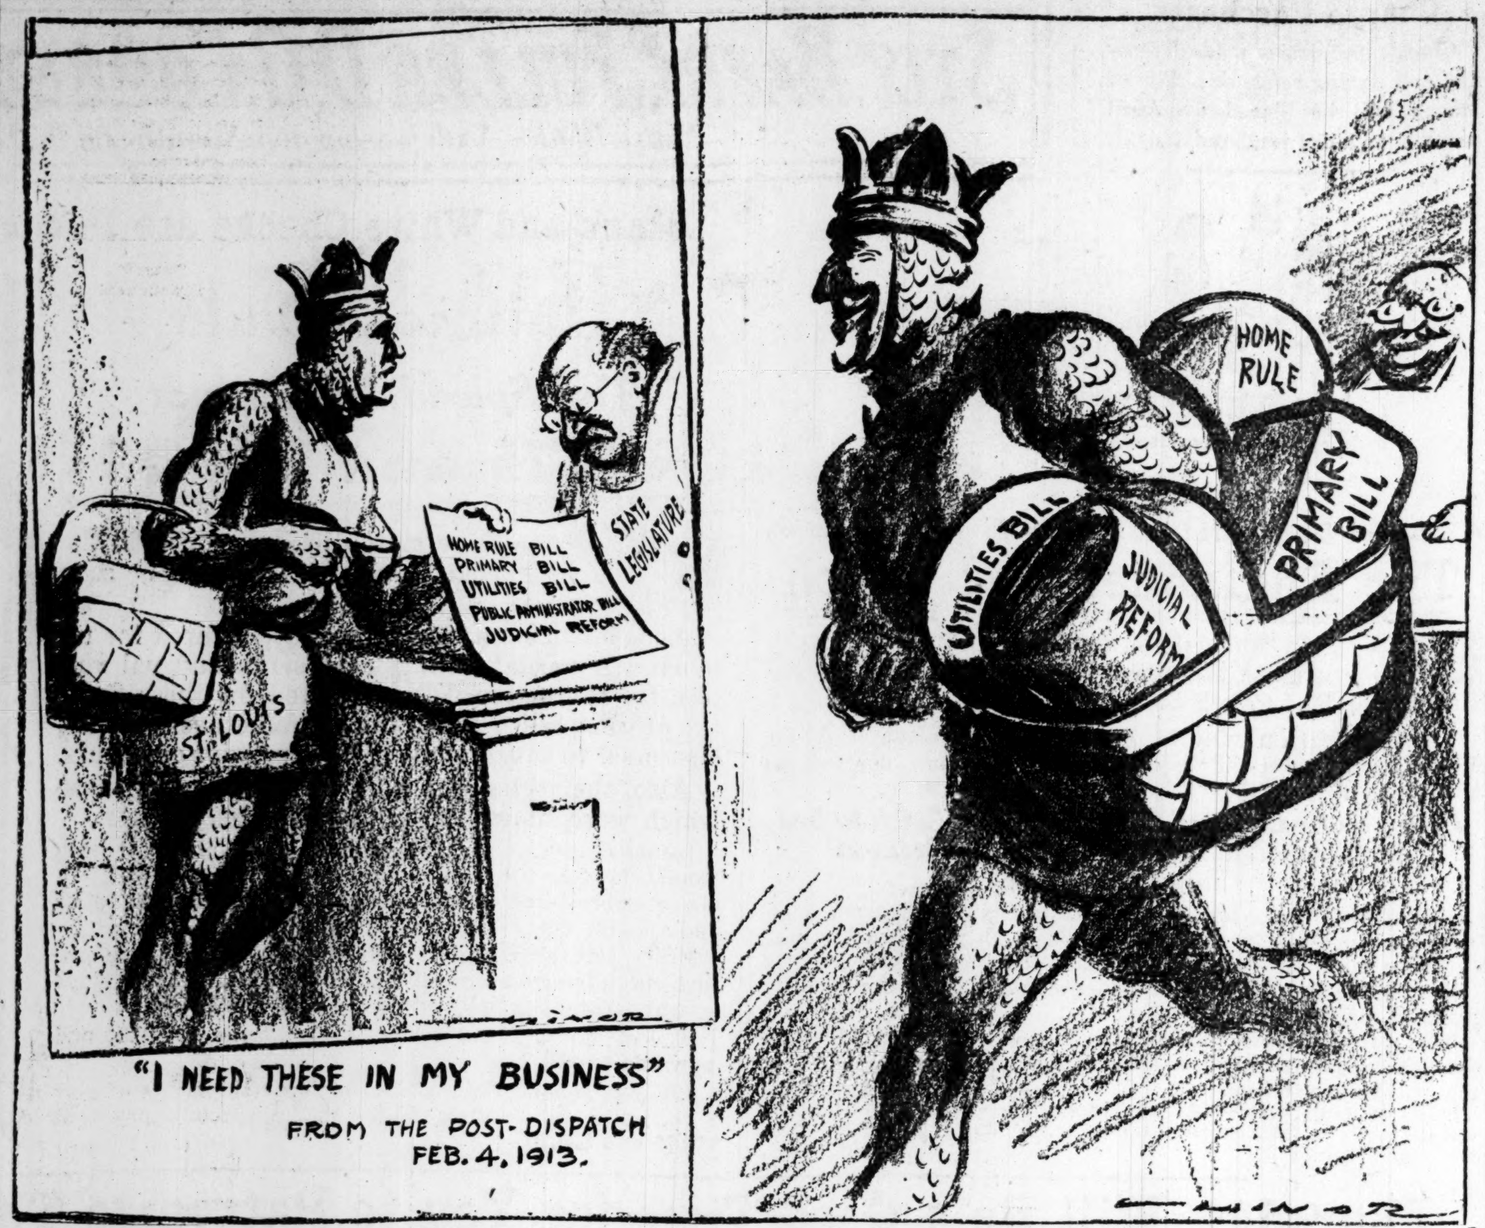
AN ORDER WELL FILLED



'CHANGE TO INQUIRE INTO RICHARDSON'S BUSINESS CONDUCT

Committee Appointed Will Begin Investigation of Lading Transactions Wednesday.

The Board of Directors of the Merchants' Exchange has appointed a special committee to investigate the commercial conduct of Arthur P. Richardson, head of the Richardson Grain Co., whose friends have been endeavoring to bring about a settlement of his financial obligations.

Discussion of Richardson's business affairs on the floor of the Merchants' Exchange, which revealed that he had given duplicate original bills of lading as collateral security for loans aggregating over $60,000, caused the directors to take action.

The committee was appointed by Marshall Hall, acting president of the Merchants' Exchange, in the absence of John L. Messmore, the regular president. Messmore is one of Richardson's creditors. He was serving as foreman of the grand jury when the exchange directors met Tuesday afternoon.

Lang Is Chairman.

Bert H. Lang of the Lang Commission Co. was directed to act as chairman of the committee, the other members of which are Fred W. Seele of Seele Bros. Commission Co., Edward M. Flesh, vice-president of the C. H. Albers Commission Co.; Henry C. Schultz of the Schultz & Niemeier Commission Co., and Fred C. Orthwein, vice-president of the William D. Orthwein Commission Co.

The scope of the committee's investigation will cover all of Richardson's financial manipulations, because, as a member of the Merchants' Exchange, his business methods are subject to the rules of that organization.

In view of the fact that Richardson's creditors, most of whom are brother lodge members, have shown no inclination to prefer written charges against him, the directorate, as the governing body of the Merchants' Exchange, has exercised its right to prefer charges itself, if such action is found to be justifiable.

The Special Committee will ascertain if Richardson's financial transactions warrant the Board of Directors in charging him with conduct unbecoming a member of the exchange.

Will Meet Thursday.

The committee will meet Thursday and will have the power to summon as witnesses Richardson's creditors and question them in detail as to the circumstances under which they are said to have loaned him sums ranging from $5000 to $35,000 on security purported to be original bills of lading, when in reality they were duplicate-original bills of lading and worthless as collateral in view of the fact that money had been borrowed on the original bills.

Chairman Lang stated Wednesday that while the committee does not anticipate any difficulty in getting testimony from Richardson's creditors they will insist on having the full details of his transactions being bared, in order that they will be in a position to make an accurate report, and that any failure on the part of witnesses to give full details of their business relations with Richardson will be reported to the board.

Evidence Not for Courts.

Vice-President Hall stated that any action which might be taken by the Board of Directors will be limited to the determination of Richardson's standing as a member of the Merchants' Exchange. The organization will not use information it may obtain in any court proceeding.

Richardson was not at his office in the Pierce Building when a Post-Dispatch reporter called there Wednesday. His stenographer said he had communicated with her by telephone and told her he was following the advice of friends to remain silent for the present.

FUGITIVE SHOOTS WOMAN

Hides in Her Home, Fires Through Door; Then Shoots Self

CHICAGO, March 26.—Mrs. Anna Finsterbusch, 43 years old, was shot and probably fatally wounded in her home on the North Side today by an unidentified man who, pursued by detectives as a supposed burglar, took refuge in her home and fired through a door when he heard a noise in an adjoining room.

When the police arrived the man fired a bullet into his head in attempting suicide to evade capture. Both were moved in a dying condition to a hospital.

HEALTHY WOMEN SCARCE

Is the Verdict of Scientific Investigation.

How many women do you know who are perfectly well, strong and healthy as a woman should be? They may not be sick enough to lie in bed—but they are run-down, thin, nervous, tired and devitalized.

Women are so active nowadays, and so much is expected of them, that they constantly overdo and suffer from headache, backache, nervousness and kindred ills.

Such women need Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil which will create an appetite, tone up the digestive organs, make pure blood and create strength.

Mrs. W. G. Ritchie, Patchogue, N. Y., says: "Vinol is certainly the best tonic I have ever taken. I was run-down and tired all the time, but thanks to Vinol, I am feeling all right again."

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. Chester Kent & Co., Chemists.

FOUR INDICTED FOR EARLY MARRIAGES AFTER DIVORCES

Illinois Men Charged With Violating Law Prohibiting Weddings Within Year.

Four Jerseyville men, David Matthews, Frank Sowell, Walter J. Twomey and Elmer Grafford, have been indicted by the Jersey County grand jury on the charge of getting married within a year after obtaining divorces.

Each of the four was remarried in St. Louis within a short time after obtaining a divorce in the Jersey County Circuit Court, and then returned to Jerseyville with his new wife.

It is a violation of the Illinois law for any divorced person to remarry within a year, and in some cases, according to the grounds on which the decree is granted, the divorced person is required to remain single for two years. The penalty for the law's violation is from one to three years in the penitentiary.

Weds Mother-in-Law.

David Matthews married his mother-in-law within a short time after she obtained a divorce from his father, David Matthews Sr. Mrs. Matthews' first husband was Perry Rolier, and after his death she married David Matthews Sr. divorced him and married his son, David Matthews, two years ago.

Tuesday afternoon, when Matthews heard of his indictment, he and his wife went to the courthouse, obtained a license and had Judge Pogue marry them again.

Last January Mrs. Matthews assisted Mrs. Jessie Riley, a divorcee, 29 years old, to marry Harry Niedsker, an orphan youth of 18. Mrs. Riley had Mrs. Matthews appointed guardian for Niedsker, and she helped him get a license. Three weeks after the ceremony Niedsker and his bride separated, he declaring he was tired of married life. Mrs Matthews is a sister-in-law of "Bashful Dan" Matthews, who led his wife to the altar three times before he could summon courage to say the vows.

Sowell is a carpenter. Twomey is a foreman at the Jerseyville shoe factory, Grafford is employed in the factory and Matthews is janitor of the Methodist Church.

Others Are Indicted.

FRIEDMANN EAGER FOR OTHERS TO USE CURE

Physicians to Discuss Proposed Wide Distribution of His Tuberculosis Vaccine.

NEW YORK, March 26.—The advisability of distributing for general use by physicians the tuberculosis vaccine discovered by Dr. Friederich J. Friedmann was discussed today at a conference between the German specialist and a number of physicians, whose identity was not disclosed.

Under a proposed plan physicians from various parts of the country might be instructed in the Friedmann method of inoculating patients. It was declared that Dr. Friedmann expressed an eagerness to have others use his treatment so that a greater number of sufferers might be attended.

Philip Musica's Confession Reported.

NEW YORK, March 26.—A confession from Philip Musica, regarding the alleged swindling of banks in this country and abroad by the hair importing firm of A. Musica & Co. of this city, has been obtained, according to a telegram received here from New Orleans by Detective William J. Burns, whose agents arrested the Musicas in that city after their flight from New York.

Red Blood for Pale People?

A big supply of red-blood corpuscles is what helps to make any man or woman have a healthy, pink complexion and cherry red lips. Resort to paint and powder are totally unnecessary and besides that, are harmful. Three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets, if used regularly for several months, seem to create a greatly added number of millions to the red and white corpuscles of the blood, and not only improve the color, but add increased flesh to the thin and frail body. These tablets promote assimilation, absorption and digestion, and this splendid aid to nature's forces transforms the complexion and figure. They are prescribed by physicians, but being of a perfectly harmless character, self-administration is being followed by many, who obtain them direct from any well-stocked apothecary shop. The above product is manufactured by the Blackburn Products Co., Dayton, O.

CAR JUMPS TRACK, RUNS INTO STORE; THREE ARE HURT

One Passenger Taken to Hospital; Motorman Says Brakes Failed to Work on Grade.

Three persons were injured when a westbound Hamilton avenue car, over which Motorman Philip Bagermeister had lost control, jumped the track at Plymouth and Hodiamont avenues at 11:45 p. m. Tuesday and after snapping off a lamp post crashed into the front of the grocery store of David Emrich of 1211 Hodiamont avenue.

The persons injured were Claud Rader and S. V. Rader, both of Centralia, Mo., and the conductor, Charles H. Finke of 4735 Delmar boulevard. Rader and Chandler were standing on the rear platform. They were thrown off and struck the ground with such force that Rader was rendered unconscious and Chandler was stunned.

Rader was taken to the Missouri Baptist Hospital, where he regained consciousness. His knees and arms were cut and he had received a gash over the right eye. Chandler, severely bruised, was taken to his hotel. Finke's injuries were slight.

Brakes Did Not Work.

The brakes failed to work as the car was descending the hill on Plymouth avenue, according to the motorman. When the car struck the curve at Hodiamont avenue it left the rails. The plate-glass window of the Emrich store was smashed and some damage was done to the stock in the store.

The peril of strap-hanging was shown when a west-bound Maryland car crashed into a trailer of a Delmar car that had stopped at Vandeventer avenue and Olive street at 6:10 p. m. Tuesday. Miss Adele Greer of 5260 Maple avenue, who was most seriously injured, was in the Delmar motor car, ahead of the trailer, and if she had been seated would not have been hurt. But she was hanging to a strap and the shock of the collision threw her backward to the aisle floor and her back was hurt so badly that she had to be sent home in an ambulance, where she is under the care of Dr. A. C. Leggatt of 5006 McPherson avenue.

Due to Slippery Rails.

The collision was due to slippery rails, according to George Shirley, the motorman of the Maryland car, who says he could not stop his car as it sped down the incline to Vandeventer avenue.

REVISION LIKELY IN RULES OF PRACTICE IN ST. LOUIS COURTS

PLAN IS TO SAVE TIME

System Would Be Introduced in Circuit Courts in Order to Expedite Work.

A meeting under the auspices of the Bar Association has been called for Friday afternoon, April 4, at the Court House to consider a revision of procedure in the St. Louis Circuit Court.

The proposed change is designated to expedite business and relieve the present congested condition of the dockets of the nine civil divisions of court. A set of revised rules, which has been prepared by a committee of the Bar Association, consisting of Richard A. Jones, chairman; Frank H. Sullivan, former Judge George H. Williams and J. Lionberger Davis, acting with a committee of Circuit Judges, William T. Jones, Hugo Grimm and George C. Hitchcock, will be submitted to the meeting.

By revising three rules which now govern the practice in the local State courts it is believed by the joint committee that many delays in the law now experienced by litigants can be eliminated.

Room for Preliminaries.

The proposed change provides that Court Room No. 1 shall be set aside as a court in which preliminaries of litigation shall be determined. Each judge, according to the rules prepared, shall serve as presiding judge for six months, to sit in No. 1. All suits when filed shall be assigned to this division and it becomes the duty of the presiding judge to decide motions, demurrers and other questions of pleadings affecting the cases. He also shall hear all summary applications.

After the pleadings in a case have been prepared and the issues are made up ready for trial, the presiding judge shall assign such case to another division for a hearing on its merits.

Under the revision there shall be a call of the docket in No. 1 on Friday of each week for the purpose of assigning and setting cases for trial during the second week thereafter, or at such time as the presiding judge may direct. Counsel having cases on this docket must be present at the call thereof.

Such docket shall be prepared by the clerk, who, under the direction of the presiding judge, must place thereon a number of suits reasonably sufficient to provide at least a week's business for the divisions to which the work is to be assigned. Only cases ready for trial are to be on this docket and they shall be arranged in the order in which originally filed, the older cases first.

Would Avoid Conflicting Rulings.

Two or more cases involving similar questions of law or fact may, in the discretion of the presiding judge, be assigned to the same division, it is proposed. This, it is believed by the committee, would lessen the chance of conflicting opinions among judges of the same jurisdiction.

According to the proposed new rules, all cases pending in the civil divisions not tried during the week designated, shall be returned to No. 1 to be set for trial again. In the event it appears to the judge of any division that he can not, during the day on which set, begin the trial of a case, he shall inform the presiding judge, who may forthwith make reassignment thereof to another court.

It is provided that the new rules, if adopted, shall become effective in July. According to their terms, Judge Grimm, who now presides in Court No. 1, would be the first presiding judge.

Approved by Judges.

The committee of the Bar Association, which took the initiative in the matter, decided to recommend the revision after considerable investigation concerning the practice in courts of other jurisdictions, and after consultation with the committee of Circuit Judges.

A general meeting of members of the bar was called at the suggestion of the committee of Judges with the object of enabling all lawyers to consider the proposed amendments and the advisability of endeavoring to have them adopted by the Circuit Court.

One of the Bar Association Committee told a Post-Dispatch reporter Wednesday that the revision of practice as proposed is not a matter for legislation, but lies within the discretion of the Court. He said many lawyers are enthusiastically in favor of the proposition, and it is believed the change, if made, will result in doing away with many delays in justice.

As a time-saver, he said, the amendments would abolish the motion hour in eight divisions at nearly every session of court, when time is taken up in disposing of preliminaries.

Could Double Work.

It is believed, he said, that under the new plan the courts could dispose of twice as much business as at present and that cases would be tried within three days after return day, instead of a delay of three or four months before a setting is made.

It also, the committeeman said, would prove a convenience to lawyers and litigants who are now compelled to sit around court two or three days waiting to get into the trial of their cases. Jurors, too, he said, would spend less time in court. This would result in a saving to the State.

Public Record of Frank H. Gerhart, Progressive Candidate for Mayor

As Private Citizen He Has Given Much Time and Money in Ten Years in Working for the Free Bridge and for the Abolition of Grade Crossings.

FRANK H. GERHART.

He Opposed City Charter and Fought Bridge Bond Issues Because of Objection to Reber Approach—Has Worked Before Congress in City's Interest.

The Post-Dispatch today presents for the information of voters the record of Frank H. Gerhart, candidate of the Progressive party for Mayor of St. Louis:

Gerhart is a native of St. Louis. He is 53 years old, married, and lives at 4900 Lindell boulevard. He is a lawyer and real estate agent.

Gerhart never has held a public office, and this is his first appearance in the field of local politics as a candidate. Ten years ago he began taking an active interest in public and civic affairs. He became one of the earliest advocates of the free bridge.

In 1904 he was the author of a resolution adopted by the Real Estate Exchange advocating the issuance of bonds to build the bridge. He was appointed chairman of the Free Bridge Committee of the Exchange, and later also chairman of the Grade Crossings Committee. In his capacity as chairman of these committees he attended virtually every public hearing before the Municipal Assembly, Board of Public Improvements or the Mayor on these subjects. In 1906 he took an active part in the campaign for the bridge bond issue of $3,500,000, which was a part of an $11,000,000 bond issue for new hospitals, municipal buildings and sewer and street improvements. In that campaign he coined the slogan, "No Bridge, No Bonds," which was used effectively. He has spoken before many civic and imporvement associations for a free bridge and against grade crossings in the past six or seven years.

Has Given Money to Work.

In the matter of procuring legislation from Congress, especially an act granting St. Louis the power of eminent domain and thus giving the city authority to condemn land for bridge approaches or other purposes in Illinois, Gerhart took a leading part. He was also active in contesting the suit of Isaac H. Lionberger and others challenging the validity of the free bridge bonds. He has given his time and money in the promotion of his plans for free bridge and grade crossing work. Friends who are in his confidence say he has spent out of his private fortune in this work considerably more money than the four years' salary of the Mayor.

An instance of Gerhart's activity in free bridge matters is found in the fight to pass the Chouteau avenue site bill over the veto of former Mayor Rolla Wells. Nine votes were required to pass the bill. Eight members of the Council had pledged themselves to vote to pass the bill over the veto, three were against it, and one member had started on a hunting trip. Gerhart caught him at Union Station, and persuaded him to go to the Council and vote to pass the bill.

Andrew J. O'Reilly, former president of the Board of Public Improvements, advocated the building of a unit-plan bridge, with the west approach dropped to the surface at Fourth street. Gerhart led the fight against the O'Reilly plan and succeeded in getting through legislation for a double-decker bridge, with the west approach coming to the ground at Seventh street.

His Bills Knocked Out.

As chairman of a Real Estate Exchange committee, Gerhart took part in the movement to abolish grade crossings. His fight has always included the proposition that the railroads must pay all of the consequential damages and real estate owners and the city none.

He was the author of the Tower Grove grade crossing bills, which directed the Missouri Pacific and Frisco railroads to depress their tracks at Tower Grove avenue. He drew these bills and got them passed by the Municipal Assembly after President O'Reilly of the Board of Public Improvements had issued a declaration that he would not prepare or submit any bill directing the railroads to depress the tracks, and had ignored a resolution by the Municipal Assembly making such a demand upon him. O'Reilly's bills proposed that the city street should be depressed. They were defeated, and Gerhart's bills were passed. They recently were declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, on the ground that they had not originated with the Board of Public Improvements, and that they were unreasonable in their requirements of the railroads. The decision of the court in this case upheld the principle that St. Louis had the inherent police power to compel the railroads to depress their tracks.

The estimated cost of depressing the tracks according to the Gerhart ordinances was $1,500,000. The estimated cost of the O'Reilly plan of depressing the street instead of the railroad tracks was $500,000. The railroads favored the O'Reilly plan.

Gerhart furnished Edward C. Crow, special counsel for the Government, a great deal of valuable evidence in the actual prosecution of the Terminal Railroad Association for violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. This suit resulted in the Supreme Court holding that the Terminal Association was a combination in restraint of trade, and handing down a decree directing it to abolish the bridge arbitrary and to do other things to comply with the law.

In this suit Gerhart furnished the Government the names of many of its witnesses, the information which brought to light the fact that the railroads maintained the Coal Traffic Bureau, an agency through which coal rates were made and the arbitrary on coal maintained, and also furnished records which enabled the Government to get into the record the history of the financial organization of the association.

This case originally was tried before the four Judges of the United States Circuit Court, comprising the Circuit Court of Appeals. The four Judges, in their opinion, were divided equally. Two favored the dissolution of the Terminal, and two opposed. The Sherman anti-trust law made no provision in breaking a tie in such cases. This condition of affairs resulted in much delay in the final determination of the suit, but at length it was dismissed by the Court of Appeals and taken on appeal to the United States Supreme Court. Gerhart conceived the idea of having the Sherman anti-trust law amended to provide that where the court was divided equally a fifth Judge should be called into the case.

Worked Before Congress.

He had an amendment prepared, and went to Washington, paying personally the greater part of the expense of a committee from the Real Estate Exchange. He presented his amendment to the chairman of the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives, and obtained from him a pledge to incorporate the amendment in the bill. This was done, the amendment was passed, and has been useful in several other important cases tried since its enactment.

Gerhart disagreed with the administration in the matter of the East Side approach for the free bridge. The administration favored what is known as the Reber approach. Gerhart opposed it on the ground that the approach terminated between the lines of railroads belonging to the Terminal Railroad Associatin, and for the further reason that no new railroad could be built to the approach without obtaining an ordinance to cross streets and alleys in East St. Louis.

He advocated a northeast approach, which terminates beyond the limits of East St. Louis. Asserting that the Reber approach would not make the bridge really free, and carry out the mandate of the people as expressed when they authorized the bond issue of $3,500,000, he opposed the issuance of $2,750,000 of additional bonds to complete the bridge. He was one of the leaders of the fight against the bonds the three times they were submitted to a vote and failed of the two-thirds majority necessary to carry. He has announced that he will continue to be against additional bond issues until some approach is selected that will in his opinion prevent the bridge from being "bottled up between the lines of unfriendly railroads."

Gerhart clung to this belief even after the Supreme Court decision in the Government suit which was that the Terminal must permit any and all railroads to use all of its terminal facilities on equal terms.

No official estimate of the cost of the northeast or Gerhart approach has been made. Gerhart says it would cost from $75 to $100 a lineal foot. The administration holds that its cost would be prohibitive, probably running up to $4,000,000 or $5,000,000 and that an attempt to build it would involve St. Louis in long litigation with East St. Louis.

Opposed the City Charter.

Gerhart was one of the leaders in the fight against the proposed new city charter, submitted to the people in February, 1911. He opposed the charter on the ground that it concentrated too much power in the Mayor, gave the Board of Public Improvements too much discretionary power in the matter of assessing costs of public improvements, abolished the House of Delegates, and contained what he termed an unworkable provision for a recall. The recall provision required petitions for the recall of any public official must be signed by 25 per cent of the voters. A further ground of his objection was that the charter contained no provision for the initiative and referendum. The charter was defeated.

Gerhart holds that the State Public Service Commission law just enacted takes away from St. Louis the power to control grade crossings, and that it also places the city waterworks under control of the State Commission. Former Assistant Attorney-General John M. Atkinson, author of the bill, disagrees with this view, and declares that St. Louis, under the law, will retain control over grade crossings and its waterworks. William F. Woerner, former Associate City Counselor and author of the Revised Code of St. Louis of 1907, agrees with Gerhart. After Gerhart had expressed his views on this subject a committee was sent by the Municipal Assembly to Jefferson City to request the Legislature to amend the law to restore to St. Louis the powers which Gerhart said had been taken away from it. Atkinson told the committee that the city's powers were not abridged. The effect of the law upon St. Louis is still under discussion among lawyers.

Gerhart in 1909 supported the scheme of property owners designed to take the railroad tracks off of the Catlin tract and put them in Forest Park to enhance the value of the private property. The plan was gotten up by Julius Pitzman and as a bid for public support it carried a proposition to abolish the grade crossing at Union avenue and the park and the grade crossing at other points.

Three times the Post-Dispatch exposed and defeated the plan.

This plan was rejected by the Board of Public Improvements. Gerhart, at the time, was the owner of a piece of property at De Baliviere and Waterman avenues, within the district which would have been benefited by the removal of the railroad tracks.

Gerhart virtually has retired from business. He is wealthy and has large real estate investments in St. Louis.

ROGRESSIVES IN . O. P. STIRRED BY THE MOOSE CALL

ASHINGTON, March 26. — The ement to bring all Progressives in House into a compact third party nization has stirred up Republican independent circles of the House to nexpected degree. Up to last night iembers had notified Representative iam H. Hinebaugh of Illinois, the ve leader in the organization plan, they would attend the proposed erence, at which Representative or Murdock is to be made the Pro- ssive choice for Speaker.

e attitude of many of these Pro- ssive Republicans, denominated ar-Progressives" by Col. Roosevelt, not yet been determined.

Near-Progressives Undecided.

partial canvass of many of those o have been prominent in the ranks the insurgent Republican forces for last two Congresses, but who are officially members of the new Pro- ssive party, showed that the ma- ity of them had not decided wheth they would take part in the Pro- essive conference.

hile the Progressives, as represented by Hinebaugh, have applied direct to Democratic Leader Underwood for recognition as a separate party in the distribution of committee places, the Progressive Republicans are still dependent upon the regular Republican organization, of which Representative Mann of Illinois is the leader.

The date for the conference or "open caucus" of the Progressives, originally set for April 2, was changed to April 4. Representative Hinebaugh will go to New York within a few days for a conference with Col. Roosevelt, who is expected to send a personal message to the Progressive gathering.

Roosevelt for Murdock.

A portion of his recent letter to Hinebaugh, made public today, follows:

"My Dear Judge Hinebaugh: Good for you! I am more than pleased with what you have done. It is an admirable thing to run Victor Murdock as candidate for the speakership, and I hope that, as you have suggested to him, he will announce himself as willing to accept the nomination of the Progressives for this position.

"I think it would be a good thing for the Progressive party that our men should act together and should consult one another freely and, in addition, that they should keep in the closest touch with near-Progressives so as to act substantially on the same lines with the idea that they may ultimately join with us. We should go ahead with our own organization as a separate, distinct national party. Don't you think this is sound?"

CORSETS EXHIBITED AT WOMEN'S SHOW ARE ALL CURVES

Passing of the Hipless Garments Pronounced by Display at Exposition.

At the American Woman's Exposition in the Coliseum these days the most vividly visible object is the electrical lady. She is immaculate, but not immobile. She does not live, but "she moves, she seems to feel the thrill of life," as the poet said of the ship at her launching. At a little distance she looks like the Venus de Milo, beheaded, to be sure, and shorn utterly of even that small fragment of right arm which clings still to the shoulder of the immortal marble.

Like the Venus, the electrical lady has curves. There is no straight front compression of muscular mould. There is no pushing down of hips, no deforming contraction of waist area. The electrical lady is of natural form—almost; and yet she wears a corset!

Straight Front Must Go.

On each side of her is a lady similarly immaculate and likewise headless and armless. Each of these wears a corset, but that garment is so constructed as to eliminate the curves; it produces the hipless, straight-front model which fashion says, must go out.

Woman—American woman, St. Louis woman—is returning to the natural curves, and this new-style corset is to be an active agent in her coming back to nature, so we are told each afternoon and evening in the lecture hall of the Coliseum by Miss Eva M. Martin of Meadville, Pa. "We" mean women only. No man may enter that hall of sacred mysteries.

Miss Martin made her first address to the women of St. Louis Tuesday evening. She discussed corseting from the health side of the proposition. She used to be a physical director, and when Empress Fashion a little while ago promulgated her ukase as to the return to nature, Miss Martin took up the work of evangelism in that direction.

Curves-Come-Back Corset.

Wednesday afternoon, for the first time, Miss Martin arranged to give demonstrations of the curves-come-back corset, using living models, St. Louis young women.

But lest the reader's curiosity as to the livingness of that electrical lady shown to men and women alike in the big exhibit hall of the Coliseum be too strong to resist, let us go back to that booth and explain why she moves.

A mysterious mechanism is concealed beneath the snow-white silken exterior of the lady. There is some sort of spring contrivance which permits her, operated by electricity, to sway back and forth, twist herself with becoming gracefulness, bend forward, backward, sidewise—in short, to demonstrate to the onlooker the absolute flexibility of her charming self because, as again we are told, the shape of the corset and the boning thereof conduce to the superlative degree of the flexible.

Electrical Lady Graceful.

It is interesting, indeed, to stand at a respectful distance and witness the graceful movements of this electrical lady. It is pleasing to survey her large liberality of curves, to contrast them with the motionless ladies on each side, who are thrust into view as horrible examples of the straight front, now taboo.

Miss Martin will tell the women of St. Louis—women only, remember—every day until the exposition closes, April 5, how by dressing sensibly and naturally they may conserve their beauty or recover it if by nonsensical and unnatural dressing they may have lost it in part.

Mme. Roslyn, who comes from New York, will alternate with Miss Martin in lecturing to the local women. The madame has been observing St. Louis women since she arrived, and she likes them except as to their gait and their carriage. Before she entered the lecture hall for women only she made some remarks which a man overheard, and they were to the effect that in the opinion of Mme. Roslyn the women of St. Louis walk atrociously.

"St. Louis Women Ungraceful."

"They put their heels down first," said the madame, "and that spoils their carriage. It jars the spine, causing headaches and eye troubles. They should walk as soldiers do, stepping on the ball of the foot first, which acts toward strengthening the arch of the instep.

"St. Louis women, many of them, have broken arches, because they hit the pavement first with their heels. They are noted for their ungraceful carriage.

"Ninety-nine in a hundred of St. Louis women have run-down shoe heels, because of the way they walk."

Mme. Roslyn, it is to be assumed, will explain to women only in the lecture hall just why and how she came to lodge this indictment against the women of St. Louis.

The American Woman's Exposition is run by men for women. It is a traveling show, to cover a dozen of the principal cities. It started in Cleveland. St. Louis has the honor of being its second stand. There are household exhibits from various places, many of them from St. Louis.

Washers of All Sorts.

Mere man, strolling between the big booths, is apt to get a first impression that the chief duty of woman is to see that the family washing is done right. This appears to be the electrical age in laundering. There are half a dozen or more washing machines of different makes, operated by electricity.

In one exhibit is a wax woman seated in a cushioned rocker operating as she rocks back and forth a mechanical tub which is doing the family wash. Beside her stands the old-fashioned washerwoman laboriously scrubbing clothes on an old-fashioned washboard. The lady in the rocker might be reading "Three Weeks" or Laura Jean Libby's latest, if she cared to, so easy appears her laundry labor.

Demonstrations of the several washing machines are given daily, with real clothes, really dirty, as the raw material. The garments go in grimy and come out clean.

The second impression is that dust-killing must be woman's next most important function. The array of vacuum cleaners, hand-operated, is almost in the amazing class. Young men and young women, dressed up for company, operate these cleaners on carpets specially dust-sprinkled.

Electric cooking is another modern achievement that strikes the visitor as having arrived by several routes. There are electric ranges, electric broilers, electric toasters, electric friers and electric washers.

Rain interfered with the attendance at the first two days of the exposition. The management promises plenty of amusement and edification, served to the music of a big band.

Since smoking tobacco first became a staple commodity, men have been putting up their best grades in a tin box—just to make it look different. They charged you for that tin box—and in order to get the best tobacco you had to buy that tin box.

I came along and said—"Folks can't smoke tin, and they don't want to pay for tin—BUT, they want the best tobacco."

So I really took the very best tobacco, did away with the tin box, and used an economical, serviceable cloth pouch instead for

Start Your Baby With Sound Health

Regulating the Bowels From Childhood on Forestalls Future Serious Diseases

We cannot all start life with the advantages of money, but every child born is entitled to the heritage of good health. Through unfortunate ignorance or carlessness in the feeding of a baby its tiny stomach may become deranged, the disorder spreads to the bowels and before the mother realizes it the two chief organs on which the infant's comfort and health depend are causing it great suffering. If the condition is allowed to continue grave ailments often result.

There is, however, no occasion for alarm, and the sensible thing to do—but it should be done instantly—is to give the baby a small dose of a mild laxative-tonic. In the opinion of a great many people, among them such well-known persons as the parents of Dixie Dudley, Magnolia, Ark., the proper remedy is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Mrs. Earl Dudley writes: Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the best medicine I ever used. It cured my baby of flatulency colic when the doctors failed; it cured my husband of constipation. My home shall never be without Syrup Pepsin." It is a pleasant-tasting laxative, which every person likes. It is mild, non-griping, and contains that most excellent of all digestants, pepsin.

This remedy is especially intended for infants, children, women, old people and all others to whom harsh cathartics, salt waters, pills, etc., are distressing. In fact, in the common disorders of life, such as constipation, liver trouble, indigestion, biliousness, headaches, and the various disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels nothing is more suitable than this mild, laxative-tonic, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

DIXIE ASKEW DUDLEY

Two generations of people are using it today, and thousands of families keep it constantly in the house, for every member of the family can use it. It can be obtained of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, the latter being the size bought by families who already know its value. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

BARKER SAYS HE WILL REDUCE FIRE INSURANCE RATES

Attorney-General to Take Immediate Steps If Governor Signs the Orr Bill.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 26.—That he will take immediate steps to bring about a reduction of fire insurance rates if Gov. Major signs the Orr bill repealing the Oliver rating law was the assertion this morning of Attorney-General John T. Barker.

He has been making some investigations since he took office and found that in many quarters in the State and upon a large number of risks the rates have been trebled. This condition will speedily be remedied by ouster proceedings if the Orr bill meets th Governor's approval, he says.

"I can and will compel the fire insurance companies to give the people fair rates if the companies are restored to the competitive basis as the Orr bill provides," Said Barker.

"Unless the fire companies of Missouri immediately restore competition and conduct their business fairly to the people I shall institute quo warranto proceedings to oust them from the State or to have them heavily fined.

"When the Orr bill is signed by the Governor the provisions of the anti-trust laws are again applicable to them and I will be empowered t prosecute them for conspiring together to exact exorbitant rates from the people."

The best evidence, he said, of the necessity for the repeal of the Oliver rating law was the presence in Jefferson City during the Legislature of a powerful insurance lobby trying to defeat the Orr bill.

Commends Post-Dispatch Stand.

"I was against the Oliver bill when it was introduced in the last Legislature and I voted against it," he said. "I thought then and think now it wasn't a law in the interest of the people, but the interest of the big agents and the companies. The widespread dissatisfaction with the law, due to the heavy increase in rates, justified my action in opposing it and renders commendable the energetic fight of the Post-Dispatch to bring about its repeal.

"Why, up in Macon, my home town, rates upon many risks have been trebled under the Oliver law, and this condition, I am informed, obtains throughout the State.

"It has been contended that I will be unable to make an ouster against the companies stick for the reason that they are charging the present high rates by virtue of the Oliver law. This is a mistaken idea. The Supreme Court has held repeatedly that when corporations conspire together even to do a thing sanctioned by law it constitutes a violation of the anti-trust act. Besides, the rates which companies are charging are illegal, for the reason that the insurance superintendent of Missouri, under the Oliver law, would not approve them, but expressly told the companies not to attempt to put them into effect.

"I do not fear but that I can make an ouster suit stick against them, and I will bring it if this Orr bill is signed and the fire insurance companies do not immediately restore full and free competition in this State."

The Attorney-General gave expression to his views of the Oliver law while the Orr bill was pending in the Legislature. He declared the Orr bill should pass, for the reason that the Oliver law made insurance business a monopoly when it is not essentially a monopoly.

"Under this Oliver law," he said, "the State undertakes not only to guarantee every company a profit, but goes further and provides that any agent charging less than the rate approved by the insurance superintendent may be arrested and punished.

People Have No Remedy.

"Another thing," this Oliver law lodges too much power in the hands of an insurance superintendent. The companies are given their recourse in the courts if the superintendent makes an unreasonable reduction in the rates, but the people have no remedy at all if the insurance superintendent approves a rate that is exorbitantly high."

The only protest so far on file against the Orr bill, which is awaiting the Governor's approval or veto, was that filed by Senator Whitledge, Republican Senator from St. Marys. Gov. Major says he has received no notice from any person wanting to be heard against the bill or otherwise and that he has set no day for a hearing upon it, and will not until a hearing is asked for. The general belief is that he will sign the bill.

EVERY DRUGGIST SELLS RESINOL

That Soothing, Healing Ointment.

Wherever drugs are sold you can be just as sure of finding Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap as court plaster or a tooth brush. So if you are suffering from eczema, pimples or other distressing skin trouble the nearest drug store has Resinol waiting for you. This is because doctors have prescribed Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap so regularly for the last eighteen years that every druggist, large or small, knows he must keep them in stock.

Suffered With Eczema From Boyhood.

Mr. Charles J. Stobel, 710 National Bank Bldg., Toledo, O., knows what Resinol will do. He writes: "I have completely cured my eczema. I suffered with it ever since I was a boy, and I am now 47 years old. My arms and face would break out, and I was tortured with itching, especially in the spring, fall and winter. On my cheeks my skin would turn red, itch and crack, and more so on my wrists. They would split open and bleed.

"I was in a hospital one day to see a friend who had skin disease and I found they had cured him with Resinol Ointment and Dr. ——, one of the best in Chicago, recommended it for my eczema. I used it with Resinol Soap and to my surprise they have completely cured me. My skin is clear."—ADV.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASE HOSPITAL BILL PASSED

Council Acts on Measure Opposed by Persons Living in Vicinity of the Site.

The bill establishing a hospital for the treatment of contagious diseases on ground owned by the city near the female hospital on Arsenal street was passed by the City Council Tuesday afternoon. It passed the House of Delegates last week.

The bill was opposed by persons residing in the vicinity of the site of the proposed hospital, who complained that they feared that contagion would spread throughout the neighborhood. The bill, which was introduced at the instance of the Board of Hospital Commissioners, was opposed by only two members of the Council, Haller and Leahy.

DELMAR AV. CROSSING BILL PASSES COUNCIL

Cost to Wabash Estimated at $120,000; City to Pay Consequential Damages.

The City Council Tuesday afternoon by a vote of 8 to 4 passed the bill abolishing the grade crossing of the Wabash tracks at Delmar boulevard. The bill provides for a viaduct to be built by the Wabash railroad at a cost of $120,000 and the assumption of the consequential damages by the city.

The only members voting against the bill were Fletcher, Haller, Leahy and Randall, all of whom explained they did so because they were opposed to the payment of consequential damages by the city.

The bill had its first reading in the House of Delegates Tuesday night.

CAR SEAT BILL IS KILLED, INITIATIVE ELECTION PLANNED

THREATS MADE IN LETTERS

Annonymous Notes Say Evidence of Alleged Boodling Will Be Submitted.

These developments followed the defeat of the seat-for-each-passenger bill in the City Council Tuesday afternoon:

Plans were announced for the submission of the bill to a vote at a special election under the initiative and referendum.

Anonymous letters were received by Councilman Fletcher and other Councilmen threatening that if the bill was defeated Circuit Attorney Harvey would be supplied with evidence of alleged boodling by certain members of the Council.

Roger Baldwin told a Post-Dispatch reporter that the Central Council of Civic Organizations had decided that if the City Council killed the bill, the organization would immediately begin the circulation of petitions for its submission. To bring the bill to a vote at a special election, petitions containing signatures equal to 25 per cent of the vote cast for Mayor at the last election must be filed with the Board of Election Commissioners. This would mean the collection of approximately 40,000 signatures.

$3000 Payment Is Chargtd.

The letter which Fletcher exhibited to members of the Council demanded that the men in that body, which contains no Democrats, pass the bill. A failure to do so, the letter stated, would seriously endanger Republican success at the municipal election. This was followed with a statement that if the bill was not passed the writer would convey to the Circuit Attorney evidence that $3000 had been paid by a real estate company in connection with the vacation of an alley in a downtown block. Certain councilmen, whose names were not mentioned, were declared in the letter to have received the money.

Fletcher said that other members of the Council received the same letter. None others were exhibited, however.

The Municipal Assembly, a year ago, vacated an alley to enable the Syndicate Trust and Century buildings to be connected. The city received $7500 compensation for the vacation.

At the time the Railway Exchange Building was begun the vacation of an alley in the block was discussed and the question was raised whether it was a private or a public alley. Councilmen Protzmann, Espenschied and Haller, appointed to investigate, reported it was a private alley.

One Tried to Get Contract.

One member of the Council is said to have told others that at that time he asked for a small contract in connection with the erection of the building, but was told that the work already had been let to a Chicago firm, and that he failed to get any part of it.

Submission by Initiative.

Secretary Baldwin of the civic organization told a Post-Dispatch reporter that the submission of the S.-F.-E.-P. bill under the initiative had been considered by the organization and that a definite agreement had been reached that if the Council killed the bill that work of circulating petitions would be immediately begun.

"We cansider the defeat of this bill as extremely unfortunate," Baldwin said. "We had been watching the proceedings of the Council and I cannot say that I was greatly surprised at the defeat. I can assure the public that it will be given an opportunity to vote for this street car relief which the Council has refused to give them."

To present the bill at a special election, petitions containing about 40,000 signatures must be presented to the Board of Election Commissioners. Baldwin said that in view of the universal demand for the street car legislation he believed there was no doubt that the signatures could be easily obtained.

Killed Without Debate.

The bill was killed Tuesday without debate. The friends of the measure attempted to have adopted an amendment giving the United Railways only eight months to provide the additional equipment instead of 16 months, as the House of Delegates had provided. This was defeated. The friends of the bill joined with its opponents in killing an amendment to give the company 24 months, and then the opponents of the measure lined up solidly against the bill, killing it by a vote of 8 to 5.

The bill, as it went to a vote, required the United Railways to put in service 330 additional cars within 16 months, and gave the Public Service Commission regulatory power over the service. The only member who had at other meetings voted against the bill who favored it Tuesday was Councilman Davis.

Those voting for the bill were:

Caulfield,
Haller,
Gundlach,
Davis,
Randall.

Against it were:

Espenschied,
Fletcher,
Lehmberg,
Protzmann,
Evers,
Leahy,
Paule,
Rower.

Fletcher's Attitude.

Fletcher, while opposing the bill when it first was introduced, wavered during the past week and led friends of the measure to believe he would vote for it. He told a Post-Dispatch reporter a week ago that he expected to vote for the bill, giving as his reason that he did not care to be included among those opposed to the measure in view of criticisms he had heard of the influences at work against it.

Espenschied, who was understood at a meeting of the Council last Wednesday to declare that he was ready to vote for the bill if it gave the company 16 months in which to provide the additional cars, denied Tuesday that he had made the statement, when he was questioned by a Post-Dispatch reporter as to the reason for his change.

Councilmen Lehmberg, Evers, Rower and Protzmann were the only members who voted against both the 24-months amendment and against the bill. The 24-months amendment had been recommended by the Committee of the Whole. These members have voted against every feature of the bill, and Lehmberg attempted to prevent its consideration at Tuesday's meeting.

When the bill was called up for action, Rower suggested that it be deferred until later in the meeting, as Councilman Leahy, one of the opponents of the measure, was engaged in a committee room. Lehmberg seconded the motion, which was carried. When Councilman Haller sought to bring up the bill on Leahy's return to the chamber, Lehmberg protested that action on it had been deferred until the next meeting, and that it could not be taken up without reconsidering the vote on the Rower motion. He was promptly overruled by President Gundlach.

Gundlach and Haller expressed disappointment over the result of their long fight for the bill.

"There is absolutely no excuse for this action," Haller said. "George W. Baumhoff, who is thoroughly informed on street car matters, told us through the Post-Dispatch that the company has hundreds of cars lying idle in its sheds. This statement has not been disputed by the company. These cars could be put in service immediately, and the company would not have to buy cars.

"I cannot see how any member could vote against this bill after reading Baumhoff's statement."

Reintroduced in House.

Delegate Hale reintroduced the bill in the House of Delegates Tuesday night, expressing the wish that special meetings could be held in time to send the bill back to the Council in time for action before final adjournment. Hale attempted to get an adjournment until Wednesday, but his proposal was voted down amid much confusion. The final decision was reached to meet Thursday afternoon, when the bill will have its second reading.

The House, however, refused to concur in the Council's resolution for a sine die adjournment March 31. There is a legal question of the right of the Assembly to meet after that date. If it should be decided that the members hold their seats until their successors qualify there would be time for further action by the Council on the bill.

MAYOR KREISMANN SAYS NEW YORK IS MODEL CITY

Herald Prints Interview With Him Saying It Is "An Example for the Entire Country."

Frederick H. Kreismann, Mayor of St. Louis, has added his word of praise for New York City to a collection of interviews obtained and published by the New York Herald as part of a "Boost, Don't Knock" campaign.

The Herald's announced purpose was to silence villifiers and traducers who, while living in New York, say unkind things about their city.

In his interview, published in the Herald Sunday, Mayor Kreismann said:

"New York, with its large mixtures of foreign races, has had a serious problem and the way in which the city has routed out the bad element and restored law and order is an example for the entire country and something for which the whole country should praise New York. The faults of the few should not be laid against the many, and New York City today, I think, is one of the best governed cities in the country."

ILLINOIS PICKS AS SENATORS, LEWIS AND L. Y. SHERMAN

PROGRESSIVES LEFT OUT BY COMPROMISE

Col. Lewis, Who Gets the Long Term of Six Years, Has Served in Congress and Is Politician of National Reputation.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 26.—Col. James Hamilton Lewis, Democrat, was today elected to the long term of United States senatorship through a combination of Democrats and Republicans, breaking a deadlock which has existed since Feb. 11, when the two Houses met and balloted separately for Senator.

Former Judge Lawrence Y. Sherman, a Republican, was chosen for the short term senatorship, under the terms of the same compromise. Sherman will fill out the unexpired term of William Lorimer, who was ousted by the U. S. Senate.

The result was achieved after several conferences had been held, and various propositions made. Gov. Dunne was the leader in the efforts for a compromise, and he was the man who brought the warring forces together.

The agreement left out in the cold the Progressives, who held the balance of power, and who, on the explicit advice of Col. Roosevelt, had rejected all overtures for a compromise.

How the Vote Stood.

The vote for the long term resulted as follows:

Senate—Lewis, Democrat, 45; Funk, Progressive, 2; absent, 2; present and not voting, 1.

House—Lewis, 119; Sherman, 9; Funk, 20; Berlyn, Socialist, 4.

This gave 164 votes to Lewis, and he was declared elected Senator for the long term for six years, beginning March 4, amid great cheers.

Agreement Is Explained.

After the roll call of Senate and House had been completed Rep. Tice of Menard County, stated that if he held in his hands the signatures of 70 Democrats and 60 Republicans to an agreement to vote for Col. Lewis, the choice of the Democratic primary for the long term and Judge Sherman, the choice of the Republicans at the primary for the short term. He said he thought it best to give publicity to this before proceeding to vote.

Then Rep. Tice moved that the House take a recess for ten minutes in order that the Republican members might hold a caucus. The motion carried and the Republicans of the Senate and House went to the Appropriations Committee room to hear the report of the Joint Steering Committee regarding the Lewis-Sherman agreement.

The Joint Republican Steering Committee's vote by which it was decided to go into the combine with the Democrats to elect Lewis for the long term and Sherman for the short term was as follows:

For the proposition—Senators Hurburgh, Ettelson and Magill, Representatives Provine and Tice.

Against—Senators Hay and Barr, Representative Shanahan.

Caucus Sustains Committee.

The Republican caucus, after hearing the recommendations, voted to abide by the recommendation of the Steering Committee, and the members went back into the House, which again was called to order, in the joint session.

Senator Piercy of Mount Vernon, Democrat, spoke in favor of the Lewis-Sherman combine. Senator German of Cook County, also a Democrat, denounced the deal, and declared that Gov. Dunne was responsible for its being carried through. He declared that it was an outrage to elect to the United States Senate a man who was opposed to what the Democratic party stood for, who was a reactionary, and who had voted for the Allen bill.

Senator Clark, Republican, of Cook County, in explaining his vote for Lewis, blamed the Progressives for the election of Lewis, because they had turned down the offer of the Republicans to elect Sherman to the long term and Funk to the short term.

Careers of the Two New U. S. Senators From Illinois.

Col. James Hamilton Lewis is one of the most spectacular men in Illinois politics, his peculiarities in dress and manner having made for him a national reputation. He was born in Danville, Va., in 1867, and educated at Hoffman College University of Virginia. He studied law at Savannah, Ga., and was admitted to the bar in 1886. Two years later he went to Seattle, Wash., was elected to the Territorial Senate and in 1892 was a candidate for Governor. He was a member at large of the Fifty-fifth Congress from Washington and a caucus nominee for United States Senator. In 1902 Lewis came to Chicago and served as corporation counsel under Gov. Dunne, then the Mayor. He was a candidate for Governor of Illinois in 1908.

Lawrence Y. Sherman was born in Miami County, O., Nov. 9, 1859. At the age of 11 he moved with his parents to Illinois. He attended the McKendree College, where Gov. JAMES LYNCH GETS LIMIT, TEN YEARS, FOR AUTO ROBBERY

Jury Finds Him Guilty of Being One of Four Men Who Held Up Thomas O'Meara.

A jury in Judge Kinsey's Court Wednesday afternoon found James Lynch guilty of being one of the four auto bandits who on Oct. 10 last held up and robbed Thomas O'Meara, a saloonkeeper, at 2040 Randolph street, of over $1000. His punishment was assessed at 10 years' imprisonment in the penitentiary, the maximum for first degree robbery. He offered an unsupported alibi, testifying he was in bed at the time of the robbery.

O'Meara could not positively identify Lynch as one of the robbers, but John Jacobson, a boxmaker, who chased the robbers, said he was absolutely certain Lynch was the man who aimed a revolver at him and threatened to "burn him up" if he did not retreat.

In his address to the jury Circuit Attorney Harvey, using the language of the witness, asked the jury to "burn" Lynch with a maximum sentence to let him know that St. Louis is too small for auto robbers.

Lynch said he was in bed at the time of the robbery. He was defended by Congressman William L. Igoe and he pleaded he was a victim of mistaken identity.

Ray Stevenson was placed on the stand as a State's witness, but he declined to testify on the ground that he might incriminate himself. He is charged with being the chauffeur who drove the hold-up machine.

GIRL AND A YOUNG MAN HELD ON BAD CHECK COMPLAINT

Police Say Merchants Declared Money and Goods Were Obtained From Them.

Miss Lee Hastings, 19 years old, a saleswoman, and Chester L. Powell, 21 years old, a clerk, were arrested Wednesday, on complaint of merchants, who told the police the young woman and young man had been passing worthless checks.

Powell has been boarding at the home of Miss Hastings' mother at 1910A North Grand avenue for several months.

Two checks for $15 and one for $20 were drawn on the Bank of Commerce and Trust Co. of Memphis, payable to Lee Hastings and signed Lee Horgrave, say the police.

Money and goods were obtained from William A. Damask, a grocer at 1920 North Grand avenue; Bernard Huger, a druggist at 1926 North Grand avenue, and Henry Kirchoff, a jeweler at 1923 North Grand avenue, and a $20 check, drawn on the Farmers' and Traders' Bank of Owensboro, Ky., was passed at a downtown department store, the police say.

When the checks came back marked "no account," the merchants notified the police.

Powell told the police he had instructed a brother-in-law to sell a farm which he owned at New Madrid, Mo., and to deposit the money in the Memphis and Owensboro banks. He thought this had been done, he said, and believed that he had money on deposit to meet the checks.

Famous & Barr Welfare Association.

The employes of Famous & Barr Co., Washington avenue and Sixth street, held an informal dance at Trimp's Hall Tuesday night. Several vaudeville sketches from local theaters were staged between dances.

The affair proved a big success, and was very well attended, as the members knew that this would be the last dance of the season to be given by the Welfare Association.

SLAYS HUSBAND WHO HAD MET HER TO BE RECONCILED

SHE SHOT FROM BEHIND

Woman Says She Meant to Kill Herself Too, but That Her Nerve Failed Her.

While a reconciliation supper was being cooked in the next room to celebrate the settlement of their domestic troubles, Mrs. Emily Roberts, 45 years old, shot and mortally wounded her husband, William P. Roberts, Sr., 50 years, at the home of their son, William P. Roberts Jr., at 2403 North Ninth street, Tuesday night.

Roberts died while being taken to the dispensary. Mrs. Roberts, a prisoner at the city hospital, said that her original intention was to kill her husband and herself, but that after shooting him she was so unnerved that she could not carry out her purpose to take her own life.

Separated Two Weeks Ago.

Before their separation two weeks ago, Mr. and Mrs. Roberts lived at 2419 North Twelfth street. When they decided to live apart Mrs. Roberts went to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Brinkman at 4131 North Newstead avenue and he went to board at 2000 North Ninth street.

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Roberts visited her husband at the plant of the Nixdorf & Klein Chain Co., 900 Howard street, where he was engineer.

According to her statement after the shooting there was a reconciliation and they agreed to meet at their son's house and eat supper together.

Shortly after 6 p. m. the son, William P. Roberts Jr., 25 years old, ran into the North Market Street Police Station.

Too Overcome to Talk.

"Mother has killed father," he said. He was so overcome by excitement that he could give no further details.

Lieutenant McNamara and four policemen went home with Roberts. In the middle room of the third floor flat they found William P. Roberts Sr. unconscious in a rocking chair. A bullet had entered at the back of his head and emerged at the left eye. Mrs. Roberts and her daughter-in-law were in the kitchen.

"I did it," said the older woman. "He drove me to it. We had been married 28 years and then he couldn't trust me."

William P. Roberts Jr. told the police that he and his wife witnessed the shooting, but that his mother acted so quickly that they could not interfere.

All Were Happy, Son Said.

"Father and mother had come home reconciled and we were cooking supper," he said. "We were all happy. It was going to be a family reunion. My wife was at the stove. I was in a corner of the kitchen wheeling our month-old baby back and forth in a go-cart.

"Father began telling mother about young women he had known and with whom he had been friendly. They were much younger and prettier women than she, he told her. He continued to talk this way, with a sort of mischievous smile.

Woman in a Frenzy.

"Mother suddenly arose from her chair, put her hands to her head and cried, 'My God, how much longer do I have to stand this?' She pushed past father's rocker and went into the middle room and then into the parlor. Father was still smiling.

"Mother came back from the parlor and stepped behind father. I saw the light reflected from something bright in her hand. I thought at first that it was her handbag and that she intended to go away. Before either my wife or I realized what she was about she pointed a revolver at the top of father's head and only about three inches from it and fired while he sat there smiling.

"After the shot was fired father, who, I believe was then already dead, still had that smile on his face."

Since Mrs. Roberts was taken to the hospital she has been hysterical. She has paid no attention to questions and has uttered no words except ejaculations.

URGES DEPORTATION OF MILITANT SUFFRAGISTS

Lord Cecil Suggests Putting Them on Distant Island Like War Prisoners.

LONDON, March 26.—Lord Robert Cecil, M. P., and son of the late Lord Salisbury, in a letter to the newspapers, advocates the deportation of suffragettes convicted of militancy.

Forcible feeding, he argues, is futile, so the courts should be empowered to deport the women to some distant island, where they could be left at large. Food and lodgings would be offered to them, but no compulsion put upon them to accept.

ADRIANOPLE FALLS, COMMANDER OF TURKS KILLS SELF

Bulgarians Overcome Desperate Resistance, and the Old Capital Is Burning.

FORTS TAKEN BY STORM

General Assault by Balkan Troops Follows Capture of Chief Stronghold.

MUSTAPHA, Pasha, March 26.—The fortress of Adrianople was taken by storm by the Bulgarians this morning, after fighting of the most terrible character since Monday. Flames are devastating the city.

LONDON, March 26.—Shukri Pasha, the Turkish Commanderin-Chief of Adrianople, killed himself after the capture of the city, according to a news agency dispatch from Sofia.

BERLIN, March 26.—The fall of Adrianople is announced definitely by the Sofia correspondent of the Presse Centrale. The Bulgarian Schipka Regiment was the first to enter the city. All the Turkish military depots have been blown up.

By Associated Press.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, March 26.—It was announced by a trustworthy private source this morning that the Bulgarian cavalry has succeeded in entering the besieged Turkish fortress of Adrianople.

After a heavy bombardment the Bulgarians made a general assault on the fortress.

The works to the east were carried by storm, the Bulgarian infantry driving out the Ottoman defenders at the point of the bayonet.

A large number of prisoners and siege guns were captured by the Bulgarians.

At an early hour this morning fires were raging in various sections of the beleaguered city. The maddened population whose nerves had been shattered by the almost incessant bombardment for a period of over five months was fleeing about the streets from one point to another, not knowing where to find shelter.

The great artillery arsenal in the city was burning and the barracks lying between the hospital and the northern forts were in flames.

The Bulgarians in strong force gradually advanced their lines.

By short rushes the infantrymen approached near enough to prepare for the final dash.

Way Clear for Assault.

The Bulgarian infantry had reached within 300 yards of the main forts at 5 o'clock last evening. They entrenched themselves there, while ammunition and provisions were brought up from the rear and preparations were made for the final assault.

The entire line of fortresses defending the eastern side of the city was captured by the Bulgarians after a most spectacular assault at the point of the bayonet by long lines of infantry, which were strengthened rapidly by the second or reserve lines.

The eastern forts soon fell in their hands and Bulgarian batteries were immediately placed in position to concentrate their fire on the other works. The way was thus cleared for a direct assault on the city itself.

TEAMSTER'S WIFE, SUDDENLY RICH, TO AID OLD FRIENDS

Mrs. Mina Roeth Declares Acquisition of $18,000 Will Not Change Her Habits.

WILL GET $11,000 MORE

She Has Worked as Washerwoman and Seamstress to Help Husband Care for Family.

Mrs. Mina Roeth of 1735 Dolman street, wife of Henry A. Roeth, a teamster, who, by a decision handed down by Probate Judge Holtcamp, Tuesday, is entitled to $18,000 on deposit in bank which belonged to her father, Christian F. Reimler, says the acquisition of her new wealth will not change the industrious habits of her lifetime.

Mrs. Roeth is 55 years of age. She has four children, the oldest son being 23 years of age. She has worked as a washerwoman and seamstress to add to the family income.

Mrs. Roeth's father, who died Dec. 31, lived at 1701 Market street. He inherited in the last year of his life $52,000 from his brother, F. O. Reimler, a New York stock broker.

Gift From Her Father.

The $18,000 awarded to Mrs. Roeth was a gift by her father to her when he deposited the money jointly in his own and daughter's name and gave her the certificates of deposit, shortly before he died. The remaining $34,000 of the estate will be equally divided between Mrs. Roeth and a niece and nephew.

Ludwig Reimler, who was named executor in his brother's will, had filed a motion in the Probate Court to compel the listing of the $18,000 worth of bank certificates of deposit as assets of the estate. The Judge ruled against this.

Lots of New Friends.

"I have worked hard all my life," Mrs. Roeth told a Post-Dispatch reporter, "and, while this money has come to me as an inheritance, I feel as if I had actually earned it. I was born and reared in St. Louis, have been married 25 years, and have reared a family of four, yet, since the news of my inheritance has become public, I have had more greet me as a friend than in the whole 50 years before I obtained it. I don't want that kind of friends—birds of only good weather, I call them—and will try to help and be good to the people who were kind to me when I worked hard.

"I intend to live much in the same way as my husband and I have lived for the past 25 years, except that I will be able to do more for my children and be of greater assistance to my husband, who has been unable to work much during the past two years on account of injuries."

TRUNK FOUND, GIRL GONE

While officers are seeking Miss Aleutha Brown, police of Magnolia Avenue Station are holding her trunk and clothes for her. The trunk had been delivered to 3552 Halliday avenue by an expressman, but the people living there knew no such person as Aleutha Brown, and turned the trunk over to the police.

Charles Brown of 2705 Fall avenue informed detectives his sister, Aleutha, disappeared from his home March 11 and he has not since heard of her. The police could not learn how she came to send her trunk to the Halliday avenue address. Miss Brown is a brunette, 23 years old, 5 feet 8 inches tall.

SWIMS, WADES AND WALKS 10 MILES TO SERVE AS JUROR

Mascoutah Man, Served With Mandate, Thought It Matter of Life and Death.

Rudolph Karch of Mascoutah looks upon a summons to jury service as a mandate that must be obeyed. He swam and waded through flood waters and trudged over miles of muddy country roads to reach Belleville Tuesday and report to the Court.

Karch had been summoned as a juror in the County Court and was to appear in court at 9 a. m. Because of floods no trains were running on the Louisville & Nashville railroad. Karch started for Belleville on horseback.

Before he had gone far he found the road under water. He tried to force his horse through the water, but it shied and threw him into the water. His foot caught in the stirrup and for a moment he was in danger of drowning, but he disengaged it and swam out. His horse ran away.

After changing his clothes, Karch started to walk to Belleville, preferring not to take any more chances with a skittish saddle-horse.

Across Silver Creek bottom a new road was built during the past summer at a cost of $8000, which was a foot above all previous high-water marks, but Karch found it three feet under water. He waded through water four miles across the valley. Reaching higher ground, he trudged on the Belleville, arriving there at 3 p. m.

Water-soaked and muddy and bedraggled, he went into the County Court and apologized to Judge Hay for his tardiness. Judge Hay heard his story, and looked him over, and then excused him from service. Karch is waiting in Belleville for a train to take him back to Mascoutah.

Mascoutah is 10 miles from Belleville. For four miles the road is under water, through which Karch waded. Parts of the new road, built on a fill, have been washed out since Karch passed over the road.

WILSON AND DAUGHTER VISIT SPEAKER AT NIGHT

WASHINGTON, March 26.—President Wilson and his daughter, Jessie, paid Speaker Clark an unexpected visit at the Capitol last night.

Passing the west wing of the Capitol on his usual evening automobile drive, the President decided to go in and have a look around. A doorkeeper told him the building was closed, but a word from the secret service man opened the doors.

A messenger recognized the President and carried the news to the Speaker, who with a hearty greeting, acted as guide.

Former Judge Henderson Asks Damages for Auto Accident.

A suite for $385.90 against Drummond Jones, a leader in the Racquet Club and tennis player of national repute, was filed Tuesday in the Circuit Court by former Probate Judge W. W. Henderson to recover damages resulting from an automobile collision. Judge Henderson's 16-year-old daughter was injured in the crash.

An auto driven by Jones collided with a car driven by Miss Virginia Henderson Dec. 20, at King's highway and Washington boulevard. Judge Henderson alleges in his suit that Jones was violating the traffic laws at the time of the accident. The Henderson auto was damaged $269.05, according to the petition, and the bills for hospital and physicians' services attending Miss Henderson amounted to $126.85.

ST. LOUIS NEEDS A NEW DEAL.

When the City Council killed the car service bill by a vote of 8 to 5, the adverse majority gave the final convincing proof that the little finger of the United Railway was more powerful than the loins of the St. Louis people.

The defeat of this measure for the relief of the public from inadequate street car service is the last act of the Republican Council which expires in April. In this offense the regular Republican organization cannot follow its pleasant custom of hiding behind Mayor Kreismann. This Council is the work of the Republican party. It is particularly the representative of the party organization which is seeking popular approval and support at the polls.

The Council which has betrayed and defied the people of St. Louis is the Council which, in behalf of the Kiel party committee held up the Mayor's best appointments, and tried by blocking his measures, to force him to surrender to the spoilsmen. Its majority has championed the interests of privilege and the interests of the spoilsmen.

If this final betrayal of the public interest shall lead the voters to mistrust the old local Republican organization, and to regard it as a hopeless instrument of popular government, its leaders cannot complain. The party is bound to its stand pat idols. It has failed to keep abreast of the popular movement to restore the government to popular control, and to make it a bulwark of popular rights and interests. It has stood for governmental control by special interests.

The defeat of this measure should awaken the voters to the necessity of a careful selection of candidates for both branches of the Municipal Assembly. None but men, not only of integrity, but who are unbiased, unbound and uninfluenced by special interests should be elected.

St. Louis needs a new deal in city government.

IN THE INTEREST OF FAIRNESS.

Mr. Kiel's advocates charge, with bitter epithets, that "Long John" Dolan, John Kratz, Soy and Warner are supporting Dr. Simon for the mayoralty.

We hold no brief of these men wherever their support may go. But on the other side backing Mr. Kiel in the Republican ranks are "Cap" Troll, ex-Senator Reichman, "Tub" Becker, "Hank" Weeke, Fred Priesmeyer and Herman Bader.

In the interest of fairness, let us have all the political cards on the table. The glass house proverb is applicable to this case.

ST. LOUIS NEEDS A BRACER.

An observant reader calls attention to the fact that the statue of St. Louis in front of the Art Museum is unsteady on its hoofs. When the wind blows, our informant says, man and horse sway from side to side. He suggests that it "be looked into," and that "a stitch in time saves nine."

This is alarming, particularly in view of the doubt which may arise as to whose business it is to brace St. Louis up so that the March winds will not completely overthrow him and his steed. Should the Park Department, or the Salvage Department, or the Street Department do the necessary bracing? And while a decision is being had on this question, should not a couple of mounted policemen be hurried out to the top of Art Hill to stand guard on either side of the big statue and serve as temporary bracers? We can't afford to let St. Louis be blown down.

TACT AND TOBACCO.

Owing to the number of women who will vote at Topeka, Kansas, this spring the authorities have taken action to discourage smoking at the polls—that is, to discourage men's smoking. It has not occurred to the authorities that the women care to smoke at the polls, and the object is to conduce to their comfort rather than curtail their privileges. Be that as it may, Mrs. Belva Lockwood, the noted suffragist, objects to the regulation, and we commend her rare tact.

If suffrage involved taking tobacco out of politics at the very outset, the sisters might encounter more difficulty in obtaining the vote. It might be more sagacious at the present stage for our political equals to become "one of us" in the additional sense of good fellowship and cultivate our very habits if need be to ingratiate themselves—with this limitation, that they will not be asked to buy us cigars.

How well suffrage and tobacco will mix is going to be an interesting if not a vital question. Ninety-nine and nine-tenths per cent of male politicians are addicted to the vile weed—and perhaps this is one of the things that are the matter with politics. Coming into politics saturated with nicotine, the problem of the suffragists is first to get in and afterwards to purify the system. This undoubtedly presents the supreme test of feminine tact, in a cause worthy of its exercise.

RELIEF FOR FLOOD SUFFERERS.

Profoundly moved by the loss of life in the storms and floods that have devastated the Middle West, the dominant popular thought is that of sympathy and relief for the suffering survivors. We have had greater proportionate destruction concentrated in one city or district, as in the Johnstown and Galveston floods, and the San Francisco earthquake, but none so widespread in extent, affecting so many populous cities and towns.

The estimates of life losses are fortunately diminished by later reports, but estimates of property losses and of the number of persons made homeless and destitute are rapidly increasing. Appalling destruction has been wrought at Dayton, Hamilton, Piqua, Troy and Columbus, O., in Indianapolis and Peru, Ind., and in numerous other towns. Probably many stricken places have not been heard from.

The number of homeless and destitute persons reaches hundreds of thousands. These people have been deprived of everything. They must be provided with shelter, clothing, food, medical requirements until they can find new homes and the means of living. The need is immediate and great. Already appeals for aid have been issued by the National Red Cross Society, by Gov. Cox of Ohio, by the authorities of stricken cities.

St. Louis should be in the forefront of the relief movement. Citizens should organize a Relief Committee to receive money and supplies, and to cooperate with other relief organizations.

The Post-Dispatch contributes $500 to the relief fund. We will accept and acknowledge other contributions, and remit them to an authorized local committee or directly to the Red Cross Society.

PUBLICITY FOR THE LOBBY FUND.

The St. Louis Police Commissioners should compel full publicity of all facts relating to the activities of the police lobby in behalf of the police salary grab bill at Jefferson City.

The present Board of Police Commissioners was appointed by Gov. Major. They owe it to him to make public complete information concerning the police lobby.

The only scandals during an unusually clean and creditable session of the General Assembly were caused by the work of the police lobby in aid of increases in pay and the insurance lobby against the Orr insurance bill. The two lobbies combined their efforts in the closing days of lawmaking.

By what departmental authority were police officers permitted to abandon the duties for which they are paid in St. Louis, and set an example of law-violation by engaging in lobby work without compliance with the act regulating lobbyists? Their lobby expenditures were on a large scale. Let us have the sum expended and its sources.

St. Louisans demand the name and rank of every contributor to the fund, and the exact amount of each contribution. They demand a statement in detail of every item of expenditure made from the fund.

APPROVE THE ORR BILL.

The merits of the Orr bill repealing the Oliver insurance act should be carefully studied by Gov. Major before he attaches any weight to importunate requests for its veto. The Governor should consider whether he wants to legalize price-fixing combines.

An oppressive increase in the cost of fire insurance followed the passage of the Oliver law. Disinterested policy holders, competent to judge of the matter, are convinced that the repeal of the law is necessary to a successful fight against combines of underwriters. How can it be a mistake to restore, during the coming two years, the competitive conditions existing up to two years ago, and to bring life insurance under the anti-combine laws applying universally to other business? If something further in legislation is needed by 1915 to give the policy holder a square deal, the General Assembly of that year can supply it. The policy holder has not had a square deal under the Oliver act.

The Orr bill should be approved.

ROOSEVELT AS HE SEES HIMSELF.

Post-Dispatch readers will have a chance to learn Roosevelt from his own point of view in the Life Story which he is going to tell, in his own words, in the Sunday issue, beginning March 30. The story will continue from week to week until Theodore Roosevelt, generally acknowledged to be the most interesting public man in America, has enlightened the reader as to how he came to develop such a career and such a character.

It is Mr. Roosevelt's intention to make this story helpful to aspiring men and women, by telling them what he has learned in the course of a long, varied and strenuous experience. We are all willing to learn, though we cannot hope to duplicate our teacher's example in many respects. But there is no fear that this autobiography will be a dry, didactic series of chapters. Here is a man who cannot fail to be interesting, and it is inevitable that he will tell us many things about himself and those he has dealt with that we did not know before. That will give the great zest to his life story.

A. H. FREDERICK.

Voters who wish to see a capable and conscientious man as President of the City Council should not overlook A. H. Frederick, nominee for that office on the Republican ticket.

For 13 consecutive years Mr. Frederick has been chairman of the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival Executive Committee, and has been largely instrumental in making this annual event a joy to the poor and a credit to St. Louis. Mr. Frederick, as business man, as President of the Board of Assessors for eight years and as a director in the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Company, has had a long, varied and honorable experience in business and civic affairs. In his capacity as President of the Board of Assessors he did good work toward carrying the charter amendments which resulted in the appropriation by the city of $5,000,000 for the World's Fair. He has been a valued member of many committees that have worked for the good of the city.

In a case of this kind, politics is secondary to character and record. Mr. Frederick's character and record offer promise of good service in office. We count it fortunate that his Democratic opponent for this important office, Mr. Lazarus, although he had no public record, is a business man of ability and good standing.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Promotion of Teachers Unsatisfactory.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Under the impression that your paper is willing to champion a good cause, I wish to offer a protest against the present system of promotions in the public schools of St. Louis. With the theory I have no complaint: a scheme which recognizes worth as the only basis of advancement ought to be ideal. The point, however, is this: How shall the merit of the teacher be appraised? Any fair-minded person who knows the prevailing conditions must admit the injustice of the results obtained through the present application of the merit system. Merit system! and yet in every school we find capable teachers passed by and inefficient members of the faculty rising to the top. It would be unreasonable to rage against these more fortunate individuals; the matter is not in the slightest degree personal. Nor am I at all willing to lay the blame on the principals of the schools, for, I believe that even the decisions most impartial would necessarily prove unsatisfactory. And why necessarily? Just consider the situation. It is an impossibility for any principal to judge of the efficiency of the teacher from an occasional short visit to her class-room. Again, if he attempts an estimate from grades shown by the class at the term's end, he fares no better, owing to a difference of standards in marking among teachers, and yet it rests with him to say whether a teacher has succeeded or failed.

Upon the eve of a change of officers in the School Board it may not be out of place to suggest that this is a matter of vital importance and therefore, needs immediate attention.

A TEACHER.

The Future Mayor of St. Louis.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

What St. Louis needs is a man of education, refinement and culture; one who also has great business qualifications to be the Mayor of St. Louis. With such a man the city will develop and become the metropolis of the West. The days of the politician are passing.

STEPHEN TAYLOR DEKINS.

Ex-Senator Krone Will Not Speak.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The Globe-Democrat on Monday contains an announcement that I will speak at Pythian Hall, 3137 Pine street, Wednesday evening to a Republican meeting at which Dr. Richard A. Walker, now a member of the House of Delegates and a candidate for the Council on the Republican ticket will also speak. I have had a great deal of litigation against Dr. Walker and this is evidently an attempt to use me by making it appear that I am on friendly terms with him and that his candidacy has my approval for I have not been asked to make any other Republican speeches or even to speak on this Wednesday night. I consider Dr. Walker unfit for any public office whatsoever and certainly would not consent to address any meeting at which he was present. Yours very truly,

Low Wages of Husbands.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Isn't it time something was being said in regard to the minimum wage of the men? I know a number of men who are working for $8 to $10 per week and cannot get anything better. My husband is one who works for $10, and I have to work to be able to live respectably and get our necessaries. The married women would not have to work if the men made decent wages. It is a scandal to the city for such large concerns to pay their men such miserable salaries. What have you to say, sisters? Come and help. Then maybe we can give our positions up to young girls and go home and attend to our house and family.

ONE WHO WORKS FOR A LIVING, NOT PIN MONEY.

Country Town Methods.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I am a manufacturer's agent, having come to St. Louis two years ago and opened a branch office for one of the largest and best houses of its kind in the United States, have moved my family here, rent a home in addition to a warehouse for my firm, and expect to spend my money here. It is amusing (and often discouraging) to a salesman in calling on some of your leading manufacturers to be told "your goods and prices are right, but we buy only 'Made in St. Louis goods.'"

This has often been told to me by manufacturers who have agents in other cities selling their goods, and I wonder what they would say if their agents met similar treatment. We all know that if the manufacturers of St. Louis were limited to selling their products in St. Louis alone they would go out of business in a week.

JACK JOHNSON.

College Fraternities.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The letters of the "Middle-Class Father," and "One of the Middle Class," published in recent issues of the Post-Dispatch, are as untrue as they are hysterical. All dramatics and fraternities at the university mentioned are supervised by the faculty, and no freshmen, or one who is not up to standard in his studies is allowed to participate. The writer worked his way through the said university, part of the time doing work for the other fellows. This work was given me because I needed it, and never made the slightest difference in any dealings with them. I did not belong to fraternities and the dramatics because I couldn't afford it. For the same reason I wore the same suit of clothes four winters and never expected to be petted or helped because of it.

But I studied under C. M. Woodward, C. A. Waldo, F. E. Nipher and other men of ability.

Student fraternities and dramatics are fine for those who have time and money for them, but not for those who are the children of such misguided parents as the above mentioned. God bless W. U.

ON YESTERDAY.

There was no Just a Minute column on yesterday. The fact is, we went duck shooting down in Southeast Missouri, arriving there just in time to discover that the ducks had left on the preceding day for points north. Nevertheless, we spent Monday in the sunken lands, poling among the cypress trees, sounding a duck call upon the warm south wind, and occasionally bagging some lagging duck which had missed the big flight north. On Monday night we started home. Tuesday morning, when the train should have been rolling into Union Station, we heard ominous gossip in the car. The track was washed out. The wires were down. There was no communication with St. Louis. The most terrible things had probably happened. We got up. The train was still a hundred miles from St. Louis. It was raining. A single overworked steward was trying to get breakfast for everybody in a little buffet. The alarm for St. Louis was growing. There had been no trains through.

At noon we got into St. Mary's. We had run very slowly, with the engineer hanging out of the cab by his heels and looking around bends. An hour later we made Ste. Genevieve. The alcohol had been burned in the buffet, and there was nothing to eat. A number of passengers established a supply line to a butcher shop, where a fleet-footed drummer bought sausage, set to dash for the train on signal the moment the news should be shouted uptown by the men in the line. We also got alcohol there, but it was not satisfactory. The steward said it was because it was Wood's alcohol, which had never been a success in his stove. One passenger thought we ought to have denatured alcohol; another knew what we wanted: It was ordinary alcohol. We got Wood's, quoting the steward. There was no other available. Food, too, was scarce. It looked for a few dreadful moments as if the hungry passengers might eat our ducks.

At 3 o'clock the train which had left St. Louis at 9:30 the night before passed us. It had made about 65 miles in 18 hours, and had mud on the cowcatcher, as if it had been rooting its way through slides of earth. A half hour later our own train started north, and the few ducks we had killed were duly delivered at Union Station. We were 10 hours late. There was no poetry that day, no philosophy, no humor. Maybe there isn't very much at any time, but that isn't the fault of weather and train. That is our fault.

SPRING POETS YOU MAY WANT TO KILL.

Spring has come, with its robings of beauty,
All things have begun a new life;
The valley, the mountain and forests
Are ringing with joy at the sight.

Summer is now fast approaching,
The flowers are all in full bloom,
And birds calling gayly in the tree tops
Say we are nearing life's noon.

And as I sit at the window,
And look on the world here below,
And think of the days that are coming,
When it will be covered with snow.

It is clad now in all autumn's beauty,
The trees are in russet and gold,
And the winds whistle gayly around them,
And tell of the days to be cold.

Then winter with its snow-capped mountains,
And its rivers all covered with ice,
And thus are we ever gliding
From the spring to the winter of life.

THE PINCHING OF THE SHOE.

From the New York Tribune.

Cosmo Hamilton, the young English writer, was talking in New York about eugenics.

"The eugenist," he said, "is no foe to properly regulated divorce. Some eugenists even think that the reasons for divorce need not be given.

"Such eugenists are like the old Roman who invented the phrase, 'where the shoe pinches.'

"This old Roman was reproached by his friends for divorcing his wife. They could see no fault in her, they said.

"The old Roman, by way of answer, smiled and took off his shoe.

"'Look at it,' he said, holding it up and turning it about. 'It seems a good shoe, doesn't it? You can't find anything wrong with it, can you? And yet—'

"The old Roman here frowned impressively.

"'And yet,' he said, 'none of you can tell where it pinches me.'"

SALES OF OLD BOOKS.

London Correspondence New York Sun.

Quatrich, the collector, paid $1845 for a rare book on Napoleon's campaign in Italy, printed in Paris in 1806, at a sale of rare books and tracts at Sotheby's today.

Richard Hakluyt's "Principal Navigations, Voyages and Discoveries of the English Nation, Made by Sea and Overland," with the original issue of Drake's "Voyage to Cadiz," and a rare large map dated 1599-1600, went to the same collector for $2000. Cotton Mather's "Witchcraft," an account of the trials of witches, executed in New England, sold for $150. John Williams' pamphlets on America and an inquiry into its history and traditions, printed in 1777, brought $175.

IN A SACK COAT.

From the Columbus Journal.

President Wilson is guilty of another innovation. He has trampled ruthlessly upon sacred traditions. Presidents have been accustomed to wearing frock coats during the day and especially when receiving calls of honored guests; but the other day when the Supreme Court of the United States, the diplomatic corps and other distinguished persons called at the White House, President Wilson received them in a gray sack coat.

Now we know that the President can be depended upon to do what he says. Any man who holds his individuality sacred and realizes in his experience his innocent fancies, so that they are clean, modest and well favored, is likely to appear himself in more prominent events.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

HEALTH HINTS.

R. C. H.—Which tobacco habit?

ANXIOUS.—At college clinic operations several students are present. If you can afford to pay, any surgeon will insure you privacy.

A. A.—For sensitive teeth and gums it is said that chewing pieces of cinnamon bark gives relief. For the sensitiveness brought about by acid fruits, cleaning the teeth with precipitated chalk and water is satisfactory. The brush must be soft.

ANXIOUS.—Night sweats: Brace the general health, live in the fresh air, practice deep breathing and eat wholesome food. Drink cold sage tea (one cup) before retiring. The simple remedy of placing a pan of water under the bed has ardent advocates, though we do not understand how it does its work. Sponging the body with salt water has also been recommended.

A MAN.—For catarrh: Eat less meat, butter, cream, sugar and white flour, and the combinations thereof; and eat more fruit. Have it stewed quickly, boiling. Let saucepan remain over a moderate heat until sugar is dissolved. Never, stew fruits in tin saucepan nor in an enamel-lined one which has places in the lining that have begun to flake off. Earthenware is best. Jellies and rich preserves should not be classed as fruits. Drink more water—pure spring or well water—or else distilled water. Three pints a day—an hour or more before or after eating—never with meals, unless a meal should consist entirely of dry foods. Breathe more air. Pure air—not air saturated with impure matter thrown off from your own or other people's lungs. Take more exercise in a way that you may enjoy it, if possible. Have enough rest, but not too much, and enough sleep—two or three hours of it before midnight, with the windows open all night. These things, and an active mental condition that keeps the blood circulating freely, will insure pure blood—and pure blood is the only real cure for catarrh.

LAW POINTS.

M. M.—Illinois allows a divorcee to marry in one year from the date of divorce.

D. S.—It is not unlawful to sell any genuine, harmless formula through the mails.

UNEASY.—It is unlawful to aid a deserter, but we have no record of any prosecution for this offense.

G. G.—Try phoning Sewer Department, city hall phone, in regard to the contractor who is slow to settle.

D. S. Y.—Law unjustly compels first flat to clear sidewalk of snow. Neither tenant can be compelled to sweep the yard.

W. K.—Rent must be paid when due, otherwise you may be sued. Taking the case to another court would not help you.

G. G.—Limitation for penitentiary cases, 3 years; workhouse or jail offenses 1 year. If your lawyer has wronged you, report the facts to the Bar Association, room 1605, Pierce Building, 4th and Chestnut.

G. W. M.—Seining is lawful and allowed in the Mississippi and Missouri rivers, but not within 300 yards of the mouth of any stream emptying into said rivers, during January, February, March, July, August, September, October, November and December, with seines the meshes of which are not less than 2 inches square. Small seine for minnows, for bait, is allowed. The word "drop net" is not used in connection with these rivers.

MAY.—Composer of a pretty arrangement of "Lucia di Lammermoor," E. V. McIntyre, Oklahoma City, Ok., formerly of St. Louis.

POST READER.—The perfume bottles with the rough necks and stoppers are unpolished glass and therefore cheaper than the polished article.

MAY.—One in mourning, receiving invitation to reception, may simply send card (nothing written on it) to hostess, or to lady at whose house reception is held. Such cards are always understood as "regrets."

H. H.—A Scotch pupil, writing to her teacher, would use only the language of the school, correct English. There are really no forms for the words you specify. There may be localisms, but the teacher would not permit their use. They are used as expressions outside the school.

RUTH.—To obtain the position of cooking teacher in the public schools, the applicant must be a graduate of a high school, and have had at least two years of the domestic science course at some college, such as the Teachers' College, Columbia, N. Y., Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, N. Y., or the University of Illinois.

Polarity exists only in direct current.

CHARLES.—You gave the poultice for your horse a very short trial. A work on diseases of horses says: The feet are to be kept moist and the horn from drying out by the use of damp sawdust or other bedding; by occasional poultices of boiled turnips, linseed meal, etc., and greasy hoof ointments to the sole and walls of the feet.

NOTICE TO ALL READERS.—We haven't time to give business addresses BY MAIL or in Answers column. Great numbers of requests for such addresses reach us, and to give them attention would involve a great deal of inquiry and clerical work. Furthermore, it would be manifestly unfair to give one address when there are so many persons or firms in the same line or profession, sometimes occupying a page or more in the City Directory.

C. G.—Cabinet: Secretary of State, William Jennings Bryan, Nebraska; Treasury, William G McAdoo, New York; War, Lindley M. Garrison, New York; Navy, Josephus Daniels, North Carolina; Interior, Franklin K. Lane, California; Agriculture, David F. Houston, Missouri; Commerce, William C. Redfield, New York; Labor, William B. Wilson, Pennsylvania; Attorney-General, James McReynolds, Tennessee; Postmaster-General, Albert Burleson, Texas.

THOMPSON.—The following is given as a method for bluing gun barrels by what is known as the "staining process": Dissolve 4½ ounces of hyposulphite of soda in a quart of water, also 1¼ ounces acetate of lead in a quart of water, then mix the two solutions and bring to a boil in a porcelain dish or stone pot. Clean the barrel free from grease, oil, or varnish, then warm the barrel and smear the hot solution over it, using a piece of sponge tied to a stick. When the color develops, wash and wipe dry and finish with boiled linseed oil. Another method is: Apply nitric acid and let it eat into the iron a little, then the latter will be covered with a thin film of oxide; clean the barrel, oil and burnish.

The Post-Dispatch Daily Short Story

Pearl of the Crossroads

By Frederick Briggs

SOMEONE said that a sailorman was good for nothing but to chase about the world and send people presents. Pearl Smith had known this all her life, though perhaps she had never resolved it into just that expression.

She drew the line at having more than one man on the same ship. Still, this was not at all inconvenient, for there were sometimes no less than 14 men-of-war, besides a score of merchant ships, in the Crossroads of the Pacific at one time.

To see her, then, was like being wakened from a sweet sleep on a balmy afternoon by having great clusters of red, red roses pressed to one's cheeks. Young men, dropping in at the Crossroads swore that they would never go to sea again only to ship with the tide for the Indian Ocean, in search of a pearl to match her skin.

She was like Honolulu days. The shimmering softness of her skin matched the warm afternoon skies. Rich reds of the island sunsets burned in her full, dimpled mouth. Tropic twilights lay behind her inky eyelashes, deepening to midnight in her long hair.

New admirers invariably meant more presents; but when a sailorman can jolly his superior officer and get anything he wants, just for the asking, women had better beware of him. When he stands six feet in his socks, laughs out of big, blue eyes, and conceals a 'cello note in a drawling voice, so much the worse for the women. Heine—that was as far as they got with his name aboard ship, and it will suffice here—Heine was all of this, and more. He was an American bluejacket, boatswain's mate of the destroyer Shark.

He met Pearl at Waikiki Beach. She was shooting the surf when Heine saw her first. Standing upright, with outflung arms, she balanced on her polished board of kamani wood as it raced ahead of a giant breaker. Swift as the wave, she flashed past the swimming sailor, but as the waters broke over his head he remembered every line of her beautiful body. The grace of her attitude struck him harder than the wave. Turning, he swam strongly toward the beach, where the spent roller had landed the fairy surf-rider.

Half a dozen men were begging Pearl to be allowed to take her board out to the reef again, but she laughed them away with a flash of milk-white teeth, and struggled out alone. Heine met her a hundred fathoms from the beach, where the water came almost to his shoulder as he stood on the sand.

"I'll carry your board for you!" he cried, as the girl broke through a wave almost upon him.

Startled, she turned her head, and the board slipped, striking on her flower mouth. As the blood came, Heine caught her in his arms. The wave, receding, shut the other bathers from view, and for 10 seconds the sailorman held the girl close to his heart.

"My lip will swell," she panted, struggling to free herself.

But Heine jollied her, just as he jollied the commanding officer of the Shark, and within half an hour she had checked her surf-board and bathing costume at the bathhouse, and was riding back to town with him, holding her handkerchief to the swelling lip.

Three days later the fleet was ready to sail. Dusky singers with their tiny guitars strummed the said "Aloha Oe"—"Farewell"—in every street. Pearl managed her other admirers so that Heine might have the last evening. When the time came for a final good-by, Heine told her that he was coming back to Honolulu—some day.

Pearl studied his face; then she pouted.

"That's what they all say."

The sailor's eyes danced as he kissed her bruised mouth. Then he was gone.

This time Pearl did not look for a present. She would have preferred the sailor back again; but the gift came. It was a brooch, set with a genuine ruby. Heine bought the uncut stone from a Lascar mess attendant. It cost him $65 to have it cut and polished, and the ruby was valuable.

"To match your lips—from Heine," was the word that came with the jewel.

Pearl's heart was filled with fear. Sailormen who sent presents never came back. Did she not have cream and rose pearls from the remittance-man in Ceylon, and a black diamond to rival her eyes? There was only one other man whom she had longed to see again—an English mate who sent her a perfect pair of pigeon-blood rubies from Bombay. The jewels were torn from the eyes of a Hindu god, and Hindus tore the mate's eyes from his head in revenge. But Pearl did not know this. She fastened Heine's gift on her bosom, and put the other jewels away.

Heine was discharged from the naval service shortly after his visit to Hawaii; and, without informing Pearl, he returned to Honolulu. He had served a jeweler's apprenticeship before entering the navy, and soon found employment in a local store as an engraver. He purchased a little bungalow in Kalihi with the savings of his naval cruise, and kept out of sight in Honolulu as much as possible, wishing to avoid meeting his sweetheart until he could surprise her with a complete arrangement for housekeeping.

One day, as he bent over his engraving tools, his heart gave a great bound as Pearl's voice floated through the lattice partition. She was talking with the jeweler in the front of the store. Peering through the slats, Heine saw a number of jewel boxes spread out on the counter between them. The jeweler was speaking:

"Do you get all these as presents, Miss Smith?"

"Oh, of course. The sailors—they are so good to me," she laughed. "But what are they worth—pins, brooches, rings, watches and all?"

The ex-sailor sank back, stunned. A look crept into his face that his commanding officer had seen when his boatswain's mate reported "both anchors carried away, sir," as the disabled Shark wallowed with the wind toward the thundering rocks of Cape Flattery. Heine had trusted his anchors. Now he thought of his early training—of his sisters, and the girls back in the Kansas home—his standards of honor for women.

The jeweler was speaking again.

"I will allow you $220."

"Will that buy a very fine watch, with diamonds?" she asked.

"A very fine watch, but not with many diamonds," he replied.

"Then I'll wait. More will come;" and she walked out.

The jeweler found his engraver sitting listlessly, with idle hands, and eyes staring into space. He suspected the vitiating influence of the tropics.

"Go out and get a gin fizz," he called, cheerily. "Don't let the heat get away with you."

Heine thanked his employer, and went out. He had a fizz, and was soon back at his bench. The next day he saw a real estate man, and tried to sell his bungalow, as he intended to sail from Hawaii on the Mongolia, which was due, homeward bound, in two weeks.

A few days before the China mail came in, Heine was startled again by his sweetheart's voice. He heard every word as she offered the pigeon-blood rubies for sale. The jeweler was in ecstacies. The stones were flawless and perfectly matched. A deal was made for a beautiful diamond incrusted watch in exchange for a number of jewels, including the rubies.

Heine had never seen the girl more beautiful. Her face, shaded by a white hat of delicate straw and rich flowers, seemed touched with the brush of melancholy. Her neck was bare, and the point of the low V of her white gown was secured by a ruby brooch—his ruby.

"I'll take this one," she was saying, "and you must cut these words in the heart."

She stood there, gazing wistfully at the watch for a long time. When she had left the store, the jeweler brought it back to his engraver.

"Get this out as soon as possible," he said, depositing the watch, with the slip of words to be engraved.

Heine glanced at the slip. It read:

"To Heine—from Pearl."

Pushing back his stool, he sprang to his feet and faced the jeweler.

"I've been judging that little kanaka girl all this time from a Kansas standpoint," he shouted; then, hatless and coatless, he dashed from the building.

"Heat's getting in its work," the jeweler mumbled to himself. "That's the trouble with these newcomers; can't stand the heat;" and he shook his head sadly, for the newcomer was an excellent engraver, and he let the gin alone.

Heine overtook the girl in front of the Young Hotel, and there, utterly oblivious of the staring public, he caught her again in his arms, kissing her perfect mouth, no longer bruised, but soft as a red hibiscus blossom.

TEA TIMBALES—Turn one can of peas into a strainer and pour over one quart of cold water. Let stand 15 minutes, reserve one-third cupful and force the remainder through a sieve; there should be one cupful of pea pulp. To pulp add two tablespoonfuls of melted butter and two eggs, slightly beaten. When mixture is blended, season with two-thirds teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper, a few grains of cayenne and a few drops of onion juice. Turn into small buttered timbale molds, set in pan, half surround with boiling water, cover with a sheet of buttered paper and bake until firm. The Jupe Zouave Is Paris' Latest Attempt to Put Trousers on Women

Bulgarian effects are preposterously dominant, but a bifurcated skirt, which is worn abroad, dims all of their splendor and eccentricity.

By Nixola Greeley-Smith.

M. ARON, editor of Le Costume Royale, says: "In our Paris letter, which has not yet appeared, there is an account of a new skirt which is called the 'jupe zouave,' which has just been evolved in Paris, and which will have a train in the back, but a trouser front. The trouser effect in front is obtained by turning the material in and gathering it into the tops of the gaiters."

Pictures of this masterpiece of eccentricity have already been published in Paris, and it is only a question of time when it will appear on this side. Whether women here will accept it or not no man will venture to say.

Anyway, if you see a vision gazing away from you that looks like a lady in a court train and she turns suddenly about and is transformed into a Papal zouave with baggy trousers tucked into high gaiters, you will know that you have met the latest freak in style.

I DON'T think you are very likely to meet her, at that. Although every student of costume knows that man stole the trousers from woman, he has worn them so long that he has come to look upon them as his exclusive property, and feeling that possession is nine points of the law, he rises every now and then to plead the statute of limitations against woman's efforts to reclaim her own.

Early in the eighteenth century the fear that woman was trying to steal his most precious possession from the bifurcated half of the race shot through the staid soul of Addison, who delivered a homile to the women readers of the Spectator on the folly of wearing a cocked hat and a tight coat like a man and predicted that trousers would be the next thing in order. Addison related that a yokel upon being asked a direction by a young woman attired in a parody of masculine garb had answered: "Yes, my lord," and then overcome with confusion when he saw the narrow skirt which distinguished her from the young gentleman of the period, added, 'I mean, yes, my lady."

And here we are half through the first quarter of the twentieth century and trousers for women are still coming and haven't come. But this time, perhaps, the jupe zouave will really arrive.

THE TOILET OF MME. DE POMPADOUR

Revelations of famous beauties' secrets written for the Post-Dispatch.

By ANDRE DUPONT.

"THE Marquise has a wet day for her journey," said Louis XV. as he stood at the window of his apartments in Versailles as the hearse bearing the body of Mme. de Pompadour left the palace in the pouring rain.

And this was the extent of the grief that the cynical monarch showed for a woman whose slightest whim had been the law in his realm for nearly twenty years, whose influence had filled great political positions of the kingdom, who had made commoners into nobles, and, if they offended her, had summarily disgraced some of the oldest names in the kingdom. She had been patron of arts and literature and had founded the famous china manufactory at Sevres that exists to this day, and the military school of France.

Jeanne Antoinette Poisson first attracted the King's attention at a great ball given by the city of Paris at the Hotel de Ville (city hall). She appeared dressed as Diana with a bow in her hand and a quiver at her side, and her hair, which fell in ringlets over her shoulders, sparkling with precious stones. Fitting an arrow to her bow she pretended to aim it at the royal heart.

The King loaded her with honors and presented her with the great estate of Pompadour, whose title she took.

The toilet of a court beauty of this period was a veritable work of art. The hair was powdered and drawn over a cushion in the style to which Mme. de Pompadour has given her name. Powder or chalk washes were used to give a snowy appearance to the skin. And these were overlaid on the cheeks with a stratum of rouge, as a brilliant complexion was very effective with white powdered hair. Not only did Mme. de Pompadour us rouge; everybody used it, from the highest to the lowest.

The memoirs of the time tell us that the quantity of rouge used in France was enormous. Even little girls of six were rouged. And the King himself, who was a good deal of a dandy, had his cheeks slightly reddened whenever he fancied he looked pale. The Comte de Kaunitz, the Austrian Ambassador, had at his toilet four valets to throw hair powder in all directions while he ran about so that he might catch only the superfine part of it.

MARIE DE POMPADOUR

On returning from the hunt or a walk in the [illegible] the Marquise de Pompadour was wont to smear her face with the yolk of an egg to prevent sunburn. She also is said to have invented a sort of soap for whitening the arms, shoulders and hands called "Mme. de Pompadour's Wash Ball." It was made of four quarts of brandy, a pound of Italian soap and one-quarter pound of quick lime. These were mixed together and allowed to ferment for a day and then spread out to dry. When quite dry, orris, St. Lucia wood and calamus were mixed in and kneaded into a paste with the whites of eggs. Gum tragacanth and rose water were then added and it was formed into balls.

Orange flower water was much esteemed in those days, both as a cosmetic and a medicine. We are told that whenever Mme. de Pompadour felt faint (as she often did, as she suffered from an affection of the heart), she called for a glass of orange flower water.

Dandruff

An Easy Task to Cure It When You Know How.

There are three kinds of dandruff cures:

Good dandruff cures.
And plain liquid junk.

The first is good to put on the head; the second is good to keep off the head; and the third is good to flush out the sewer.

The owners of good dandruff cures say our remedy will cure you in two weeks or money back.

Parisian Sage is a good dandruff cure.

It is guaranteed by Wolff-Wilson Drug Co. to cure dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks or money back.

It kills the dandruff microbes, it promotes a new growth of hair, it makes hair soft and luxuriant, and is without doubt the most pleasant and invigorating hair dressing made today.

To every reader of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch both man and woman, we want to say these few words:

If you have tried other dandruff cures, hair restorers, and have failed to receive any benefit from them, don't give up hope, try Parisian Sage.

Nipped in the Bud.

"SAY, old man," chattered the press agent, who had cornered a producer of motion picture plays, "I've got a grand idea for a film drama. Listen to the impromptu scenario: Scene one, exterior of a Broadway theater, with the ticket speculators getting the coin in handfuls, and"——

"You're out!" interrupted the producer. "Why, don't you know that the law won't permit us to show an actual robbery on the screen?"

Experienced.

MAMMA: Now, Tommy, is there any one else you think you ought to invite to your birthday party?

Tommie: Is it goin' to be a good party, mamma?

"Oh, yes, a real good party."

"Plenty of candy and pie and cake, mamma?"

"Oh, yes."

"Then don't you 'spose we'd better invite the doctor, mamma?"

His Point of View.

THE late Margaret E. Sangster once made arrangements with a cab driver to call three days a week, the days she went to the city, and take her to the train. One stormy day he failed to appear, and, having an engagement she couldn't miss, she walked the four miles to the station. Her clothes were soaked, she caught cold, and was seriously ill for a fortnight. One day I said to her:

"By the way, did you ever find out why that cab driver didn't come?"

"Oh, yes,' 'she said serenely; "he explained to me that he didn't dare to take his horse out on such a wretched day."

I gave my opinion of that cabman, but when I had finished, she said:

"But don't you see his point of view? That horse represents his bread and butter."—Christian Herald.

The Quickest, Simplest Cough Cure

Easily and Cheaply Made at Home. Saves You $2.

This recipe makes a pint of cough syrup—enough to last a family a long time. You couldn't buy as much or as good cough syrup for $2.50.

Simple as it is, it gives almost instant relief and usually stops the most obstinate cough in 24 hours. It is pleasant to take—children like it. An excellent remedy, too, for whooping cough, croup, sore lungs, asthma, throat troubles, etc.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly.

Pine is one of the oldest and best known remedial agents for the throat membranes. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and all the other natural healing elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The prompt results from this recipe have endeared it to thousands of housewives in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.—ADV.

Love and Courtesy

Friendship Versus Love.

MY dear girls, don't take the young men you know too seriously.

A young man often complains that he cannot call on a girl even occasionally without laying himself open to misunderstanding. Either the girl, or her parents, or all three, will at once assume that his intentions are "serious"—and expect him to make good. Therefore, if he does not consider himself in a position to marry, or if he has not yet seen the girl whom he would care to make his wife, he feels almost compelled to eschew feminine society altogether.

Now this is unnecessarily hard on the young man, and I think the girls themselves would be happier if they agreed to cultivate a few friendships with members of the opposite sex and stop thinking continually about courtships. Try it and see!

Wait.

B. R. writes: "I can only like a man for a short time; as soon as a new one appears I forget the old one. Am I destined never to love lastingly?"

Another Man.

C. C. writes: "I have been paying attention to a girl for two years, and have given her many valuable presents; but now she is corresponding with another man. What shall I do?"

You have no right to protest, unless the girl is formally engaged to you.

Wedding Etiquette.

B. K. writes: "My wedding will be very quiet and I shall be married in my traveling suit. Should I have a bridemaid, and, if so, what should she wear? What flowers would be suitable for me?"

It is not usual to have an attendant at such a wedding, but if you do have one she should dress as simply as yourself. You may wear a bunch of violets.

The Evil of Gossip.

M. C. writes: "If a boy went with a girl for eight months and then turns her down because he has heard she has a bad reputation, do you think he ever cared for her?"

If a young man really cared for a young woman he would not pay any attention to any gossip he might hear of her. After going with her eight months he certainly ought to know what kind of a person she is. Only cads discuss women.

Husband's Privilege.

L. I. writes: "I am about to be married. Is it my husband's place to furnish my new home, or should my father do this?"

It is customary for the husband to furnish the home.

Persistence.

F. N. writes: "I am very much in love with a young lady and do all I can to make her happy, but she won't have me. Will you advise me how to win her?"

Visiting at His Home.

M. R. writes: "I have been going with a young man for three months, who lives in another city, and he has invited me to go with him to visit his mother and sister, whom I have never met. We would be gone from Sunday morning till Monday morning. Do you think it would be proper for me to go for such a visit without anyone else with us?"

If you are engaged to the young man and the trip is one of only a few hours, and the young man's mother has invited you by letter, then I think you could go without a chaperon with propriety. Otherwise, most certainly not.

The Long Engagement.

S. M. writes: "A young man has been paying me attenion for three years. Now he is going to Europe for several years and has asked me to wait for him until till he returns. Do you think I should promise this?"

I don't approve of such long engagements, but if you love him you will probably desire to wait.

Miss Idress Head, who for six years has been librarian of the Missouri Historical Society, has announced her engagement to marry Clarence Walworth Alvord, Associate Professor of History at the University of Illinois.

The wedding will take place April 10 at the home of the bride's brother, John Wallace Head, at Palmyra, Mo.

Could Hardly Care for Children—Finds Health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"For six years I have not had as good health as I have now. I was very young when my first baby was born and my health was very bad after that. I had pains in my back and was so poorly that I could hardly take care of my two children. I doctored with several doctors but got no better. They told me there was no help without an operation. I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has helped me wonderfully. I do most of my own work now and take care of my children. I recommend your remedies to all suffering women."—Mrs. WILLARD A. GRAHAM, Care of ELSWORTH TUTTLE, Bovina Center, N. Y.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy we know for woman's ills. If you need such a medicine why don't you try it?

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

OMAHA DISASTER CANCELS BOOKING OF GRAND OPERA

Engagement Immediately Preceding St. Louis Season Abandoned—Local Sales Heavy.

Owing to the tornado disaster in Omaha Andreas Dippel, general manager of the Philadelphia-Chicago Opera Company, has canceled the engagement of the company in that city for April 14, three days before it is to appear in St. Louis. Two members of the company already have engaged rooms at the Jefferson Hotel in this city from that date until the close of the Odeon season.

The out-of-town ticket sales for the fourth annual grand opera season in St. Louis, under the auspices of the Grand Opera Committee, is much larger than in former years. There will be a party of 25, on a special car, from Lebanon, Ill., for both the Saturday matinee and evening performances. Large orders have also been received from Memphis, Tenn.; Keokuk, Io.; Springfield, Mo.; Springfield, Ill.; Jefferson City and other cities.

The Dallas (Tex.) Grand Opera Committee has written E. A. Faust saying that the members of the committee would attend the St. Louis opera season.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. McCormick wired their regrets to the Invitation Committee that they could not visit St. Louis during the opera season, as they sail for Europe at the end of this week.

"Lucia," with Mme. Tetrazinni in the title role, is the greatest favorite among those who have sent mail orders for single performances. These orders are being filed in the order received and will be filled before the opening of the box office, Thursday, April 3.

The wedding will be at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stevenson, 4622 Westminster place, in the evening, and will be one of the notable spring affairs.

Meyer Bloomfield, who is director of the Vocation Bureau of Boston, has been identified with the vocational guidance movement since its beginning in this country. He was associated with Dr. Frank Parsons at the Social Service House in Boston, and succeeded him as director. He is a graduate of Harvard University and has charge of some of its courses in vocational guidance.

Miss Angeline Davis and Dexter Young of Brookline, Mass., will be married quietly Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. K. Duncan Mellier and Mr. Mellier, in the Devonshire Apartments.

The Rev. Z. B. T. Phillips of St. Peter's Episcopal Church will officiate.

The bride will have only one bridemaid, Miss Vista Brown, who will wear a gown of flesh-colored chiffon over white satin and carry a bouquet of lavender and white lilacs.

The bride will be given in marriage by Mr. Mellier. She will wear a white satin gown trimmed with white tulle. Her veil will be of tulle simply arranged. She will carry a bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Mr. Young and his bride will spend their honeymoon in Bermuda and will sail Saturday from New York.

IRON MAN ROWAN FINISHES STRONG, DEFEATING FORD

Philadelphian Wears Himself Out In Futile Effort to Break Through Guard of Carlinville Man

By Harry S. Sharpe.

Referee for the Future City A. C. and the Post-Dispatch's Boxing Authority.

MARTY ROWAN of St. Louis defeated Barney Ford of Philadelphia, Tuesday night, at the Future City Athletic Club, but during the eight rounds of the bout Ford gave frequent demonstrations of the fact that he is a very busy man in the ring and a dangerous one, too, if his opponent is not on guard.

The men had agreed to box at 148 pounds, weigh in at 6 o'clock, but at that hour Rowan was three pounds over that weight and, as a consequence, forfeited 5 per cent of his share of the receipts to Ford. Both entered the ring looking to be in good condition, and the strenuous work they survived in the course of the bout proved that they were.

The bout between these two boxers can hardly be classed as an exhibition of clever boxing, but for hard and rapid hitting and a willingness on the part of both boxers to receive, in order to give punishment, it was both interesting and satisfying. They seldom stood apart and boxed, but, for the most part were so close together that long-arm straight punches or swings were out of the question. They dealt each other short jolts and choppy blows that jarred and bruised, but none of them was of the kind that put a man down and out with a single punch. They were of the kind that exhaust the strength and leave the arms and legs very tired. In a contest of this kind endurance is what tells and it resolves itself into a question of reserve strength and generalship in preserving it until most needed.

Rowan's Strategy Successful.

Rowan did this last night to the greatest advantage and it unquestionably had much to do with his victory over the Philadelphia fighter. At the very beginning of the first round Ford, evidently having been informed of Rowan's style of covering up in the beginning of a bout, dashed into his opponent and tried to break down his guard by hitting everything in sight, including head, gloves, arms and body, but he was unsuccessful in reaching any nerve center that might daze or disable. During this entire round Rowan scarcely made an effort to lead, but was careful not to leave himself uncovered for a moment. With lowered head he either stood still or bored toward his opponent while the latter was punching straight, swinging, hooking and uppercutting in an endeavor to land a telling blow.

The second round was much the same, except that Rowan was forced to do some holding, and once he let go with a powerful short right-hand punch that brought blood from Ford's nose.

Rowan unbelted in the third round, and from then on to the ending of the bout held the advantage, with the exception of some short intervals when Ford would tear loose with right and left punches in an endeavor to turn the tide.

Then Rowan would cover and let Ford spend his strength. So long as his strength lasted, the Philadelphia man never faltered, but even so early as the ending of the third round, he began to show signs of distress.

The fourth and fifth rounds were much the same, except that there was much clinching in both, more than there should have been, and in the fourth round Ford had to be cautioned a few times for hitting while holding, though to the credit of Ford it must be said that he apparently tried hard to observe the rules and was quick to let go when ordered to do so. In these two rounds the boxers had stood toe to toe and exchanged blows as fast and as hard as their strength would permit.

In the sixth round Ford was severely punished and at one time he seemed in danger of being knocked out because his strength was so exhausted that he hardly had enough left to properly defend himself. He lasted through this round, however, but in the next two was obliged to do much holding and clinching to save himself from a knockout. One good punch might have done it, but he was clever enough to avoid this and stay to the end.

Harry Sharpe's Decisions

Marty Rowan of St. Louis vs. Barney Ford of Philadelphia; eight rounds, 148 pounds at 6 o'clock. Rowan three pounds overweight; Rowan the winner on points.

Tim McCarthy vs. Lloyd Carter, both of St. Louis; eight rounds, 150 pounds at 6 o'clock. McCarthy the winner on points.

IN the semi-windup Lloyd Carter and Tim McCarthy, weighing in at 150 pounds at 6 o'clock, went eight rounds, with McCarthy having the better of the contest. These men are boxers and wrestlers and the best of friends, but any affection they may bear each other was lost sight of in their efforts last night to be returned the winner. No time was lost from the very beginning and they slugged each other, with McCarthy having a decided advantage in the first round, and at the end of this session Carter went to his corner wobbling as the result of hard right and left swings to either side of the head.

Neither of these men has much boxing skill, but they are hard hitters and willing mixers. As boxers, McCarthy seems to have the better idea and he resorted to a greater variety of blows. The only criticism that might be passed of this bout is that there was too much clinching and at times it was somewhat difficult to keep the men from hitting with one hand while they were holding tightly with the other, probably due to inexperience and excitement.

Had Lew Ryall of Philadelphia, boxing Charley Leyh of St. Louis, been able to hold the pace set by him in the early rounds of this eight round bout, he might have been returned the winner, but he tired after the sixth and from then on did but little else than defensive work. He is a better boxer than Leyh, but lacks the stamina. Then, too, in the early part of the bout Ryall had to be cautioned for doing some hitting while holding, but after that he was a close observer of the rules and gave no further trouble.

Ryall's best work was done in the third, fourth and fifth rounds, and in the latter he forced Leyh to the floor, claiming foul, but this was disallowed. Leyh came very strong in the seventh and eighth rounds, after holding his own in the sixth, and earned a draw.

Joe Whitney and Tommy Belrose boxed a six-round draw in the preliminary. There was probably more science displayed in this bout than in any of the evening, though both boys are beginners at the game. Belrose is a little more clever of the two, but Whitney hits the hardest and cleanest blows and is very aggressive. Belrose displayed a good left jab, while Whitney uses a hard right cross counter, and when his judgment of distance is better he will be a dangerous

SNOW STORM TO BALK TRAINING PLAN OF BROWNS

Stovall Had Ordered Men to Get to Work This Afternoon at Local Park.

Delayed several hours, the Browns arrived in St. Louis today from a three weeks' sojourn in Texas, to find it snowing heavily and rendering it impossible to do the expected outdoor training. Manager Stovall had, the night before, ordered all hands to report to Sportsman's Park, Wednesday afternoon, for a workout. In the present condition of the grounds any sort of work there, even under the stand, will be impossible. Arrangements may be made to condition the team in the Coliseum, the First Regiment Armory or a gymnasium, if the snowfall persists.

President Hedges of the Browns stated at noon that tarpaulins had been stretched over the diamond and baselines after the snow had been swept off, so that the moment the snow ceases to fall the playing field will be ready for use.

As yet no plans for the spring series have been altered, according to President Hedges, despite the unpromising outlook. Said he this morning:

"It is impossible for me to say whether we will have to call off the series or not because of the weather. If this flurry stops with today we will be able to go ahead with our plans as arranged. If not we may have to consider postponement. That's up to developments. There will be no conference held today to consider postponing the opening Saturday."

An order to report for afternoon practice immediately following their arrival in St. Louis, was given by Manager Stovall last night, but a glimpse of this morning's weather banished all hope of that.

Stovall brought back 33 players, that number being two less than the squad he has had working in Texas. Elmer Casey and John Stucker, infielders, have been the only men released to date. The manager will whack off more heads, but all hands will likely remain in camp until the spring series with the Cardinals is finished.

Jack Johnston, the speedy youngster from the Montgomery (Southern Association) team, Dee Walsh, the St. Louis kid, and Fred Graff, who hails from the Richmond (Virginia League) team, form a trio of youngsters who have won jobs.

If they do not show a complete reversal of form to that displayed during the different practice sessions and exhibition games in the South they will hang on definitely.

Johnston looks the best of the new outfielders picked up by Stovall. He has had more experience than Ernest Walker, Yale Y. Sloan from Bristol, Tenn. Walker will be retained in case Pietro Compton and Luther Bonin fail to show that their injured legs are O K.

Infielders Are Poor Hitters.

Walsh and Graff, infielders, are fielding demons. Both were poor hitters in their respective leagues last season, but in a defensive way they have shown so much that they can be carried along, even though bingling lightly.

Stovall has not had an opportunity to size up the Indian, Mike Balenti, who in the South is regarded as a superior ball tosser to Dee Walsh, both having played in the same league last season. Mike joined the team only a couple days before stakes were pulled in Texas. He comes too highly recommended to cut loose without a thorough trial. So he'll tarry until he proves that he is not of big league caliber.

"Red" Roche, the other St. Louis kid in Stovall's party, promises to become a great ballplayer. With only a season or two in the Trolley League, he displays more real baseball knowledge than a lot of men who come up from leagues in organized baseball.

It also appears that Stovall has picked up other worthy additions to his twirling staff in the South—Walter Leverenz, from the coast and Right-Hander Dwight Stone, a John G. McCloskey protege. Leverenz hasn't cut loose as much as Stone, who may get a whack at the Cardinals.

the work of Sam Agnew and Bill McAllester, the newest catchers, to cause Stovall to announce that they would be carried all season along with Walter Alexander and Frank Crossin, the holdovers from last season. In Agnew especially the Browns have a valuable addition to the backstop department. McAllester also threatens to get into his share of the games.

"To me my ball club looks a whole lot stronger than it did last season. We have an improved catching staff while the twirlers are bound to go better. Shotton and Williams should both play speedier ball than they did in 1912, while Johnston looks like he'll be a good man in left field provided Compton or Bonin are unable to perform there. The infield may line up the same as it did last season."

Bob Wallace is still the Browns' shortstop, despite the fact that he's starting his eighteenth season as a big leaguer. And he'll likely inaugurate his eighteenth year against the Cardinals next Saturday. Wallace is complaining slightly of a pair of sore legs, but they are not bad enough to keep him out. It is hardly possible that Manager Stovall will test Dee Walsh in the spring series.

The lone changes in the Brownie team that opposes the Cardinals this spring and the one that lined up against the Bresnahan gang last October will be found in left field and behind the bat. Jack Johnston is almost certain of playing in the pasture alongside of Shotton and Williams. Then Agnew or McAllester may make their St. Louis [illegible]

SPORT SALAD

BY L. C. DAVIS.

AS USUAL.

ONLY three more days, dear brother,
Then the battle will begin;
You can bet your bottom dollar
Old St. Louie's going to win.

Being in the wall paper business, Hickory Bob Harmon has been selected to hang it on the Browns next Saturday.

You poor, bruised and battered Brownies! Now, after this you keep away from those rude Texas boys and don't play with them any more.

Well, in light of the many untoward events that have attended the Cardinals' spring training thus far, Roger Bresnahan will have the satisfaction of knowing that he wasn't the hoodoo that has been camping on the Cards' trail for the last year or two.

The Browns express general dissatisfaction in regard to their training trip. It is pretty tough to have to get up at 7 o'clock in the morning, eat breakfast at 9 and go to work at 10.

The Browns, it seems, were beaten because they could not connect with the curves of the Texas League pitchers, but they should have no trouble solving the slants of such bush rangers as Bob Harmon and "Slim" Sallee.

Archer Signs for Four Years, Salary $6000

CHICAGO, March 26.—James Archer signed a four-year contract as catcher of the Chicago National team yesterday afternoon. Archer has been holding out for a salary of $7500 and while neither he nor President Murphy would say at what stipend he signed it was reported that a compromise at $6000 was effected.

Both Murphy and Archer declared they were very well satisfied with their agreement.

BENSON AND SIMONS WIN FROM PETERSON'S TEAM

Frank Benson and Johnny Simons, by winning the final block of the 200-point three-cushion billiard match with Pedro Maupome and Tommy Carter, at the Rex Hall, Tuesday night, score 50 to 44, pull down the change for the total score in the event and take something like a $300 stake.

MIKE BALENTI A GOOD INDIAN, BUT NOT A 'DEAD ONE'

Browns' Recruit Infielder, on Showing at Chattanooga, Due to Remain Here.

MICHAEL RICHARD BALENTI, a real son of Uncle Sam, who came home with the Browns and who is prepared to take away Roderick John Wallace's job as shortstop, is a real Cheyenne Indian. He came all the way from Kasaan, Alaska, to join the seventh placers. He departed from that spot a week ago last Tuesday and has been on the road ever since.

Although a member of the tribe which makes its home in Oklahoma, Mike went to Alaska because that's the home of Mrs. Mike's tribe. He married her as the culmination of a romance which began at Carlisle, where they were students. Mike brought Mrs. Mike and Michael John, his son, to Eldorado, Ok., on his journey to Dallas.

This redskin (he is not as copper colored as most Indians in Buffalo Bill's show) has a good chance of making good with the Browns. By Southern League teams he's regarded as a superior fielder to Dee Walsh and Dee has certainly made good in that line with the Browns. As a batter he's far superior to the St. Louis kid, having hit .288 with the Chattanooga team last season.

Earned Spurs at Carlisle.

Balenti, when he joined the Browns had not played any baseball since last September, but he's in good physical shape, the result of a winter's fishing for salmon in Alaska. The newest Brownie is a tall and wiry man of 25 summers, with trim ankles, indicating that he's made for speed, which was demonstrated several years ago, when he won his spurs as quarterback of Glenn Warner's Carlisle football eleven. He is fast, as he demonstrated in several track meets, where he clipped off the 100 yards in 10 2-5s.

Graduated From Carlisle.

Balenti has been playing professional baseball since 1909, when he was graduated from Carlisle. After receiving his sheepskin, he joined the Dayton (Central League) team, but got off to a bad start and was released. He then joined the Eldorado (Western Association) team because it was near his home and people. Later he was with the Savannah team, and was grabbed by Clark Griffith, then manager of the Cincinnati Reds. That was in the fall of 1911, and Balenti played in only 14 innings in three months with the team. That proved that he did not receive a fair trial under Griff or he might not be with the Browns today. Griff sent him to Chattanooga, where he started, and is now ready to try for a job on the Browns' infield.

"I would like to play regularly with the Browns, as I have been in St. Louis more than once and like the town," said Balenti to the Post-Dispatch on his arrival in Dallas today.

Leach Cross a Dangerous Foe for Joe Rivers

NEW YORK, March 26.—When Joe Rivers and Leach Cross meet here in their return match in a few days, one of two championship factors is apt to be eliminated from the lightweight title race.

Cross recently gained additional prominence, this time of a near-championship nature, by knocking out Joe Mandot, in the latter's home city, New Orleans, after having the worst of the bout for eight rounds.

Rivers is considered the most dangerous lightweight of his time, not even excepting Willie Ritchie, whose dubious winning of the title on a foul and subsequent failure to defend his honors have given him but little standing with the fight fans of the country.

Leach and Rivers met before at New York and the result was a wonderful battle in which both men were going to it strong. Rivers had the shade, but he knew he had been to a bout.

Cross is a resourceful, tricky fox and it is hard to tell when he is stalling and when he is hurt. It was this wily ruse that earned him a chance to cop Mandot at New Orleans. Outside of that he is a clever, experienced fighter of 29 years of age and will have a good chance with any of them.

WRAY'S COLUMN

They're After Baseball Again.

ORGANIZED baseball is getting into hot water again, although we will do it justice to say that it is not because of cold feet. Frigiditis of the foundation was never a trouble with Ban Johnson and Garry Herrmann, whatever other faults they may own.

Just now the following caloric units are contributing to boost the baseball mercury:

Four independent leagues now in process of forming.

The outlaw leagues' threat to attack the reserve clause.

The Covington Club's damage suit, for being prevented from putting in a Blue Grass League club.

Possibility that members of the Players Union will jump to the independent leagues.

Minor clouds on the baseball horizon that might bear mentioning are: The move to abolish 25-cent seats, Charles Webb Murphy and the possibility that something may intervene to prevent a St. Louis team from copping the pennant.

Nat. Comish Should Worry.

ORGANIZED baseball has been up against all of these conditions before, with the exception of the damage suit, and it has never yet had cause to use a mustard plaster to induce circulation in its pedal extremities. Even the handicap of a C. W. Murphy has not aroused it from its apathy, beyond a casual admonition or two when the gentleman's racket interrupted the snoring of the National Commission.

Opposition's Attack Weak.

IMMUNITY, however, has been enjoyed largely because there never has been a live wire or a sufficiently venomous antagonist to go after baseball industriously. But however baseball may delude itself, it IS vulnerable and its system should be remodeled.

If it is a "trust," it is a mild sort of one and at present is really in the interest of the players themselves, in many particulars. But that it could be operated without the 10 days' clause, the reserve clause and a great deal more in the interest of fans and players than it now is, none can doubt.

Baseball is merely delaying its day of reckoning; the course to pursue is to show the way to the inevitable changes, not wait to be led up to them and forced into making them.

On Dangerous Ice.

THAT suit at Covington, if prosecuted vigorously, contains the germ of something that will make the organized game fly to the hot footbath. It will supply ammunition for the threatened congressional investigation.

There is little doubt that such a trial, if the judge permitted the slightest rambling from the exact point at issue, could lead to disclosures such as would attract the attention of soreheads or enemies of the game and lead to an investigation of a general nature.

And however beneficent the operations of organized baseball may seem to its leaders, it is hard for the man on the outside not to believe that the silent blacklist, the restrictions placed upon the disposal of individual services, the absolute barter and traffic in players and the hostile front that all independent organizations in competition with National Agreement clubs face would cause adverse action against the organized game.

If the foundation of organized baseball is no more solid than its players' contract, the entire game is built on thin ice.

Whelan, Man Who May Fill Hauser's Shoes, Managed Indian Ball Team

JAMES FRANK WHELAN, understudy for the Cardinals' shortstop berth, is 22 years old, weighs 168 pounds, stands 5 feet 8 inches in height and is an Irishman. Furthermore, he, says, Whelan and not Whalen is the correct Gaelic spelling of his father's tribe. He goes further and deponeth that Whelan or Whalen has its derivation in Phelan, the real Irish moniker—which is immaterial and irrelevant.

Jimmy is to tarry with the Cardinals, because he looks better making errors than the other recruits do pulling sensational fielding feats. He has the style and the demeanor of a finished performer, although his baseball career to date has been short but snappy. Four years ago he quit the City League in Kansas City to play with the Junction City (Central Kansas League) club. One year was enough for him in Junction City. He was sold to Hannibal, but refused to report.

Instead he became a manager, taking the reins of the Cheyenne Indians, a free lance nine that then was much in demand. His monthly allowance for managing the Indians was $300, while he cut in on a part of the profits at the close of the campaign. He won two championships as manager of the Indians, making bigger money than many major League performers.

In July of 1911 he went to Minneapolis and stayed there until June of 1912, when he was released to John McCloskey's Ogden (Union Association) club. He collected a batting average of .354 for 91 games and swiped 37 bases. For this he was sold to the Cardinals. Manager Huggins intends to retain him.

Whelan can hit. He's built along the lines of Frank Acker, the famed football player of Eddie Cochems' 1907 St. Louis U. team. He's chunky, but can outsprint such men as Oakes and Evans, who are taller and better proportioned. He looks like a find.

Has a Championship Whip.

A year ago Whelan won the long-distance throwing contest in the baseball field day at Salt Lake City, Utah. He competed against the pick of the tossers in the Pacific Northwest, and won going away.

He has the underhand throw, so essential to an infielder, down to perfection, but he shows such great hitting ability that Manager Huggins may soon give him a trial in the outfield when Hauser recovers. Hug needs an outfielder who can hit and throw men out at the plate. Whelan threatens to do both.

For a kid of 22 summers, he assays more "grit" to the square inch than any man on the club. Whelan isn't noisy and brazen, like George Bostick Whitted, the adolescent fighter, who is bidding for Mowrey's job. Jimmy is a silent worker, who walks into the "fast ones" with the abandon of a Wagner or a Cobb. He fears no pitcher.

He has managed a club and he "works for the boss." He's all attention when Hug issues a command, and for this reason he has registered a huge hit. It will not be a surprise if he's a regular before the pennant is awarded in Lynch's league.

Wire From Connery Says Cardinals Are All O K

HERRMANN SEEKAMP, treasurer of the St. Louis Cardinals, this morning received a wire from Scout Bob Connery, who is in charge of the squad at Indianapolis, in the absence of Miller Huggins. It stated:

"No train out of here today. Telephone wires down, can't reach Huggins at Cincinnati. Suits lost in ball park flood. Have made arrangements to train at Armory here until we can leave. Everybody O K."

Seekamp stated that he had found one railroad with a terminus outside of Indianapolis and which expects to run a train to St. Louis, which he thought the players might connect with by auto. He wired them to do so if possible and the squad has a chance to quit the deluged city tonight.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

CARDS WILL COME HOME WHEN TRAIN SERVICE PERMITS

Evans Phones Secretary Seekamp Attempt to Depart Tuesday Was Failure.

Treasurer Herrmann Seekamp of the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday evening received a phone message from Steve Evans at Indianapolis stating that the Cardinals were temporarily marooned in that city and would return home as soon as the railroad service permitted.

Evans stated that the players had attempted to take the 3 o'clock train from that city and had gone to the station with their personal baggage, only to find the railroad company would not budge a train over the road under the unsettled conditions.

Evans said that the flood in Indianapolis had covered the baseball park with four feet of water. Attempts were made to rescue the uniforms and playing paraphernalia of the team by means of rowboats, but these came to nothing, as the flood was too deep.

Little Chance to Return.

Evans stated that the ticket agent at Indianapolis said he had no idea when they would be able to move a train, on account of the washouts and weakened condition of bridges along the line.

The enforced stay in Indianapolis is bad for the men, Evans declared, as they are all nervous and wrough up over the many mishaps the club has experienced. The men have not touched a glove since leaving Chattanooga and are losing the benefit of what little conditioning they obtained in the South.

If the team is forced to remain in Indianapolis, Evans said, they would make arrangements Wednesday to work out at the Y. M. C. A. to keep from stiffening.

No Word From Huggins.

Miller Huggins, Evans declared, is still absent and the men have not been able to get even a wire or phone message to him. Huggins is in Cincinnati, where he went to round up the missing Catcher McLean. He has not been heard of since his departure from Indianapolis, according to Evans. He, like his team, may be marooned.

CHICAGO CUE AMATEURS WIN BALKLINE MATCHES

PHILADELPHIA, March 26.—Chicago's representatives, Percy Collins and Charles F. Conklin, were the winners in two sensational matches which marked the second day of the class A amateur championship tournament of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players yesterday in the Union League.

The former defeated Dr. Walter E. Uffenheimer of this city in a closely contested game in the afternoon by a score of 400 to 382, while Conklin won the evening game, defeating the Pacific Coast champion, Wilkie C. Duniway of Portland, Ore., 400 to 339.

Circulation

of the POST-DISPATCH is responsible for the supremacy it holds over all other newspapers in its advertising field.

January and February are not big months, but see how the POST-DISPATCH overwhelmed all the other St. Louis papers in the volume of legitimate, bona fide paid advertising (less contract city legal) carried during these two months.

Agate lines:

POST-DISPATCH	1,685,880
Globe-Democrat	1,036,200
Republic	768,600
Times	746,700
Star	443,700

The largest percentage of results, at the lowest possible percentage of cost, is the prime reason for the popularity of the POST-DISPATCH over all other papers in its field.

MANY ST. LOUISANS ASK POST-DISPATCH FOR FLOOD NEWS

Call at Newspaper Office and Use Telephone to Inquire About Relations.

The Post-Dispatch was besieged Wednesday by persons living in St. Louis and vicinity inquiring about relatives in the flooded districts of Ohio and Indiana. Many visited the Post-Dispatch office personally to get any information that was furnished by press telegrams, and others telephoned asking that they be notified if any information is received concerning the whereabouts of relatives or friends whose names they gave.

Charles F. Pflanze, president of the Envelope Manufacturing Co., 214 Chestnut street, made inquiry as to the safety of Henry L. Newell, manager of the American Envelope Co., who lives at West Carrollton, O., a suburb of Dayton.

Friends are anxious to know whether Mrs. Beulah Luehrs and her 2-year-old son, Paul, of St. Louis, are safe in the flooded district. They are visiting Mrs. May Black at Dayton.

R. G. Whitelaw of the Sabin Robbins Paper Co., 218 Walnut street, made inquiry as to the safety of his two sons and three friends at Middleton, O., a suburb of Dayton. His sons are Donald and Robert Whitelaw. He also asked about Sadin Robbins, head of the company he represents, and the families of Val Doench and Jack Stapleton.

William Carpenter of 8919 Newly street, Baden, asked for information concerning the safety of his mother, Mrs. Julia Carpenter, and his uncle, Thomas Young, both of whom live in Dayton.

William Minnich, 5818 Westminster place, made inquiry of the whereabouts of his mother, Mrs. Louis Nestor, his stepfather, Louis Nestor, and his grandmother, Mrs. Mathilda Merkle, in the flooded districts of the city.

SQUIRRELS GNAW CABLES

Phone Service Damaged When They Hunt Wax Incasing Wires.

SALINA, Kan., March 26.—Squirrels have done hundreds of dollars' damage to the telephone system here during the past winter by gnawing holes in the lead cables to get at the wax which incases the wires inside. It is believed that some of the squirrels got a taste of the wax while linemen were stringing new cables and, liking the taste, gnawed holes to get more.

Through the holes moisture got into the cables and short-circuited the wires, putting many of the telephones out of service and causing a heavy expense to the company for repairs.

E. G. LEWIS IS TO ANSWER CRITICS THURSDAY NIGHT

Promises to Tell Voters Status of $25,000 Funds Voted for Improvements.

While Mayor E. G. Lewis was presiding for the last time over the Board of Aldermen of University City Tuesday evening, two of the three candidates to suceed him were holding meetings in furtherance of their candidacy.

W. L. Meakin, who is running as an anti-Lewis candidate, addressed about 150 voters at the Park Hotel. August Heman, president of the Hemen Construction Co., who lives in Parkview and who is said by his opponents to be a Lewis man but denies it, was holding forth at the same time in a hall at 6618 Olive Street road.

Mayor Lewis announced that Thursday night he will make a speech and answer the allegations brought against him by Meakin and the third mayoralty candidate, Charles J. Cornwell.

Wants to Know Where Money Is.

Some years ago the voters of University City voted a bond issue of $25,000 to bridge the River des Peres at the 6600 crossing. The bonds were sold and the money deposited with the People's Saving Trust Co., one of the Lewis institutions. None of it was expended for the purpose intended, the funds being tied up in a receivership.

Dorsey Jamison, in a speech, asked what had become of that money. Lewis supporters, it is said, have claimed that it was converted into a special fund, but Receiver Matt G. Reynolds of the Lewis properties has been quoted as saying that there is no special fund, but that everything was lumped and creditors would be paid about 50 cents on the dollar.

Hoped for Harmony.

Lewis was in Los Angeles when, several weeks ago, his friends urged him to run for re-election. He telegraphed his brother, John Lewis, that he could not leave his business interests in California in time to make the race, but he hoped harmony would prevail.

Heman told his hearers Tuesday night that he is not running as the administration candidate, nor for any other faction, but is in the race for harmony's sake.

Heman was nominated by a Lewis committee, being called from his bed at 10 p. m. on the last day for the filing of candidates' petitions.

WEATHER MAN TO SPEAK

Prof. Moore to Take Lecture Platform After Retiring.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Prof. Willis L. Moore, chief of the Weather Bureau, who retires July 31, is to go on the lecture platform. He announced today that he had received a number of offers to speak on meteorological subjects and that he had practically decided to accept.

The weather expert will not take the stump until autumn, however, for he is the possessor of a farm in Maryland, within sight of the national capital, which will occupy his time until late in the summer.

ENGLISH OFFICER HANGED

ALLAHABAD, British India, March 26.—Lieut. Clark of the Indian Army Medical Department was hanged here today for the murder of Fulham, an examiner of military accounts, of which he was convicted on March 1 by the Superior Court at Agra.

He died without flinching and did not speak while on the scaffold. He was buried in the military cemetery of the garrison, an army chaplain officiating.

Know Col. Roosevelt as He Knows Himself.

To do this, you must read the Colonel's own story of his life. No man within the last quarter of a century has made so much history as he. His autobiography will be his own story, and give hitherto unpublished facts. The Sunday Post-Dispatch is the only St. Louis paper that will be permitted to print Col. Roosevelt's Own Story. The first installment starts in next Sunday's Post-Dispatch. Order your copy now.

Pope Better, Celebrates Mass.

ROME, March 26.—Pope Pius X celebrated mass early this morning. He administered the communion to the servants of the household. The physicians in attendance expressed satisfaction with his condition. They, however, advised him to maintain caution. It was decided that on April 3 the Pope would receive some of the bishops and on April 4 give his first collective audience since he was taken ill.

SUFFRAGISTS FROM 16 STATES PLAN TO WIN IN MISSOURI

Gauntlet Thrown Down by State Senate to Be Picked Up by Leaders Here in April.

NOTED SPEAKERS COMING

Petitions for Constitutional Amendment Giving Suffrage Are Started in Missouri.

The fight is on!

When the Missouri State Senators defeated the bill to submit a suffrage amendment to the voters, they threw down the gauntlet to the suffragettes of the whole country. The women have accepted the challenge and are hurrying to Missouri from 16 different states.

And the Senators would better take to the woods. For in their trail are "Clean-'em-up" Brooks, "Plaster" Crane and "Backbone" McCulloch. When "Clean-'em-up," "Plaster" and "Backbone" get after a Senator, all at the same time, that Senator would better run fast.

Of course the invading foes would have come to Missouri anyhow, for a peaceable conference, but not so fast nor so furiously as they are now coming, after the trick that they say the State Legislature played on them. In announcements sent out from the state headquarters of the suffragettes in the Syndicate Trust Building of the Mississippi Valley Conference to be held in St. Louis April 2 and 3, the identity of "Clean-'em-up" Brooks, "Plaster" Crane and "Backbone" McCulloch is revealed.

Is Catherine Waugh McCulloch.

The announcements explain that Catherine Waugh McCulloch has earned the right to be called "one of our suffrage backbones," because of her outdoor talking campaigns. She is a lawyer in Evanston, Ill., and was the first woman Justice of Peace in the United States.

"Plaster" Crane is Dr. Caroline Bartlett Crane of Michigan. The official announcement says: "Dr. Caroline Bartlett Crane, who has been called the Municipal Doctor, will come from Michigan to bring some suffrage adhesive plaster." The plaster, suffragettes explain, is to make State legislators stick when they promise to support a suffrage amendment.

"Eat-em-up" Brooks is Miss Virginia Brooks, who conducted an anti-vice crusade in Hammond, Ind. The official announcement is not overly enlightening on her exact identity. It merely says: "The talked of Miss Brooks, the city scavenger or clean-up, will be here."

Other Leaders at Conference.

Other women who will be here for the conference, which will last two days and will be followed on the third day, April 4, by the Missouri State convention, are the following presidents of State suffrage associations: Grace Wilbur Trout, Illinois; Harriet Taylor Upton, Ohio; Clara B. Arthur, Michigan; Alice A. Hall, Minnesota; Mrs. Henry Youmans, Wisconsin; Anna Dunn Noland, Indiana; Dr. Amelia Keller, Indiana, Equal Franchise League; Mrs. Desha Breckenridge, Kansas; Sarah B. Elliott, Lilly W. Thompson, Mississippi; Pathe R. Jacobs, Alabama; Mary A. Safford, Iowa; Lucy B. Johnston, Kansa ; Adelia S. Stephens, Oklahoma; Henrietta I. Smith, Nevada; Kate Gordon, Louisiana; Nannie I. Pyle, South Dakota; Edna Gellhorn, Missouri; Flora E. Worthington, Ohio Equal Franchise League.

The convention will consider chiefly plans for getting a suffrage amendment before the voters of Missouri and for making it a winner when it is submitted.

Work on Petitions Has Begun.

Already the work of getting signatures to petitions for an amendment has been begun. As soon as it was determined that the Legislature would not pass the bill Mrs. D. W. Knefler, manager of the campaign, circulated petitions among the friends of suffrage in the Legislature, getting first the Representative's or Senator's name on the petition that is to go into his county or district.

The suffragists will have to get 38,000 voters to sign the petitions, but as they have more than a year and a half in which to do this, they do not think the task will be hard. The petitions must be filed with the Secretary of State in June, 1914, to have the amendment submitted at the State election in November, 1914.

Methods for distributing the petitions and getting signers will be discussed at the State convention.

Two of the prominent speakers at the conference will be Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout, president of the Illinois Equal Suffrage Association, and Mrs. Elvira Downey, past president of the Illinois association.

Deems, 720 Olive Street,

April 30, will present a solid gold Fountain Pen to the holder making the most words from the sentence:

DEEMS, The Letter Man.

Out of Work, Swallows Poison.

Despondent, the police say, because of lack of work, Chester Berger, 22 years old, machinist, married, attempted to end his life at the home of his parents, 6551 Manchester avenue, at 5 p. m., Tuesday by swallowing mercury tablets. Dr. P. W. Upshaw of 6621 Manchester avenue attended him and pronounced him out of danger.

Montenegro Defers to Austria.

LONDON, March 26.—Montenegro has conceded all the demands of Austria-Hungary. Montenegrin delegates told Essad Pasha, commander at Scutari, that the civilian population is allowed to leave the city. Both Austria and Italy will send relief steamers to assist those marching out.

'NO QUARTER' IS THE CRY RAISED AT CANANEA

2000 State Troops Besiege 350 Federals Who Refuse to Surrender.

NACO, Ariz., March 26.—Hostilities were resumed at Cananea at 2 o'clock Tuesday and furious fighting continued long after nightfall. Peace negotiations failed through a disagreement over conditions. Col. Moreno notified the State troops of his final refusal to surrender. Each side announced that no quarter will be given.

The State forces, reinforced by groups from the Naco district, number nearly 2000, and are attacking the 350 Federals of the garrison from all sides. The fire is reported as terrific over wires which late last night were put in operation. The afternoon's loss was not stated, but it was said that the number of killed already greatly exceeded that of Monday's all-day battle.

Both Sides Massacre Prisoners In District Between Jiminez and Parrall.

EL PASO, Texas, March 26.—Wholesale slaughter of prisoners and civilians suspected of sentiments in opposition to their captors, is taking place along the branch line of the Mexican Central Railroad between Jiminez and Parrall, north of Chihuahua City, according to reports of refugees here.

State troops and Huerta forces are vieing in the slaughter, say the refugees.

The killing began after the State insurgent troops captured Santa Barbara and executed Federal prisoners.

SEVEN WOMEN ARE NAMED IN CROSS BILL OF WIFE

Mrs. Sarah J. Newman, in a motion filed in Judge McQuillin's division of the Circuit Court Wednesday, asks for equal custody with her husband, W. E. Newman, of their child, Helen, 12 years old. Newman is suing his wife for a divorce. At the time of their separation, Aug 31, 1912, they lived at 3128 Lafayette avenue.

Mrs. Newman alleges that her husband has placed Helen in the Loretto Academy at Florissant and that under his directions the officials there have refused her the privilege of seeing the girl. She also asks that her 19-year-old daughter, Laura Newman, who lives with her, be permitted to visit Helen.

Mrs. Newman, in her cross bill, mentioned the names of seven women with whom she alleges her husband was friendly. She claims he was cold and indifferent toward her, but that he showed great affection for their women boarders and domestics.

Newman says his wife is unduly jealous, that she has made false accusations against him.

STOCKS DRIFT LOWER IN A QUIET MARKET

Crippled Wire Service Checks Trading; London List Is Firm.

NEW YORK, March 26.

Stocks were quiet and firm in the early market today. The London market also was steady. Domestic wire service was badly crippled by storm.

Reading stock has been quiet, but has shown more stability and, in fact, is better behaved all around than the balance of the list. The forecasts of earnings indicate that the 8 per cent dividend was earned in the first eight months of the fiscal year. The coal traffic is lessening in volume, however, and the balance of the fiscal year may see a material falling off in revenue from this source, so that the final surplus at the end of June will not be so great as might be thought from the totals of the first eight months.

Since Baltimore & Ohio shares were forced just below par, there has been good buying. The February gross earnings were $531,000 in excess of those one year ago, but operating expenses, maintenance of equipment and transportation expenses increased so greatly that the net gain for the month was reduced to $28,711. The transportation expenses item showed the largest increase, being $331,000, and this represents increased wages very largely. B. & O. will be in a better position this summer, however, to cut down its expense account when the appropriations from the new money just borrowed begin to show their effects. The stock looks to have been pretty well liquidated.

The present indications point to Great Northern showing for the full fiscal year ended June 30 next gross earnings $10,000,000 in excess of the previous fiscal year. The first eight months to Feb. 28 gave a gross gain of $8,500,000, and it is estimated that the road at the end of January had already earned its full dividend for the year, leaving all surplus after that applicable to improvements and betterments, though the company is already largely in funds for such purposes by the sale of the $21,000,000 new stock a few months ago and on which subscriptions of 40 per cent have already been paid.

St. Paul & Great Northern are setting a rapid pace in the Northwest, and it is going to take a big pile of capital to finance the growing needs of these systems, but the territory is so rich, both in actual present business and future possibilities, that the return on any new capital enlisted will be extremely liberal.

In St. Louis district.

The Missouri from Kansas City to the mouth of the Osage will not change much; below the mouth of the Osage it will rise. The Illinois and the Mississippi from Hannibal to St. Louis will rise.

The river at St. Louis will continue to rise at a moderate rate; water now in sight indicates a stage slightly in excess of 27 feet Thursday night or Friday; with rain and snow continuing the maximum stage cannot be forecast now, but it probably will not be much in excess of 27 feet.

COMMERCE IS LOWER ON THE DIVIDEND CUT

Stock Drops 2 Points to $138.50; Other Issues Show No Wide Changes.

ST. LOUIS CLEARING HOUSE.

	Clearings.	Balances.
Today	$10,314,485	$ 777,890
Last week	14,913,707	1,287,696
Decrease	$4,599,222	$509,806

National Bank of Commerce stock sold $2 per share lower at the early Stock Exchange session Wednesday, following the announcement that the dividend was to be reduced from 10 to 8 per cent after the payment of the quarterly dividend on April 1 at the recent rate of 2½ per cent.

Early sales of the security were made at $142 and $142.50, against $140 at the preceding session, but selling orders quickly depressed the price to $138.50 and closing bids were at $138 and offers at $138.75.

"Your board, by unanimous vote, has deemed it wise to reduce dividends hereafter to the rate of 8 per cent per annum, in order that we may have a considerable amount with which to build up an increased reserve of undivided profits to the amount of at least $1,000,000 more than we had Jan. 1, 1913. We believe we will be able to do this in a reasonably short time."

The statement was signed by B. F. Edwards, president; J. A. Lewis, cashier; E. C. Simmons, chairman of the Discount Committee, and James Campbell, acting chairman of the Executive Committee.

The demand for other stocks was light throughout the early session and price changes were unimportant. The traction shares were about steady, despite the limited demand. Bonds were steady on the issues quoted. The miscellaneous list showed no important changes from the preceding session.

National Bank of Commerce sold from $139 to $138 and back to $138.50 at the second session. Other issues were quiet.

Local Money Market.

One of the features of the market during the past few days has been the very vigorous call for funds from Chicago and Eastern money markets. Probably this element as much as anything else has been responsible for the continued firmness, and the fact that in some instances the banks and trust companies of St. Louis have been disposed to advance interest rates on borrowing customers. Deposits have held up very well, everything considered, but there is a good deal of currency required in some parts of the Southwest this spring, providing planting conditions are more encouraging later on.

Wheat prices favored the bull traders Wednesday, cold wintry weather over the growing winter wheat belt, following too much moisture in certain sections, acting as the force back of the buying. Weak cables, following unconfirmed reports of the fall of Adrianople, were ignored by the traders.

Corn futures also reflected some buying, owing to the weather and lighter receipts. Oats were higher in sympathy.

Broomhall's Liverpool cable said: "The wheat market opened under moderate pressure, and prices unchanged to ⅜d lower as a result of lower American cables yesterday and easier closing at Buenos Ayres. There is a smaller general inquiry and Plate offers are liberal and at a slight decline. During the morning shorts in March covered, and this month advanced ⅜d on the scarcity of near-at-hand offers, disappointing stocks and prominent interests supporting the market.

"Corn opened at a decline of ⅛d, and further declined ⅛d with some pressure. The Plate grade was affected by larger and cheaper Plate and American offers, with a smaller spot demand.

Liverpool wheat futures closed ⅛d lower. Antwerp wheat ⅜c lower; Berlin, ½c lower, and Budapest, 1¾c lower. The latter compared with Thursday.

Minneapolis wheat cars totaled 115; last week, 294; last year, 143. Duluth had 46, against 38 and 11. Winnipeg 294, against 284 and 218. Minneapolis wheat stocks increased 150,000 bu for four days.

Total primary wheat receipts were 340,000 bu, against 294,000 bu last year. Shipments 563,000 bu, against 318,000 bu last year. Corn receipts, 447,000 bu, against 595,000 bu last year. Shipments, 411,000 bu, against 468,000 bu. Oats receipts, 518,000 bu, against 573,000 bu. Shipments, 657,000 bu.

Chicago reported 30,000 bu No. 2 hard winter wheat sold ½c under May price in store.

Chicago wired: "We offered some Chicago No. 1 Northern spring wheat abroad last night to test the market equal to 89½ f. o. b. Chicago, and our Liverpool house cabled that there are resellers there at equal to 1½c per bu under our price.

Bradstreet's in detail showed: Wheat, United States and East Rockies, decrease 2,012,000; United States and West, increase 104,000; Canada, decrease 304,000; United States and Canada, decrease 2,212,000; afloat and in Europe, decrease 1,600,000. COMIC PAGE VAUDEVILLE

from the Passing Show of 1912. (Shubert March 30.)

WILLIE HOWARD

INSPECTOR: Well, young man, where did you come from?

Valet: Oh, I just came off from the boat.

Inspector: Well, where are your papers?

Valet: I haven't the papers, but I have the makings.

Inspector: You're pretty fresh, aren't you?

Valet: Fresh! Say, in my country that would be an insult.

Inspector: Well (raising his fist).

Valet: Well, I'm not in my country.

Inspector: Say, do you know who you are talking to?

Valet: No! Who are you?

Inspector: Well, I'm the Inspector here and a son of Uncle Sam.

Valet: Oh, you're a son of your Uncle Sam? You must be your own cousin.

Inspector: You know her well; who do you mean?

Valet: Emma Grant.

Inspector: Look here; what have you to declare?

Valet: I'm all right.

Valet: I'm all right, I declare.

INSPECTOR: Get out your trunks.

Valet: Where are we going—swimming?

Inspector: Not swimming trunks; I've got to put a duty on your trunks.

Valet: What for?

Inspector: It's my duty.

Valet: I thought that went to the Government.

Inspector: It does go to the Government.

Valet: You just said it was your duty.

Inspector: Never mind now; you've got to pay or you can't stay in the country.

Valet: Well, to tell you the truth, Mr. Expector, I'd much rather stay in the city. I don't like the country.

Inspector: Well, you've got to pay.

Valet: This is a regular street car, ain't it? Pay as you enter. I thought this was a free country.

Inspector: It is free. Every man here is equal.

Valet: Yes, equal to anything. If it's a free country, is the food free?

Inspector: Of course not.

Valet: Well, I should say it isn't. Everything here is very expensive.

Inspector: Yes, the price of food is rather high. Why, do you know it costs me $5000 a year to live?

Valet: Five thousand a year to live? It ain't worth it!

Inspector: You seem to be a bright sort of chap. Some day you'll have a chance to become a great man.

INSPECTOR: Now, you'll have to answer me a few questions before I can let you pass.

Valet: Fire away!

Inspector: What's your name?

Valet: The same as my father's.

Inspector: I know it is, but what's your father's name?

Valet: The same as mine.

Valet: Yes, I'm a Lehigh Valley.

Inspector: All right. Now, what does your boss call you when he wants to

Valet: Oh, he don't have to call me. I'm always right there.

Inspector: Here, what is your Christian name?

Valet: I ain't a Christian, I'm a Jewish boy. My name is Chachalevitch.

Inspector: How do you spell it?

Valet: You can't spell it, you sneeze it.

Inspector: Born?

Valet: Sure I was born.

Inspector: When were you born?

Valet: Oh, about 6 o'clock in the morning.

Inspector: Where?

Valet: Ireland.

Inspector: What part?

Valet: All of me.

Inspector: No, no, I mean what part of Ireland do you come from?

Valet: Siberia.

Inspector: It's very plain to see that your folks came from Russia.

Valet: You are mistaken.

Inspector: Do you mean to tell me that your folks didn't come from Russia?

Valet: No; they're there yet.

INSPECTOR: Have you any relatives here?

Valet: Yes, I got a brother, a twin brother, two years older than I am.

Inspector: A twin brother two years older than you are?

Valet: Well, three years older. What's the difference?

Inspector: Is he naturalized?

Valet: Excuse me, please, but what was the last question?

Inspector: I said, is your brother naturalized?

Valet: Well, one is, but the other is a glass eye.

INSPECTOR: Are you married:

Valet: No, I'm in business for myself.

Inspector: Why don't you get married and settle down?

Valet: No, I think I'll stay single and settle up. No, the girl I want must be beautiful, educated, have a fine figure—in the bank—and so on.

Inspector: Why, a girl like that would be crazy to marry you.

Valet: Well, she can be crazy, too. I should worry.

Inspector: What was your occupation in the old country?

Valet: I used to be a jockey.

Valet: I don't, eh? See this? (Takes a hair from his coat). Here is a hair from a horse.

INSPECTOR: Are you a good judge of horse flesh?

Vale: Yes. But I like beefsteak better.

Inspector: No, no; I mean do you know anything about the ponies?

Valet: Oh, sure; I know all the ponies in the show here.

Inspector: I mean horses. Did you ever ride any real horses in your races?

Valet: Sure! Flor de Flor, Hoboquet, Looney Lily—

Inspector: Stop! Those are not horses; they are cigars.

Valet: Well, they pull like horses.

Inspector: Did you ever ride in a Derby?

Valet: No; just a plain jockey cap.

Inspector: Did you make much money while you were a jockey?

Inspector: Yes. What of it?

Valet: Well, that's the only Jockey Club I ever got a (s)cent from.

Stories St. Louisans Tell

DR. WHELPLEY'S "ORPHANS."

DR. H. M. WHELPLEY, the scientist, also is an ardent photographer and as such decided to make an unusual holiday greeting for his friends. He obtained new photographs of himself and Mrs. Whelpley, and pictures of each in their baby days and rephotographed them on a single card, marking the pictures: "Henry M. Whelpley; Laura E. Whelpley; Henry Whelpley, 2 years; Laura Spannagel (Mrs. Whelpley's maiden name), 9 months." He sent these out and awaited comment. The first he heard was repeated as that of a woman. It was:

"Do you suppose that Mrs. Whelpley really is going to take orphans to rear and dress them in such old fashioned clothes?"
